As Turkey Sees Us.
Phoenicians in America.
Bite Off Twelve Grapes.
Christianity Tires China.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MODERN science tells you that matter, in motion, gains weight.

News, also, gains as it travels.

"Former American millionaires are now eating bread, cheese and cabbage," says the editor.

SOME American millionaires would gain in health and grace if they adopted that diet, without adding bootleg mixtures to it.

Akoham's "news" from America is not more inaccurate than some of our news from Turkey, and far less inaccurate than the average American idea of the Turkish people.

Much power in the Turks, great self-respect, and a high sense of honor.

INSCRIPTIONS found on rocks in the valley of the Amazon revive the belief that the seafaring Phoenicians from the far end of the Mediterranean discovered America long before Columbus and the earlier Lief Ericson. Archeologists think the Phoenicians went up the great Amazon with their ships and founded a South American city 4,000 years ago.

SOMEONE should write a good history of those Phoenicians with their restless longing for navigation, so unlike the other non-Semitic tribes. First of all men, they sailed out of sight of land with only the stars, no compass, to guide them. They first sailed past the Rock of Gibraltar into the Atlantic to mine tin with slaves in the British islands.

They brought wealth from every port, by trade or piracy, depending on the strength of the port.

NOW they are gone. Their rivers that ran back through the mountain gorges are silted up. Sand piles cover acres that were fertile. The cedars are gone from Mount Lebanon.

NEARLY two thousand years before Columbus was born, Alexander administered the final blow to the greatness of Phoenicia, which had already fallen under Persia's yoke.

Attacking Tyre, which offered submission but would not let him enter the city to sacrifice it to the Tyrian god Heracles, he killed 8,000 Tyrians, sold 30,000 into slavery. And building Alexandria, he changed the channels of trade and struck a death blow at Phoenicia's commercial greatness.

Young Alexander, building his mole from the mainland to attack Tyre with his siege engines, and old Cato, the Roman with his "Carthage must be destroyed," ended Semitic national commercial supremacy. Cato's repetition was as powerful as Alexander's engines.

Time has wiped out the empires of Alexander and of Rome.

And on the other side of the Atlantic, crossed by Semitic ships so long ago, Semitic trading genius rules in a new world.

THERE is more organized Semitic trade between Fourteenth and Fifty-ninth streets in New York than there ever was in all Phoenicia and Carthage.

THE Spaniards have a method of insuring luck throughout a new year that may interest the Palm Beach intelligentsia.

As the old year dies and the clock strikes twelve, you try to bite twelve grapes, one at a time, from a bunch laid before you. Use only your teeth, not your hands.

AS YOU bite off the twelve grapes, one for each month of the new year, friends slap your back, push you, and otherwise interefere. Success means twelve lucky months.

The grapes not having fermented, the game is still legal in this country, and might be very amusing.

CHINESE mobs have wrecked an English Baptist mission, church, hospital and school near Tsinan-Fu.

Good missionaries, working to heal the bodies and save the souls of Chinese, are victims of bitter anti-Christian propaganda started by the "patriotic" Kuomin-Tang.

THE anti-Christian drive is headed openly by Hutsui-Yuan, commissioner of education, which gives an official character to the attack on the Christians. None of the latter were killed. They were requested to get out, their buildings wrecked.

IN JUDGING the Chinese mob we should ask ourselves what a Christian mob would probably do to Chinese missionaries here, seeking to convert Christian children to the Chinese religion wholesale.

And we must remember that it has not been divinely revealed to the Chinese, as to us,

ART BURNS IN SCHENLEY SUITE

E.T. Weir's Apartment Swept By $200,000 Blaze; Short Circuit in Wiring Blamed

Rare oil paintings and art objects, estimated in value up to $200,000, were destroyed by fire which swept the drawing room in the suite of Ernest T. Weir in the Schenley Apartments early today.

Mr. Weir is president of the Weirton Steel Company.

A rare portrait by the famous Sir Peter Lely, one of the Dutch masters, which cost $75,000, purchased in Europe only three weeks ago, was damaged beyond repair.

The blaze was blamed on a short circuit in an electrical fixture, caused, it was said, while the housekeeper, Miss Ann Hollida, and Henry Hunter, a Japanese chef, were engaged in taking down holly wreaths and other Christmas decorations.

NEIGHBORS EXCITED

The dry leaves of the holly and the pine boughs burst into flames which ignited tapestries and rugs, the fire sweeping the floor and walls of the sumptuous studio apartment, and bursting from the windows facing an inner court of the apartment.

Many families in adjoining wings, at breakfast, were excited at the sight of the blaze, and clouds of smoke caused intense agitation among neighboring tenants.

Mrs. Weir joined the servants in an effort to save the paintings, but the heat and smoke drove them back, and attaches of the apartments, answering an alarm in the building, fought the flames and confined the blaze to the one room. When firemen arrived the fire practically had been extinguished.

MRS. WEIR PROSTRATED

Drys Order Denaturing Increased

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Instructions that alcohol used in making varnishes and lacquers must be further denatured were issued today by Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

It had been reported to the commissioner that ethyl alcohol used in the manufacture of varnishes and lacquer was being converted by bootleggers and used for beverage purposes.

The new orders provide that to every 100 gallons of ethyl alcohol there must be added four gallons of denatured wood alcohol and 10 gallons of normal butyl alcohol, refined fusel oil or amyl alcohol.

Doran said he thought the new ingredients would end the conversion.

Lindy Views Plane 'Built to Stay Up All Night'

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was here today to inspect his new, secretly built monoplane, built to "stay up all night."

That was the way Lindbergh described it yesterday when asked the reason for its unusually large fuel tanks, which hold 450 gallons of gasoline. For want of a better name the new plane has been dubbed "The Flying Gas Tank."

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh arrived yesterday from Kingman, Ariz., completing a leisurely transcontinental flight.

Rumors that Lindbergh's new monoplane would be used for a long non-stop flight were laid at rest when the colonel said the extra capacity fuel tanks were provided for the purpose of "staying up over night," or for overnight trips to out-of-the-way places.

WILLIAM HANSON (SEATED) AFTER HE WAS SENTENCED

Hanson, today sentenced to four months in jail and to pay a fine of $500 for maintaining a gambling device at the Mt. Oliver Moose Club. This is the first picture ever taken of him.

4-MONTH TERM GIVEN HANSON

William Hanson, Library chicken farmer and former brother-in-law of Alfred W. Forney, was sentenced to four months in jail and to pay a fine of $500 by Visiting Judge William T. Darr in Criminal Court today.

Hanson was found guilty last spring of maintaining a gambling device at the Mt. Oliver Moose Club. Sentence had been postponed eight times.

Attorney Charles B. Prichard, seeking leniency, made a plea for leniency in behalf of Hanson's wife.

"Hanson's name has been linked with that of another man reputed to be implicated in the slot machine business," said Prichard. "Such a connection did not exist."

After sentence was pronounced, Mrs. Hanson met her husband in the corridor.

"I am going to try to get bail to insure my freedom until tomorrow," Hanson told R. H. Braun, retiring sheriff. "Then I will begin serving my sentence. I want to get it over with."

PLOT FEARED AT WEDDING OF PRINCE

International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Because of fears of wholesale assassination plots, the Italian authorities are taking unparalleled precautions to prevent any untoward incident when Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium, is married to Crown Prince Umberto, of Italy, on Wednesday, it was revealed today.

A dispatch from the Italian capital to the Evening News today gives striking details of these precautionary measures, whose proportions reveal clearly the fears that are felt that anarchists may attempt attacks on the lives of royalty sometime between now and the time of the marriage.

ALL PLANES HALTED

Airplane flying has been stopped all over Italy, the dispatch declared, until after the wedding because of fears that a plot may be hatched to bomb the beautiful princess and her husband-to-be from the air. The usually busy commercial air lines of the Italian nation have been brought to an absolute standstill. And not a propellor will whirl over the Eternal City until the marriage ceremony has been completed and the future queen of Italy installed in her new home, the Evening News declares.

Senators Object To Foreign Cadets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—Over protests against training foreign students in the American military and naval academies, the Senate this afternoon passed a bill admitting two Hondurans to West Point. Admission of one student each from Panama, Ecuador and Salvador was blocked by Senator Heflin (Dem.) of Alabama. Other protests were voiced by Senators Blease and Wheeler, even though the cost of education was borne by their home governments.

MAYOR FIRES 4 POLICE JUDGES

Shakes Up City Officials at Start of Second Term; To Enforce Prohibition

Mayor Charles H. Kline, inducted into office today for his second term, rapped the cost of prohibition work, but pledged enforcement.

J. S. Herron, elected president of council, urged business-like administration.

R. D. Schooley was appointed city treasurer, the only change in the Mayor's cabinet.

James O'Connor, C.F. Papale, W. R. McNamara and R. E. Schneider succeed A. D. Brandon, J. A. Staley, G. H. England and E. M. Hough as police magistrates.

Dr. S. H. Johnson and Dr. F. H. Frederick were appointed civil service commissioners.

Changes were announced in water and property assessors' offices to pay political debts.

The Kline machine took hold of the city government today. Beginning with the reorganization of Council at 10 o'clock this morning the forces of the two-time Mayor assumed the saddle. In Council where the Mayor will have a 7-to-2 majority for his program, John S. Herron was elected president.

At noon the Mayor assumed office and announced his cabinet, together with other appointments to various bureaus.

Roy D. Schooley, named city treasurer, is the only new appointee in the cabinet. He succeeds R. W. Thompson, promoted from chief clerk when Treasurer Wallace Borland died last October. Thompson will resume his former position. Cabinet members reappointed were: Edward G. Lang, director, Department of Public Works; James M. Clark, director, Department of Public Safety; Charles A. Waldschmidt, city solicitor; Dr. C. B. Maits, director, Department of Health; Bert L. Succop, director of Supplies; Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director, Department of Public Welfare.

CHANGES EXPECTED

The dropping of four police magistrates had been expected. The identity of the new appointees, however, created some talk. James O'Connor, of 5341 Waterford street, is a political lieutenant of P. J. Donahoe, chairman of the Tenth Ward; Charles F. Papale, of 225 Omega street, Twelfth Ward, is a friend of Mike DeRosa, city park concessionaire; William R. McNamara, of 208 Thirty-ninth street, is a son-in-law of Congressman P. J. Sullivan, chairman of the

KLINE ASSAILS DRY LAW COST

Mayor Kline took the oath of office to succeed himself today and celebrated the occasion by protesting the costs of enforcing prohibition and what he saw as an attempt by the federal government to shift those costs locally upon the Pittsburgh taxpayers.

Not only that, the Mayor seemed to indicate that he wasn't in sympathy with the dry laws. After promising to uphold the entire constitution, he uttered these words:

"I make and mean this assertion regardless of what my personal views may be on certain portions of it."

"Dry legislation," the Mayor argued, "has increased the difficulties of every large city in the nation. The wave of lawlessness has been sweeping. Deep in the hearts of many is

Ill Health Forces Taft to Take Long Rest

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—Chief Justice William Howard Taft will leave Washington in a few days for a long rest at Asheville, N. C., it was learned today.

The former president is not really ill, according to his friends, but he is in need of a rest and he plans to stay at the mountain resort for six or seven weeks.

The health of the chief justice has not been robust for several years. Last June he entered Garfield Hospital here for a week and later went to his summer home in Canada. His illness at that time was described by his physicians as "a minor stomach ailment."

CHIEF ISSUES ORDER FOR TRIAL

24 Charged With Being Under Influence of Liquor, 15 Others With Pilfering

International News Service.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Jan. 6.—Thirty-nine members of the Coast Guard will face a general court martial as a result of the disappearance of liquor from a seized vessel.

Twenty-four of the Coast Guardsmen will be charged with being "under the influence of liquor" and 15 with "pilfering the cargo of a seized vessel and having liquor in their possession on the Coast Guard reservation."

Com. L. T. Chalker, chief of staff of the Coast Guard destroyer Force, issued the general court martial orders in an official announcement today.

The court martial order brings to a climax the series of charges and counter charges that have circulated through the Coast Guard headquarters since the killing of three rum runners aboard the Black Duck by the guardsmen.

LIQUOR TRACED

The captain declared that no members of the crew of the Coast Guard cutter CG-290, which was held responsible for the killing of the rum runners, were involved in the court martial proceedings.

Capt. Chalker revealed that the liquor found in the possession of the Coast Guardsmen had come from the British steamer Flor Del Mar, which was seized with 4,000 sacks of Golden Wedding whisky aboard.

Thorough search of all Coast Guard vessels at the base determined the following facts, Capt. Chalker said:

"Twenty-four men found under the influence of liquor.

"Fifty-six quarts, 13 pints and four sacks of liquor found aboard the cutter."

Capt. Chalker said the fight between coastguardsmen at a party at the home of Mrs. Ruth Cummings, which ended in one guardsmen being struck over the head, had led to the search and discovery of the liquor and intoxicated guardsmen.

GUARD FACES OUSTER

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Wilfred W. Lufkin, collector of customs, said today that unless Edward F. Foley, 64-year-old customs guard, charged with intoxication and misconduct while guarding the captured rum-runner, Black Duck, at Pawtucket Cove, R. I., offered a defense within five days, he would be discharged from the service automatically.

Foley was suspended yesterday after the collector had investigated reports that while intoxicated he had brandished a revolver before persons who attempted to quiet him. He was also accused of calling the Boston customs office for reinforcements saying that he was being attacked. The Black Duck is held under guard pending an investigation of the killing of three rum runners aboard her by Coast Guards a week.

Brother of Blonde Held Over Crash

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Police here arrested John Crawford, 38, brother of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, sought in connection with the slaying of a state highway patrolman near New Castle, Pa., and charged him with driving while intoxicated. Crawford's automobile struck a street car. No one was hurt.

Crawford was released under $2,500 bond pending a hearing today. He has been arrested twice for questioning in connection with his sister's activities, but was released.

Coal Mine Industry Gets Study in Geneva

GENEVA, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—A technical inquiry into working conditions in the coal industry was begun at the international labor office today by experts from the principal coal-producing countries of Europe. the desire to live outside the laws.

SEES BURDEN

"If we permit the federal government to throw upon us the cost of bearing its responsibility, the financial burden to Pittsburgh's taxpayers would mount to the confiscation of our people's property."

The city's police force would have to be increased from 100 to 300 per cent to cope with the present extraordinary conditions, the Mayor contended.

"However," he added, "we will do our part in the enforcement of the law. We will pay our way, but the federal government must do its part and pay its way."

Mayor Kline said the city employes would continue to be treated by the executive officers with "fairness, kindness, courtesy and consideration."

He hoped for a continuance of the harmonious relations, "with some exceptions," that existed between Council and himself in the last four years.

Mayor Kline defended his political activities in his previous term and declared that he would "summon every strength at my command to support men for those offices" of the state, county or city when the outcome of the political contests is important to the people of Pittsburgh.

FOR SUBWAY LOOP

Among his major plans are:

Construction of a downtown street car subway loop with the $6,000,000 available in a bond issue authorized by the people 11 years ago so that street car traffic might be removed from the Golden Triangle as soon as possible.

Widening and reconstructing surface thoroughfares and providing new arteries.

Attracting new residents and hold present ones by increasing the charm of parks, thereby making them more popular.

PLAYGROUND SYSTEM

Developing and expanding the playground system.

Developing river facilities by flood prevention plans, transforming wharf space into usable real estate, beautifying water fronts, and completing improvements that would encourage river transportation.

Giving financial support to a commission urging a housing plan designed to rid the city of tenements.

Fostering the parent iron and steel industries and attracting diversified manufacturing interests.

Discouraging the advertising of Pittsburgh's faults and begin broadcasting the city's virtues.

Mayor Kline said the administration would do its best to advance Pittsburgh to first rank among the cities of the nation and pleaded for the co-operation of Council, the newspapers and all patriotic citizens.

RUM AND TARIFF ISSUES SPLIT CONGRESS

Army Supply Bill Reported in House—Carew Resigns for Bench—Tribute to Dead

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Faced with the incompleted tariff bill, the controversy over prohibition and a host of other questions that may necessitate their remaining at work until summer, the House and Senate recovered today after a recess over the Christmas-New Year holiday season.

The tariff bill was the unfinished business in the Senate, all factions agreed to give it exclusive right of way. Debate was resumed on the wool schedule, where it had been dropped. Sugar comes next.

ACTION ON PROHIBITION

Within 15 minutes after the Senate reassembled, the prohibition issue was injected into its proceedings.

Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Massachusetts, a modificationist, filed a number of resolutions, adopted by a mass meeting in Boston January 2, protesting against the "wanton and reckless killing of citizens of Massachusetts by the Coast Guard."

The resolution referred to the shooting of three bootleggers by a Coast Guard patrol off the Connecticut shore. Walsh did not debate the protest.

A moment later, Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, dry, placed in the Congressional Record a radio speech made recently by Senator Jones (Rep.), of Washington, author of the famous "five and 10" law. In it Jones upheld prohibition enforcement and denied the law could not be enforced.

In the House, a few minutes after Speaker Longworth's gavel called the chamber to order, the Appropriations Committee formally reported the annual Army supply bill, proposing maintenance for the next fiscal year of the present standing army, which has an enlisted strength of 118,700 men.

CAREW RESIGNS

The House then received the resignation of Representative John Carew, for years leader in the House of the New York Tammany delegation, who has accepted appointment by Gov. Roosevelt to the New York State Supreme bench.

In 14 minutes from the time it convened, the House adjourned out of respect to the late Representative Leatherwood (Rep.), of Utah.

Within a few minutes the Senate adopted a resolution by Senator Reed (Reb.), Pennsylvania, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, to authorize a joint congressional committee to study the pay of enlisted personnel of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey. It was sent to the House without debate.

Senator Heflin, of Alabama, put into the record the speech of the chairman of the Democratic meeting at Birmingham, Ala., last Friday. Heflin has been barred by the Alabama State Democratic Committee from running in the Democratic primary for that party's nomination in the next election and today he said the press had printed "garbled accounts" of the Friday meeting.

SHERIFF CAIN IN OFFICE

Former County Paymaster Robert S. Cain today began his duties as sheriff, having been sworn in last Saturday by Judge D. Paulson Foster.

While Cain has declared he would not announce his appointees until about January 15, there were rumors current that he would give the new $6,000 position of real estate deputy created by the last Legislature to John L. Bingham, of 603 Collins avenue.

Bingham soldiered with Cain in the Spanish and World wars, and is employed by Col. Robert G. Woodside, county controller, who also is a veteran of two wars. Bingham worked for Woodside, when the latter was sheriff.

Cain was reported to have selected Robert B. Averbach as sheriff's attorney to replace Assemblyman Joseph C. Marcus.

Mrs. Willebrandt 'Speaks No Evil' Of Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—The three famous monkeys that "hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil" had reinforcements today.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition, said today she had joined that famous trio and that she was hearing, seeing and speaking no evil about prohibition.

HERRON HEADS CITY COUNCIL

Council met at 10 o'clock this morning, when City Clerk Robert Clark swore in the five elected at the last election, John S. Herron, W. Y. English, Harry A. Little, M. J. Muldowney and Clifford B. Connelley.

On motion of English, Herron was named for the presidency. George J. Kambach seconded the nomination and the election was unanimous. Then there were short speeches by each of the members. English referred to Herron and himself as the Damon and Pythias of the body, citing their 16 years in council.

English in his speech declared he would not be a "yes man." Little welcomed the new members and Anderson regretted the passing of three members. Garland said his conscience would guide him in handling business. Various city officials spoke and Senator James J. Coyne and Director N. F. Brown, of the county department of public works, and Dr. J. P. Kerr, former councilman, also spoke.

Finance—English to succeed Garland; Safety—Kambach to succeed Anderson; Works—Little to succeed Daniel Winters; Service and Surveys—Allderdice retains chairmanship; Welfare—Anderson to succeed P. J. McArdle; Parks and Libraries—Connelley to succeed Herron; Filtration and Water—Garland to succeed Little; Health and Sanitation—Muldowney to succeed English.

Appoints Schooley Treasurer And Replaces Brandon, Three Other Magistrates

Sixth Ward, and Alderman Ray E. Schneider, of 406 East Ohio street, was sponsored by Robert Murray, chairman of the Twenty-third Ward, and other North Side leaders. The assignment of Magistrates was not announced. The Strip got two magistrates, the East End three, the South Side, one, the North Side one and the Democrats got one in the retention of John J. Sweeney.

Thomas D. Jones, W. J. P. Soost, Leo Rothenberg and John J. Sweeney were retained as magistrates.

DEVLIN RETAINED

On the Civil Service Commission, J. Howard Devlin was retained. Dr. Johnson is Mayor Kline's brother-in-law. Dr. Frederick resigned last fall to manage the Kline campaign and Dr. F. C. Blessing resigned at the same time to manage the unsuccessful campaign of James F. Malone.

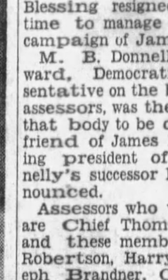
M. B. Donnelly, of the Fifth ward, Democratic party representative on the board of property assessors, was the only member of that body to be dropped. He is a friend of James F. Malone, retiring president of Council. Donnelly's successor has not been announced.

Assessors who were reappointed are Chief Thomas C. McMahon and these members: William H. Robertson, Harry Feldman, Joseph Brandner, George H. Douglass, Charles A. Martin, George W. Savage, Fred F. Dengler, Samuel J. Reno, Jr.

James W. Gray is chairman of the Board of Water Assessors. John A. Collins was reappointed. Lon Macintosh, Kline leader in the Thirtieth Ward, succeeds W. I. Goss, Thirteenth Ward.

MAYOR OUSTS BRANDON

The culmination of a two-year-old feud between Mayor Charles H. Kline and Magistrate A. D. Brandon, of Morals Court, came today, according to the latter's friends, when Brandon failed of reappointment.



A. D. Brandon

Thomas D. Jones, who has been magistrate at Central Station, received notice to take Brandon's place on the Morals Court bench, beginning tomorrow.

The Mayor and Brandon had not spoken since the magistrate incurred executive displeasure months ago, by failing to take the desired action in a case pending in Morals Court, Brandon's associates say. He was refused an audience several times with the Mayor, they assert.

PLEAS DENIED

Brandon was ousted despite overtures to the Mayor in his behalf by many men influential in politics and business, it developed today.

The former magistrate received 63 letters from prominent men and from social agencies stating that they had requested the Mayor to reappoint Brandon.

Among those who assured Brandon they had interceded with the Mayor, either orally or by letter, were W. L. Mellon, County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock, James J. Davis, secretary of labor; City Controller Daniel Winters, Councilman John S. Herron, the Rev. Dr. E. J. Van Etten, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church; the Rev. ing was erected, and occupied portions of the eighth and ninth floors in the northeast wing of the structure.

Recently the interior had been re-decorated and many new art objects, rugs, tapestries and paintings were placed in the drawing room.

NOT SURE OF INSURANCE

Mr. Weir at his office in Weirton, W. Va., when informed by telephone of the fire, said:

"The fire occurred after I left home and I am not certain that all the damaged paintings are insured."

The value of the paintings was estimated by Mrs. Weir and stated to Battalion Chief Frank Harris of the fire department. Mrs. Weir was prostrated, and retired to her room as soon as the flames were extinguished.

LELY NOTED ARTIST

The Lely painting of "Lord Ormonde" was a life-sized picture of James Butler, twelfth earl and first Duke of Ormonde, born at Clerkenwell, London, in 1610. An outstanding royalist during the turbulent period before, during and after the Protectorate in England under Cromwell, Ormonde led the royalist forces in Ireland during the rebellion there from 1640 until 1643. Lely did the Weir portrait around 1672.

Sir Peter, born in the Netherlands in 1618, went to England when he was 23 years old and spent the remainder of his life there, dying in London in 1680. His pictures were much admired by the king, and Charles I. appointed him court painter. He painted the portrait of that sovereign and of Oliver Cromwell, but reached his greatest eminence after the Restoration.

HUBERT ESTATE BENEFICIARIES ANNOUNCED

Coolidge, Smith, Rosenwald Name Institutions to Share in Inventor's Will

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Former President Calvin Coolidge, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, the committee chosen by executors under the will of the late Conrad Hubert, have announced the names of 33 institutions which have been selected by them to receive approximately $6,000,000.

NEARLY $5,000,000

Hubert, inventor of the pocket flashlight and other electrical devices, died February 14, 1928, at Cannes, France. He directed in his will that three outstanding Americans—A Catholic, a Protestant and a Jew—be appointed to determine the institutions to which three-quarters of his fortune should be distributed.

For this purpose the fund was divided into three classifications. Funds on hand, totaling $4,600,000, will go to 15 institutions. In the second group, eight institutions will receive the first million dollars of the residuary estate and in the third group, 10 institutions will receive bequests from the remaining funds.

TUG "SALT OF LOS ANGELES," MOTHER SHIP FOR SMALLER CRAFT SEARCHING FOR BODIES AT SCENE OF PLANE CRASH

PACIFIC HOLDS PLANE VICTIMS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Jan. 6.—(INS.)—The Pacific ocean today still held the two wrecked and burned moving picture planes which crashed in mid-air Thursday, carrying 10 men to their deaths.

Seven of the bodies are still missing, including that of Kenneth Hawks, director. The body of Ben Frankel, one of the three recovered, will be shipped to New York for burial today after funeral services.

The tug Salt has dragged one of the wrecked planes along the ocean floor from a point two miles off shore to within 100 yards of land. An effort was to be made today to bring it to the surface even though divers yesterday declared there were no bodies within it.

TWO ROB STORE, WARN WOMAN

Two talkative bandits, both shabbily dressed, at noon today held up Miss Pearl Barrett in the P. H. Butler store at 908 Galveston avenue that she manages.

Displaying revolvers, they forced the woman to give up $25 in bills and cash.

An elderly one, about 50, warned her that "they want me for one murder now and another doesn't matter. And I'll come back and kill you if you give our descriptions to the police."

A younger companion, aged about 30, took the cash while the other talked.

The men escaped on foot.

GUBERNATORIAL RACE NARROWS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—The race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination is still a free-for-all affair, it appeared today, following the week-end conferences here of powerful state leaders.

The field has been narrowed somewhat, however, it seemed, according to statements of Gov. John S. Fisher, spokesman for the leaders who attended a dinner at the home of Jay Cooke, 3rd, here Saturday night. The dinner was preceded by a series of conferences at the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford of various G. O. P. leaders of the state. The William S. Vare group, however, did not take part in the conferences.

The list of possible candidates were divided into two groups by the governor—aggressive and potential.

Samuel S. Lewis, of York, and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis were mentioned in the aggressive class, while former Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown, Philadelphia Vare follower, and Benson E. Taylor, of Jefferson County, now state secretary of property and supplies, were named in the latter class.

"Lewis and Davis seem to be getting over the state and are working industriously," the Governor said. "There is more discussion of Brown and Taylor in the potential class.

"There have been no commitments, and I suppose the field will remain open for some time," he added.

PROSECUTOR OFFERED NEW 'TIP'

Revived Inquiry Expected In Eight-Year-Old Movie Colony Murder Mystery

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—An unnamed "film celebrity" killed William Desmond Taylor, in February, 1922, according to an alleged new revelation by Otis Hefner, pardoned ex-convict, whose story today was offered to the district attorney's office. A revived investigation of the eight-year-old film murder mystery was in prospect.

District Attorney Buron Fitts, who recently declared he had in his possession all but "one missing link" in the chain of evidence that would convict Taylor's slayer, awaited details before he would comment, he said.

Fitts said Hefner had told "a dozen different stories about this. I am not going to reopen the case solely on anything Hefner has to say."

EX-CONVICT SOUGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—State parole officers today renewed their hunt for Otis Hefner, parole violator, following reports that he had amplified his declaration just prior to his release that "he knew the slayer of William Desmond Taylor."

Hefner in obtaining his release from Folsom prison on parole told representatives of former Gov. Friend Richardson that "a film celebrity" killed the motion picture director.

The Taylor murder mystery, a more puzzling real life thriller than any ever screened in Hollywood, was resurrected recently when former Gov. Richardson announced that he had information naming the slayer and that former District Attorney Asa Keys had blocked its presentation to a Los Angeles grand jury.

DOPE RING INFORMANT

Richardson did not name his informant, but through a check of Folsom prison records it was revealed that Hefner had told a sensational story to prison officials and representatives of the state executive at that time.

Hefner, according to Thomas Gannon, then a member of the state prison board, declared that his information on the slaying was obtained through his close association with a "dope" ring which numbered Edward Sands, the missing valet of the motion picture director.

Sands has been the object of a determined police hunt ever since the murder and Los Angeles police authorities have expressed the belief that he was the slayer. It was learned that a secret indictment reposes in the files of the Los Angeles district attorney's office for Sands.

CAUFFIEL PLEA IN HIGH COURT

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Although his own appeal was rejected by the State Supreme Court several days ago, Joseph Cauffiel, convicted Mayor of Johnstown, Pa., who seeks to function officially from the Cambria County Jail at Ebensburg, today through counsel got his case before the Supreme Court as an intervening apelliant in the appeal of the city terasurer of Johnstown.

Cauffiel's conviction of corruption in office has left mixed municipal affairs in Johnstown. There are about $50,000 in pay warrants being held up notwithstanding the County Court has decided that the signature of the superintendent of accounts and financves, ac acting Mayor, entitles the warrants to recognition by the City Treasurer. In order to get clear legal authority to pay out city money the City Treasurer appealed to the higher court.

H. T. Stambaugh, a Pittsburgh attorney, representing Cauffiel as intervening appellant, was questioned by Chief Justic Von Moschzisker and Associate Justices Simpson and Kephart, and if the tenor of the remarks from the bench can be taken as an indication the Supreme Court may prove a severe obstacle for Cauffiel to hurdle.

The court instructed Cauffiel's attorney to file his brief as soon as possible, Chief Justice Von Moschzisker remarking that the court wished to decide the case by next Monday if possible.

Stock Sale Price Tax Upheld by High Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Millions of dollars and many individuals were affected today by a Supreme Court ruling that the difference in value in securities at the time of death and the value at the time of sale of such inherited property constituted taxable income. The test case was brought by E. Franklin Brewster, of New York. Brewster appealed from a ruling of the Internal Revenue Commissioner. He insisted the tax should be levied only on the difference in value at the time he received the securities and the time of sale. The point has been raised in a number of cases involving large sums of money.

YOUTH SHOOTS PARENTS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 6.—(INS.)—Allan L. Schumm, 17, was being held in a hospital observation ward today after he summoned his parents from bed, ordered them to pray, and then shot his father dead and wounded his mother. The youth is a freshman student at Illinois University.

Authorities believe he was suffering from a temporary mental derangement due to overstudy.

Returning from a party at the home of Elsie Winkler, 16, a girl friend, young Schumm called his parents into the parlor shortly after 2 a. m. Sunday. He asked them if they believed in God.

"Of course," his surprised father answered.

"Then start praying," was the youth's command.

The parents did not comply and Schumm drew a borrowed pistol and started shooting. His father staggered to a hallway and fell dead.

The boy pursued his mother, who sought shelter in a closet. As he pressed the revolver to her she wrested it from his grasp and emptied it by shooting into the floor.

Schumm snatched up the revolver and fled in the family automobile. He hurled the gun into the Mississippi River, then went to a friend's house where he gave himself up to police and admitted the shooting. He was unable to give an explanation.

Senator Protests 'Cursing' on Radio

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—The Federal Radio Commission was called upon today by Senator Dill (Dem.), of Washington, to revoke the broadcasting license of Station KWKH at Shreveport, La., or to initiate criminal prosecution of its owner because of his use of "obscene language" on the air. Dill read a telegram to the Senate from L. C. Watrous, of Minneapolis, complaining against "constant cursing" on the air by the operator of the Shreveport station. The radio law makes it a crime to swear over a radio.

NEW BORKOWSKI TRIAL SET

The three former coal and iron policemen charged with involuntary manslaughter in the killing of John Borkowski, the miner-farmer of Tyre, will go on trial at Franklin, Venango County, Tuesday, January 28, Presiding Judge William M. Parker, of Venango County, announced today in a letter to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner's office.

The defendants, Walter J. Lyster, Harold P. Watts and Frank Slapikas, were granted a change of venue from Allegheny County by the state Supreme Court. The manslaughter indictment grew out of the killing of Borkowski as did the murder charge of which they were previously acquitted.

The girls, Dolly Mills, 20, and Bridget O'Connor, 19, of the Arch street address, were discharged.

The male prisoners were held over until detectives can check their activities against several recent North Side robberies. Police testified they had seized a car bearing an Ohio license found standing in front of the home, along with two revolvers and poker chips found in the room.

Those held gave their names as Edward Sullivan, 28, of 2217 Spring way; Ned Risanol, 22, of 4423 Lucerne avenue, Bellevue; Frank Rodgers, 18, of 126 Anderson street; R. B. Sinclair, 29, of 621 Arch street, and Morris Mills, 16, of 506 McClintock avenue.

Louella Parsons, Famous Screen Writer, Weds

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.—Quietly and simply, Louella O. Parsons, film editor of Universal Service, Saturday became the bride of Dr. Harry W. Martin, distinguished Hollywood physician.

In the presence of some three score of intimate friends and relations, the famous chronicler of Hollywood's joys and tragedies, bleak failures and blinding successes and the physician spoke the lines that joined them in wedlock.

A plain wedding band slipped on Miss Parson's finger and the benediction of the minister concluded the ceremony, except for the joyous felicitations showered on bride and groom by their friends.

William J. Connery, of Flintridge, served as the best man at the ceremony and Harriet Parsons, daughter of the bride, acted as the maid of honor. She was her mother's only attendant at the ritual.

Almost immediately after the ceremony, the wedding supper for the bride and groom and their closest friends and relatives was served at the Chateau Elysee.

Then came the wedding reception between 8:30 and 10:30 at the Villa Carlotta, attended by everyone who is anyone in Hollywood.

PLOT IS FEARED AT WEDDING

eva, told of the discovery of a conspiracy aimed against the Belgian and Italian royal families. A number of incriminating documents, indicating that the attempt was to take place just as the royalties were entering the Pauline Chapel of the Quirinal Palace were found, the correspondent declared.

CHICAGO GUNMEN WANTED

According to one story circulated in Geneva, the perpetrators of the plot had made attempts to hire notorious Chicago gunmen to do the bombing.

Every person arriving in Rome by any route is being subjected to a rigorous examination. In view of the fact that thousands of Italians from all over the country are flocking into the capital to witness the wedding ceremony, this precaution has necessitated the stationing of thousands of extra guards at the entrances to the city.

All automobiles arriving in Rome are thoroughly examined, and baggage is opened and inspected. The work is being done with far more thoroughness than customs guards usually use in the examination of tourist baggage.

AUTOS SEARCHED

According to the Evening News dispatch, the work of examination takes a long time, as each individual piece of baggage is thoroughly unpacked, and its contents diligently inspected.

The Italian officials, the message continues, even lift the floorboards of automobiles and examine the gasoline tanks in order to determine whether lethal weapons, bombs or explosives have been hidden there by conspirators.

These precautions have been taken because of increasing evidence that anti-Fascist plotters are likely to stop at nothing in order to prevent the wedding.

ROME, Jan. 6.—With a festive air pervading the city, its residents worked furiously today to bedeck Rome in gala array for the wedding of Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium, and Crown Prince Humbert Wednesday.

Flags and buntings were hung everywhere. Garlands of flowers were much in evidence. Colored electric bulbs were strung across many streets, where street dancing in picturesque native costumes, military processions and religious ceremonies were to be held during the six-day jamboree of joy which will follow the wedding.

While visiting royalties, nobles and prominent personages of Europe continued to arrive, thousands of peasants poured into the city to take part in the festivities.

HUNTING PARTY HELD

The happy couple, meanwhile, spent the day at the royal estate, Castel Porziano, outside of Rome, where a hunting party was held.

The Castel Porziano is famous for its wild boar hunting preserves. Under a sunny sky, the prince and his bride-to-be enjoyed the hunting to its fullest in company with the Italian and Belgian kings and other members of the royal families.

Queen Elizabeth, of Belgium, owing to a recent illness, was not able to hunt with the others. Queen Elena, of Italy, did not join the sport in order to keep her guest company.

QUEENS AT COLISEUM

The two went motoring instead and visited the Coliseum, the Forum and some of the newer excavations of old Rome, with the Italian Queen acting as guide for the mother of Princess Marie Jose.

Following the hunting, the royal families returned to the Quirinal Palace, where delegations of the Senate, Chamber of Deputies and Fascist grand council presented addresses of homage to Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose.

Among the foreign sovereigns and princes who have already arrived are King Boris, of Bulgaria; the Duke of York, of England; Prince Danilo, of Montenegro, and Prince Louis, of Monaco.

LEAGUE FACING TEST ON DOPE

By KENNETH CLARK.
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Sincerity of the League of Nations in curbing the international dope traffic will be put to sharp test at the opium advisory committee meeting in Geneva on January 20.

For 10 years the league has been handling the problem and the result has been severe attacks on its policy from all over the world. Members of the league itself have been among the most caustic critics.

Bowing to these attacks the league assembly in September voted to hold an international conference this year, probably next fall in Geneva, to limit the manufacture of narcotic drugs to the barest quantities required for the world's medical and scientific needs.

LIMITED INQUIRY

The agenda for the conference is to be framed by the advisory committee. Under the resolution voted by the assembly, however, the scope of the conference is decidedly limited. It can deal, under the present program, only with cocaine, morphine, heroin and their salts, and drugs which may be placed on the proscribed list by the health committee of the league.

These categories do not by far complete the list of dangerous drugs. One notable omission is codeine, which the United States strictly limits. Medicinal opium is left, as is hashish and narcotic preparations.

With all these drugs not subject to control and restriction, officials here do not foresee any great benefits resulting from the league's proposal. It would mean, further, that the United States could not become a party to such an agreement without taking a backward step in restrictive measures against drugs.

OPIUM PRODUCERS OUT

The question of what countries shall participate in the conference is also not satisfactory to American officials. It is proposed to have eight manufacturing and eight drug consuming nations present this limitation leaving out a number of opium producing countries which, if they desired, could later establish drug factories to supply the illicit traffic. That would mean a shift in the source of the illicit drugs but not a diminution in the output.

Nothing is proposed to be done about limiting opium production.

Until this is done, and the league has always fought against it because of the opium revenues in the Far East, it is the American contention that the dope traffic cannot be controlled.

WILKINS PARTY FLIES TO BASE

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS,
Commander of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition.

DECEPTION ISLAND, Antarctica, Jan. 6.—(Via S. S. Melville and KUP, wireless station.)—Our Lockheed-Vega monoplane Los Angeles, with Parker Cramer piloting, has reached Deception Island.

The steamship William Scoresby from which we flew, arrives about midnight.

Our friends at Deception were all excited about the earthquake that happened two days ago and which shook the anchorage severely.

The harbor bottom subsided near the beach, dropping 15 feet or more and carrying with it the jetty and the light overhead railway.

The steamship Melville at anchor pitched and tossed, the decks weaving more than in a heavy sea. Fortunately the buildings ashore and our spare plane sustained no damage.

Today the beach is issuing clouds of steam, an extraordinary phenomenon, surrounded as it is, with high snow covered mountains.

People at Deception were badly startled, particularly as the shock occurred just before they were to attend a burial service over a workman accidentally killed a few hours before.

We have returned to Deception after marking four long flights over the Antarctic, each flight covering areas never before seen by human eyes. The total of our discoveries so far is 300 miles of new coast line, four new islands and verification of positions plotted last year.

Hightower Defends Police in Sermon

The Rev. A. V. B. Hightower, assistant pastor of the First (Negro) Baptist Church, Greenfield avenue, and Negro councilmanic candidate during the last primary defended police of the Center avenue station in a sermon he gave yesterday in the Greenfield church. He met charges that Plainclothesman James Hughes, murdered by bandits, had been sent out alone to seek his murderers, although other officers knew they were armed. The Rev. Mr. Hightower pointed out that Lieut. James Hoban accompanied Hughes to the scene, and that Hughes later had accidentally met the bandit trio and exchanged shots with them.

Youngest Mayor Will Take Office

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 6.—Connellsville's youngest mayor, Dr. H. D. Minerd, 33, was to take the oath of office at 10 a. m. today. Immediately afterward three new councilmen, Ira D. Younkin, Berton M. Swartzwelder and Charles F. White, were to be sworn in.

With the resignation of Chief of Police G. L. Grubb, effective today, there was considerable interest in the new mayor's first official act, the appointment of a new chief. It is also understood a new man in the place of William E. Debolt, fire chief, was being considered.

Heiner Hits Delay On Income Taxes

Extension of time for filing 1929 income tax returns will be limited to absolute cases of necessity, Collector of Internal Revenue D. B. Heiner announced here today.

In announcing the ruling, Collector Heiner blamed abuse of the privilege in former years for the action. He said that in many cases taxpayers requested extensions year after year to the extent that the habit became a rule rather than an exception.

There will not be any civil war, and prohibition will stay in the Constitution. But there will be a good deal of unpleasant discussion and shooting.

LABOR UNIONS, CATHOLIC AIM

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Formation of Catholic labor syndicates and a diocesan union of farmers are recommended by Archbishop J. B. Forbes, of Ottawa, in a pastoral letter.

The alarming progress of Socialistic doctrines and uneasiness in agricultural communities are reasons advanced by the archbishop for the necessity of such steps. The Rev. Rodrigue Claude, pastor of St. Bonaventure parish, has been appointed chaplain of the movement and director of social works of the diocese.

The letter notes that Catholic syndicates are to be organized throughout Quebec and in Hawkesbury and Rockland, Ont. It says that it is the wish to recognize the merits of labor organizations other than the Catholic syndicates, but if Catholics have joined neutral unions they ought to understand that their Catholic character would demand that they rally to the Catholic syndical movement in preference to all other unions.

The idea of Catholic syndical should be inculcated during the school period, the letter states, and it is the duty of Catholics to further the success of the Catholic labor movement.

$435,231,000 SET FOR WAR DEPARTMENT

House Committee Reports Out Huge Supply Bill for Nation's Military Cost

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Lacking definite conclusions from President Hoover's economical survey of the War Department, the House Appropriations Committee today reported the supply bill for the fiscal year 1931 for that executive branch, calling for an expenditure of $435,231,000, an increase of $442,000 over the current fiscal year.

With the idea that economies may be effected through the survey, however, the committee wrote into the bill a provision that would prevent the use of any of the money appropriated for any other purpose in the event that President Hoover decides upon curtailment of the activities provided for in the measure.

LESS THAN ESTIMATE

Although carrying an increased appropriation, the supply bill is $2,767,000 less than the budget estimates. It sets aside $337,058,000 for military purposes, an increase of $6,019,000 over the current year, and $117,173,000 for non-military activities, including the Panama Canal, a decrease of $5,577,000 as compared with 1930.

The permanent appropriations amount to $9,627,000, of which $1,375,000 is for military purposes and $8,251,000 is for non-military activities. With this, the total outlay for the next fiscal year is brought to $463,858,000.

NON-MILITARY OUTLAY

The decrease in the non-military activity outlay largely resulted from the lack of an appropriation for the Inland Waterways Corporation and for return contributions on flood control work. The increase for military purposes was due to greater outlays for the quartermaster corps amounting to $2,021,000 for improved uniforms, acquisition of land and for regular supplies.

For the pay of the army $133,557,000 was set aside, but the entire outlay for the finance department amounts to $135,968,000. This will provide for a regular army personnel of 12,000 commissioned officers; 1,038 warrant officers; 118,750 enlisted men; 6,500 Philippine scouts. It also provides for 190,000 National Guardsmen, 37,500 trainees at citizens' military training camps, and for 127,500 students in the reserve officers' training corps.

Natty Army Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—The American soldier must be well dressed to be a good fighter, in the opinion of Maj. Gen. Summerall, chief of the army staff, who believes the time will come when the army will have to be supplied with blue dress uniforms.

Monoxide Menace Removed by Discovery

BALTIMORE, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—A practical means of eliminating carbon monoxide, the gas that takes an annual toll of hundreds of lives when automobile engines are left running in closed garages, is claimed in the discovery of a Johns Hopkins University professor, announced today.

Dr. J. C. W. Frazer, the B. N. Baker professor of chemistry at the university, made the announcement that tests had shown a motor equipped with his device could run indefinitely in a closed garage without liberating carbon monoxide. Offensive odors from automobile exhausts, which abound in heavy traffic, can be suppressed by the chemical action and smoke also will be entirely consumed, Prof. Frazer added.

War Tank Supremacy Conceded to Britain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Army tank supremacy was conceded to the British by Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams, chief of army ordnance, before the House Sub-Committee on Appropriations, which considered the annual supply bill of the War Department.

The American army has a tank capable of 40 to 50 miles an hour on open fields and 70 miles on roads, the General said, but it still is in an experimental stage.

BOMB VICTIM'S HUSBAND HELD

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Jan. 6.—(INS.)—Maryland state authorities and Prince George County police today hoped to "break" two suspects in connection with the Seat Pleasant bomb outrage which resulted in the death of Mrs. Naomi Brady and her younger brother and sister.

Herman Brady, husband of the 18-year-old bride, an expectant mother, and Lawrence Leroy Brady, his brother, were lodged in the jail here last night after a long grilling.

The original suspect, Clarence W. Brady, eccentric farmer and uncle of the two brothers, has been cleared to the satisfaction of the detectives and State's Attorney Frank Parran.

It was the elder Brady who had been described as a rejected suitor for the hand of Naomi Hall, and, according to the police, it was the girl's husband who pointed the finger of suspicion at his uncle.

Lieut. Joseph H. Itzel, noted Baltimore detective, is convinced the responsibility for the triple slaying came from "within the family circle," he said.

What first centered suspicion on Mrs. Brady's husband and his brother Itzel declined to divulge, but during the grilling yesterday he sent out word that the mystery was nearer a solution than at any time since the Christmas package was upwrapped and exploded.

Glider Loops Loop And Says He Is First to Do It

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—The claim was made today by Edward B. Heath, aviator, that his feat of looping the loop in a glider yesterday, was the first of its kind on record.

Heath, towed by an airplane, reached a height of 1,200 feet before his glider was released. He made four loops before the glider settled to the field a short distance from the starting place.

U. S. Proposes More National Guard Units

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—An improved and tactically more efficient National Guard will be brought to a strength of 190,000 during the remainder of the current fiscal year.

Plans for additional headquarters and units were given the House War Department Appropriations Sub-committee by Maj. Gen. William G. Everson, chief of the Militia Bureau.

14 Ohio Miners Hurt In Elevator Fall

CAMBRIDGE, O., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Fourteen miners were injured, several seriously, when an elevator in the shaft of the Walhonding mine of the Cambridge Colleries Company, fell 50 feet today. Many of the victims suffered broken arms, legs and ribs, but all probably will recover.

EIELSON SEARCH FLIER MISSING

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—With the loss of another plane and three men to add to their worries, the searchers for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, whose plane disappeared November 9, today were held at a standstill by adverse fortune and fierce Arctic storms.

Three powerful cabin planes, rushed here from Seattle and put at the disposal of Arctic-hardened Canadian pilots, were down—one wrecked, one apparently lost, and the other weather-bound at Nulato, halfway point between here and Nome.

The missing plane was one of two that left here Saturday for Nome.

Arriving over the mouth of the Koyuk river, at the head of Norton Bay, the two planes ran into a blinding blizzard.

One, piloted by Matt Niemenen, with Maj. H. C. Deckard and Mechanic Sam Macauley as passengers, retraced its course to Nulato.

The other, piloted by Pat Reid and carrying Mechanics William Huges and Jim Hutchinson, failed to land at either Nome or Nulato.

Two open-cockpit planes operated by Pilots Joe Crouson and Harold Gilliam, American fliers, who managed to reach North Cape, Siberia, from Nome recently, were held down because the weather of Northeastern Siberia made flying impossible.

BILL PLANS DRY REFERENDUM IN CENSUS

Wisconsin Congressman Acts On Idea of San Francisco Attorney, Draws Measure

Universal Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—"Are you in favor of prohibition?"

"Yes" or "no."

Suggestion to President Hoover, Washington officials and congressmen by Victor Clarke, a San Francisco attorney, that this pertinent question be added to the 1930 census questionnaire has resulted in the framing of a House bill incorporating such an amendment to the Census Act.

Clarke has received a letter from Congressman Richard J. Welch stating that the bill in question has been prepared by Congressman Schafer, of Wisconsin. It will be introduced in January, said Welch, who promised in his letter to support Schafer in his effort as soon as the bill is published.

WRITES HOOVER

The idea occurred to Clarke several months ago. In December he addressed letters to President Hoover, J. M. Doran, Commissioner of Prohibition, Senators Johnson and Shortridge, Congressman Welch and Congresswoman Florence Kahn.

Congressman Schafer decided to prepare the bill, it is understood, after Welch had communicated to him Clarke's suggestion.

By a curious coincidence a similar suggestion was published yesterday in the New York American. The suggestion came to the editor of that paper in a letter from Edward A. McSorley, of Lakeside Villa, Pearl River, N. Y.

In his letter to President Hoover, Clarke said:

"Your last message to Congress admitted that certain serious social disorders existing in the nation due to a general unsatisfactory observance and enforcement of the provisions of the Eighteenth amendment to our national Constitution.

PEOPLES WILL

"Constitutional law consists of the will of the people. However enacted, if it agrees therewith it is good law, otherwise it is a menace, to their society. Public disrespect for a constitutional amendment indicates that it is not in accord with public will; that is is a dead statute. No enabling acts can vitalize it.

"In order that our Constitution may continue to coincide with its sublime purpose, as set forth in its preamble, it is imperative that all of its provisions be conceived of the will of the people.

"Is it not practical to discover and correct any existing serious national social disorders through an X-ray afforded by our 1930 census?

"Could not additional questions be added thereto to determine whether prohibition as provided by the Eighteenth Amendment is in accord with the public will?

"Such action would in no way jeopardize the integrity of the census, but on the contrary would stimulate an interest in the people to see that their views will be properly registered on this question. The identification and truth of every answer can be checked by the other statistics to be given.

RESULTS INVALUABLE

"If the result should show that the majority are content with this amendment, accurate, valuable statistics are thereby afforded to aid in its enforcement.

"Should the result show that a change of this amendment is demanded, our Supreme Court could legally find it to be contrary to the will of the people and therefore unconstitutional. The interim of time which will elapse before a possible demand for such a change and proper legal action based thereon would be sufficient in which to enact local option laws where found necessary.

"Furthermore, stringent modification laws might be passed, having the dual capacity of encouraging national temperance and providing national revenue. With the return to the government of the tremendous amount of money now paid to unlawful sources for liquor, a means would be provided for paying off a large portion of our national debt without the aid of income tax."

Chicago Attorney Seeks Senate Seat

Mexican Envoy, 83, Dies in California

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Alexander K. Coney, for 30 years consul general for Mexico in San Francisco and Paris under the Porfiro Diaz regime, died suddenly yesterday of influenza in his home at Alameda. He was 83 years old.

"I'M GLAD HE DID" SAYS MRS. COOK

MRS. WM. J. COOK

Druggist recommended REM

Two coughs are two too many, in the opinion of Mrs. Wm. J. Cook of 940½ Virginia Ave., S. W., Washington, D. C. Her two children are subject to "bad-weather" coughs and had severe ones early last winter. So she went to Herbert's Drug Store at 10th and Virginia Ave., and asked him for a good cough medicine. He suggested REM and Mrs. Cook adds "I'm glad he did, for it gave the children wonderful relief. Since then we've used nothing else for coughs, and my sister-in-law uses it in her family, too, as I told her what I think of it." That's how the good word gets passed along. One person tells another. It won't be long before you, too, will be telling others how good REM is.

REM'S easy to take, too. Children and parents can both appreciate that

BRITAIN SCORED BY SHEARER

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—William B. Shearer, naval propagandist, in a lecture here charged that "Great Britain has dominated the policies of our State Department for the past 25 years."

He also said that a speech which Admiral Hilary P. Jones, member of the American delegation to the 1927 Geneva arms limitation conference, had failed to make, "would have delivered us into the hands of the British if he had delivered it."

This address, he said, had been prepared for delivery by Admiral Jones at the second plenary session of the conference by Allen Dulles, a representative of the State Department. After his lecture, Shearer insisted he had seen the address and that it was "full of dynamite," but refused to reveal its contents.

In the lecture, which he called "The inside story of 10 years of international intrigue against United States sea power," Shearer sketched the high lights of post-war naval matters against a background of his own activities.

He said the recent investigation by a Senate committee into his activities at the 1927 Geneva conference was "only a smoke screen" for the forthcoming London naval "conference."

VITALE ACCUSED BY WHALEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen has forwarded to the Bar Association a letter containing charges that Magistrate Albert H. Vitale freed a man accused of a theft after the accused had made an admission of guilt to the police.

The Bar Association is investigating Magistrate Vitale's conduct in connection with a recent dinner in his honor at which guests were robbed by holdup men. Whalen subsequently charged some of the guests had police records.

The man who was discharged by the magistrate, Whalen said, was Charles Fawcett. He said the man was identified by two persons as having taken $79 from a store in the Bronx.

The commissioner reported that counsel for the accused man had said shortly after his client's arrest that he once was retained by Arnold Rothstein, slain Broadway gambler.

Arrest Two Youths As Holdup Suspects

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 6.—Two young men, suspected of being the pair who early yesterday held up a filling station at Coshocton, O., and escaped with $22, were taken in custody last night at Dresden, eight miles south. The pair identified themselves as J. H. Price and Fred Settles, both of Ripley, W. Va.

The holdup men abandoned one automobile and fled in another machine they stole a short time later near the scene of the robbery. The abandoned car bore license plates which were stolen New Year's eve from the automobile of Joseph E. Hurst, assistant manager of the Daily Times of this place.

Open Fire Burns Cause Two Deaths

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 6.—The second death from burns received by an open fire in three days was recorded here with the discovery of the charred body of C. Vincent Johnson, 47, former Western Maryland employe, near the Chesapeake and Ohio canal towpath.

The body of Patrick Yantz, 55, who was burned to death in the woods by a bonfire, near Hazen, this county, was buried in the county cemetery. The police think Yantz's clothing caught from a spark blown by the wind as he lay sleeping on the ground.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

325 NEW CARS AT AUTO SHOW

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—The "stars" of the 1930 automobile show, 325 models standing for review in Grand Central Palace, hum a theme song of power.

Eyes catch striking colors, stream-lining, and low-hung bodies, but half the story of new monarchs of the road lies concealed beneath hoods where engineers have centered their talent.

Sixteen cylinders are introduced for the first time in American automobile history; there are more eights than sixes, and where cylinders have not been added there often are larger bores or more compression.

Four cars formerly powered by six-cylinder motors appear as eights. Two are additions to lines of sixes, but the others are eights exclusively.

Easier breathing for the engines of greater power is reflected in larger carburetors, down-draft manifold systems, and heat control that either is automatic or hand operated.

Efforts to wrest the full energy from every drop of gasoline have been matched by new methods of oil usage. One maker introduces for the first time a part of the radiator partitioned off to cool the oil supply; others have new and larger pumps to circulate the lubricant.

Engine noise has been reduced and isolated in many instances so it may not be carried back to passengers. Rubber blocks are more generally used for engine mountings.

Road shocks are absorbed for one eight-cylinder engine by the springs through a new device, Z "synchronizer." Anchored to the car frame, a rod runs through the crankcase to a rocker arm which is moved slightly from side to side, preventing outside shocks from communicating extreme motion to the engine.

BIND AGED MAN, LOOT HOME

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—State police are attempting to find two men who bound R. M. Beck, 76, at his home, near Delmont, on Friday night, and then ransacked the Beck residence. The aged man was found by neighbors late on Saturday and was reported in a serious condition.

Beck said the men struck him on the head when he answered a knock on the door. He was tied with ropes and placed on a couch. Regaining consciousness while the men were still present, Beck said he saw them searching through papers in a desk. Forty dollars in the man's pockets were not taken.

Beck told police he did not know what the men were seeking, and he was unable to give a good description, because the pair wore masks.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my husband bought me a bottle. I felt a little better and he bought me two more. I had the Compound in my home for two years and took it all the time. Now I feel strong and can do anything."—Mrs. A. Michalk, 5443 Mitchell Ave., Detroit, Michigan.

REJECTED, MAN SHOOTS SELF

Harry Thomas, 30, of McKinley avenue, North Vandergrift, was in West Penn Hospital today suffering from a bullet wound above the heart. Catherine Tappa, 22 his alleged sweetheart, and a young woman companion, who said she was Louella Smith, 24, both of New Kensington, were held last night in the Vandergrift lockup as material witnesses to the shooting.

Thomas shot himself, according to his statement to police. The shooting took place, police said, in the bathroom of Thomas' home after Miss Tappa told him she was not ready to marry him.

Telling her she would be sorry, Thomas is alleged to have struck the girl in the face shortly before he shot himself.

His condition was serious, hospital attaches said today.

The two women were arrested by Constable Walter Beck, of North Vandergrift.

OCEAN AIR RACE IN PROSPECT

PARIS, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Another air race from Paris to New York in 1930 appears probable. One contestant would be Capt. Dieudonne Coste, accepted as the holder of the world's records for straight-line and measured course long distance flying. The other will be Capt. Carretier, who was officially credited with bringing down 14 enemy planes during the World War.

It was learned that the manufacturers began work in December on a new airplane in which Coste about next June expects to link the Le Bourget and Roosevelt flying fields without a stop. He has said that his famous "Question Mark," plane in which he flew around the world and more recently set his distance records, is "tired."

Meanwhile the famous French airplane manufacturer, Cousinet, has started to build a monoplane with thick wings in which fuel will be stored. With the 1,800 horsepower to be developed from three Hispano-Suiza motors Capt. Carretier expects this plane to have a lifting capacity of 13 tons and a cruising range of 7,000 miles. He said that he would be ready to start ahead of Coste.

BRICK INDUSTRY MEET FEB. 3

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—A trade practice conference of the common brick industry has been set by the Federal Trade Commission for February 3, at Memphis Tenn.

In making the announcement, the Commission said it was expected that manufacturers representing 75 per cent of the production would attend.

The subjects for discussion include price discrimination, breach of contract and agreement, fraud and misrepresentation, and secret rebates.

Franklin Makes No Mayor Change

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 6.—Mayor Harry Ferringer will again take the oath of office today and in turn will swear in Councilmen-elect Lester Harrison and King Gilliland. Ferringer is planning no shakeup in appointments, and Gilliland is expected to be given the Water Works Department, which has been in charge of M. P. Williams, retiring councilman.

Blame Missing Man For Christmas Death

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 6.—In the case of Thomas Croom, who died of gunshot wounds during a brawl at Ellsworth, Christmas morning, the coroner's jury recommended that James Sullivan be apprehended and held on a charge of murder.

Youth's Profanity Fined By Word

BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—When Lowell Osborne, 17, Bradford, was brought before Alderman Harry Collins here charged with using profanity in addressing a woman, the magistrate delved into some musty law books, dug up a state statute of 1794 and discovered that Lowell had cussed $1.17 worth.

Ordinary swear words are punishable by 40 cents' fine, mention of the Diety, 67 cents, the law specifies.

Osborne paid the fine, which, as the law provides, was turned oxer to the poor department of the city.

AIR LINES CLAIM SPEED MARKS

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. — (AP.) — Stiff tail winds brought claims of new speed records from two air lines flying into Chicago.

The first claim was made by the National Air Transport Company, which reported Pilot Paul Johnson had flown here from Kansas City in 2 hours and 15 minutes, bettering by five minutes the time reported for Pilot Harry Lewis, of the same line.

The other speed mark was claimed by Universal Air Lines, which announced Pilot Bobby Jewell had brought six passengers and a cargo of mail from St. Louis to Chicago in 1 hour and 26 minutes, four minutes better than the line's record set a year ago.

GETS FIVE YEARS IN MURDER

GEORGE WEST, Tex., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Roberto Martinez, whose confession of his part in the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, Mathis physician, three years ago led to the conviction and electrocution of Harry J. Leahy, was convicted and sentenced to five years in prison by a jury here.

Martinez has been in jail since 1926. His confession alleged that he enticed Dr. Ramsey from his home at night on the pretext that the physician was to pay a visit to a sick woman. He drove the doctor in his automobile to the place where Leahy was waiting, and there, the confession stated, after Leahy had forced Dr. Ramsey to sign several papers, Leahy struck Dr. Ramsey over the head with an iron bar. When Ramsey showed signs of life, Leahy cut his throat and dumped the body into a shallow grave, the confession alleged.

Martinez claimed that he did not know that Leahy intended to kill Dr. Ramsey.

Johnstown City's Taxes Unchanged

3 NICARAGUANS FIGHT RETURN

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Jan. 6.—(AP.) The Supreme Court has been asked to decide whether three former members of the Nicaraguan National Guard shall be returned to that country to face charges of rebellion or shall be permitted to adopt Honduranean citizenship.

The men are Carlos Gabuardi, Venecio Garcia and Juan Ramon. They were said to have rebelled last October 18. They were recently captured on Honduranean territory near the border and gave up 30 bombs, 4,000 cartridges, 14 rifles and two machine guns. The Nicaraguan government asked for their extradition but the men announced their intention of becoming Honduranean citizens which can be done automatically under the constitution.

If this citizenship is granted they will avoid extradition and the penalties for their rebellion.

Warship Grounds, 892 in Crew Saved

ORAN, Algeria, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—A wide hole was torn in the hull of the French cruiser Edgar Quinet when it struck near Cape Blanco while making its way through a dense fog. The crew was taken off safely but the engine room of the vessel was flooded.

The Edgar Quinet was launched in September, 1907, and has a normal complement of 892 men. Its displacement is 14,100 tons and it has a draught of 27 feet. It was made a training ship for midshipmen in 1928.

No one was injured. Carl Westerdroll, chief engineer, plunged through flames to cut off petcocks through which the gas was escaping and which threatened 300 gallons of gasoline aboard the vessel. The flames were extinguished by firemen. Blossom was not aboard. He is due here today.

TRUCKMAN FINDS COUGH RELIEF ON CAR RIDE

MR. LOUIS F. BRAUN

Car-card introduces him to REM

Mr. Louis F. Braun of 72 E. McMicken Ave., Cincinnati, spends most of his time on a truck—and he doesn't find it all easy riding. There are lots of hours and days he must spend in the cold and wet. One day he had a very bad cough when he happened to ride on a street car. There he saw a REM card, and decided to give it a chance to prove its worth. Mr. Braun found that "REM was just what it claimed to be, for it relieved my cough very quickly." Mr. Braun's bottle is only one of the 10 million bottles of REM that have been sold under an absolute "money-back" guarantee. Yet not one customer in a thousand ever wanted it back! There's a record for you!

REM has "made good" in over 10 million cases. Follow the 10 million!

... on the skis it's BALANCE!

in a cigarette it's TASTE!

IT is a curious fact that the best-tasting cigarette is the one in which no single taste quality is too evident. Over-mildness, for example—or over-richness—shows lack of "balance" just as plainly as harshness or bitterness.

On this basis, test Chesterfield. Aroma, smoothness, satisfying goodness, flavor, mildness, all present—but none emphasized at the expense of others. The one goal is taste—better taste, balanced taste—

"TASTE above everything"

Filmland Voices Feature Radio Broadcasts

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

VOICES from Filmland, starring Joan Crawford, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Benny Rubin and Cliff Edwards, will come to WJAS direct from Hollywood at 7:30 tonight.

WJAS can be very proud of this new feature. First it will bring into Pittsburgh homes the voices of more movie stars, supplementing the Paramount Publix Hour heard every Saturday night. Second, Benny Rubin and Cliff Edwards are boys who received their first microphone experience at WJAS when the station was in its infancy.

BENNY STARTED HERE

As clear in our memory as though it had happened yesterday, we recall introducing Benny Rubin to the radio audience on the old Gazette-Tele Revue about 1925. Benny came into the studio with a big cigar in his mouth and a funny, mischievous grin. Picking up the microphone he paraded from one end of the studio to the other, all the time doing his first radio act. He had Brian McDonald, then chief announcer, in hysterics when he took a notion that he would like to "play operation" and started manipulating the dial controls. Brian breathed easier when Rubin undertook to give for the first time on the radio his original speech about "De Pilkrims and De Hinjuns," which is very funny and which we hope he includes in his program tonight.

ANOTHER PROTEGE

Cliff Edwards, now known as "Ukelele Ike," once begged for time on WJAS. He came here from the Southland. He was successful from the start and went on to New York, where he acquired the nom de plume in blackface comedy. Sam Pickering and H. J. Brennan remember him well and even now the WJAS studios in the Law and Finance Building sport two statues of the boy doing his act.

The Family Party of WCAE at 9:30 will present five guest artists, including Olive Kline, soprano.

Cecil and Sally, a new record feature on KQV at 6:45, concerns a boy and a girl who go through many amusing adventures. The feature has made a big hit with audiences on the Pacific Coast.

We Now Present

Recent visitors at downtown studios:

Man who said he made $50,000 doing risky stuff for Tom Mix in the movies and would chance a leap from WCAE roof garden to alley 12 floors below for $25 cash. No sale.

Woman who wanted to go on the air and tell the world how badly her husband treated her.

Man who asserted he can signal Mars and translate answers from that planet. Big bargain for WJAS at only $10,000. Refused.

Short fellow who claimed the world is not round and that he can prove it if KQV gives him an airplane and a portable transmitter. KQV not interested.

AND WORSE: A woman in a small western Pennsylvania town writes Henry Burbig a love letter almost every week. She likes his voice.

This is the other side of fan mail. Most of it is encouraging and delightful reading but a small percentage is extremely silly.

"Howdy" Clark and his wife are great pals. She displays a keen interest in his radio work and openly asserts that her "Howdy" has the jolliest "good morning" of any married man in Pittsburgh.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

The device used for making train noise on the Empire Builders' program is a rough sheet of tin, over which the operator scrapes a wire brush. It costs only $2.25, but when properly manipulated it creates a mental picture of a giant locomotive tearing 65 miles an hour.

In "High Finance."

CHICAGO COUSINS GET COUGHS WHILE AT PLAY

Andrew Zeis of 3722 Ward St., Chicago, and his cousin, Jack Horth, "pal around" together. And they aren't the sort of boys who want to suspend outdoor play even during a Chicago winter. So it isn't strange that once in a while they get laid up with coughs and colds. As Mr. Zeis himself says, "My son, Andrew, gets the usual bad-weather coughs like all boys do. He's out in all sorts of weather, and we do have all kinds here in Chicago. Some time ago he had a mighty bad cough that stuck to him till I started giving him REM. I'd seen it advertised, and it helped him fine. My nephew, Jack Horth, has also used it too, and with good results, for his mother gives him REM whenever he gets a cough. It's certainly a good cough remedy." Thousands of other delighted users agree with Mr. Zeis.

Honor Early Settlers.

The story of the exploits of Joseph Chapman, the first Yankee pioneer to settle in California in 1818, will be heard in a dramatic sketch.

Chapman ingratiated himself with the natives and the hostile Spanish settlers when he successfully constructed a grist mill and ship. Romance as well as adventure came to this roving spirit when he wooed and wed a Spanish senorita named Guadaloupe.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Radio Commission Studies Jam Here

The Federal Radio Commission will make an immediate study of reception conditions in Pittsburgh, Ira E. Robinson, chairman, stated in a wire to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph today. Fans and managers of local stations have complained that the wavelengths are too close for sharp tuning. It is expected that a hearing will be held soon. Meanwhile the commission will consider all letters of complaint. Letters should be addressed to the Federal Radio Commission, Washington, D. C.

HUSBAND KILLS WIFE, 2 OTHERS

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Delbert Green, 20, confessed to officers that he killed his young wife, her mother and her stepfather, James Green, who also was his uncle, early yesterday.

The triple slaying occurred at the home of the uncle in Davis County, about 30 miles north of Salt Lake City, where Mrs. Delbert Green had gone after a family quarrel. Delbert Green was arrested at his home in Ogden.

He told the officers he had followed his wife to her mother's home "determined to settle matters."

"I figured I would bump them off and then bump myself off," he added. "I would have killed myself, but the gun jammed."

Three members of the Green family escaped his bullets—his grandmother, Mrs. Hannah Green; his 10-year-old sister-in-law, Lois Green, and his own infant daughter. The baby was found, after the killings, beside the body of her mother, who was slain while in bed.

Delbert Green served three months in the Utah State Prison in 1928 for assault with intent to commit murder. He was sentenced in June of that year and was paroled in September. He was charged with shooting one of his wife's cousins.

Meadville Attorney Still Active at 90

50 MEN ON ICE FLOE ESCAPE

MENOMINEE, Mich., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—While friends and relatives watched from the shore, 50 fishermen narrowly escaped death or injury in Green Bay north of here as a breakup of ice trapped them on a huge floe. A sudden thaw was responsible. They came ashore racing against time, safe only a minute before the ice was swept out into Lake Michigan.

Hundreds of nets and all the fishing equipment was carried away as the men abandoned it in their dash to safety.

The breakup occurred about two miles off shore. Heralded by a rumbling and creaking of the ice, a crack appeared along a 15-mile front. Twenty-five of the men rushed for the shore at once. Some of them had to swim in order to bridge the rapidly-widening gap.

The other 25 remained behind believing the crack would close. When it widened, instead, seven of them jumped on a sled owned by George Grabowski, and drawn by horses. They raced eight miles north to Hayward Bay point, where there still was a chance to get ashore.

Almost all the boats in the little settlement of Ingallston, near the point of the breakup, had been put away for the winter. With the wives and children of the fishermen still on the floe standing on the shore and entreating aid, a sail sled started north. It brought off most of the men. A small boat accounted for those remaining.

Airplane Crashes On Ice; 2 Escape

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—An airplane crashed through the ice after landing near the Yacht Club here but its occupants escaped injury. It was piloted by Hubert Hall, and carried Fred Walworth as a passenger. Both are of Erie.

Policeman Drives Into Pole; May Die

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—F. Holmes, Erie policeman, drove his car into a concrete standard here and suffered several broken ribs, and severe lacerations of the hands and face. His condition was reported as serious at a hospital.

Jumps Through Window Fleeing Husband

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 6.—Christina Gibbons, 32, of Carmichaels, is in a serious condition from cut suffered when she jumped through a window after she had been attacked, she said, by her husband, Joseph Gibbons, 39, construction worker. Gibbons is held on a charge of felonious cutting.

The leap followed a quarrel, Mrs. Gibbons cut her throat and back in escaping her husband, who had previously inflicted wounds with a penknife.

Gibbons was arrested by County Detective J. A. Huhn while attempting to flee.

TRIPLE ACTION
ENDS COUGHS THE MEDICAL WAY

No other cough syrup has it!

A letter carrier can't pick his weather . . .

But he knows how to get rid of coughs and colds.

"I've got to make my route in rain, hail and snow, just the same as in sunshine. Last winter on a particularly blustery day, I caught a bad cold. The druggist on my route told me about this Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. I got a bottle. And I lost my cough overnight. I went back to my work the very next day—that bottle saved me at least $5 in wages. Now I've always got a bottle in my house." SAMUEL BRYAN, ROCKFORD, ILL.

Smith Brothers' works so efficiently because it has Triple Action which (1)—soothes, (2)—is mildly laxative, (3)—clears air passages.

A nice sleigh party—both kids caught cold . . .

"I was nearly frightened out of my wits when both of my kids came home, one coughing with a deep-sounding cough, and the other sneezing. Off to bed they were bundled—and I gave each one a half teaspoonful of Smith Brothers'. I kept this up through the afternoon, once every hour. They thought it was great fun—they liked the taste. But I was worried, I can tell you . . . When they woke in the morning they were spry and healthy. Not a trace of a cough or a cold! I'll always be grateful to Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup." MRS. O. M. HIGH WINDS FROM LAKE MAKE COUGHS ON SHORE

HAROLD KAVANAGH

REM brings prompt relief however

Harold Kavanagh of 9 Iroquois St., Sea Breeze, N. Y., enjoys himself outdoors, no matter how cold the winter breezes blow in from Lake Ontario. For a cough isn't a calamity to Harold since his mother discovered REM. A neighbor had recommended it to Mrs. Kavanagh, when she was suffering from a severe cough, and it brought relief to her very quickly. "REM has always stopped Harold's coughs, too," she adds. This quick action of REM is due in part to a special ingredient that clings to the throat as it is swallowed and soothes the sore and irritated membranes. Try REM yourself. You'll find it quite an improvement over ordinary cough syrups.

REM'S easy to take, too. Children and parents can both appreciate that

JUVENILE STUDY FUND GIVEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Charles L. Chute, general secretary of the National Probation Association, has announced a grant of $33,000 by the Bureau of Social Hygiene of the Rockefeller Foundation for a two-year study of juvenile detention in the United States.

"Detention homes today," Chute said, "are being used wrongly for correctional purposes and for the care of children who should be at home. It is our desire to see what method of care is suited to the individual child."

Harrison A. Dobbs, associate professor of social economy at the University of Chicago, who will direct the study, was formerly superintendent of the Cook County, Ill., juvenile dentention home. He has also served as state psychologist for the Illinois Institute for Juvenile Research.

She was born in Indiana County, Pennsylvania, in 1867. She had been in Africa since 1907. Her only known relative in this country is Mrs. J. W. Rankin, a sister, of Alturas, Fla.

Frederick Lanning, business manager of the mission, said today that the attack on Miss Stumpf was only the second in East Africa in the record of the mission.

RENEW PROTESTS AGAINST TAX BOOST

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

HAD HALL designs gowns for mi—milady, isn't it? Recently he went to a downtown theater, alone. He had been seated a few minutes when an unaccompanied woman in brilliant dress took the adjoining chair.

And then the usher came. He handed Had a card which said, "Will you please ask your lady to remove her hat?"

Mr. Hall pondered. Yes, he decided, he would. No, changed his mind, he wouldn't. He tore up the card. And that's all there was to it, except that the gown the woman was wearing had been designed * by Mr. Hall.

The musical shows which have visited Pittsburgh this season support the conclusion that the chorus girl of our father's and grandfather's time is fast disappearing. There was a time when the chorus girl sang and danced. First her singing was eliminated. Now she is not allowed to dance. Her duty seems to consist simply of standing on the stage and smiling sweetly upon the customers. We solemnly believe that the time is near when the chorus girl herself will disappear and in her place will stand (and there is nothing up our sleeve!) Howard Thurston.

MR. THURSTON, incidentally, comes to town today, and we would like to know whether he has taught his daughter Jane his tricks. Magicians guard their magic as zealously as a traffic cop protects his Christmas gifts, so we are anxious to learn whether Mr. Thurston has revealed to his only child just how the goldfish disappear. If Mr. Thurston came down with mumps, could Jane, on two minutes' notice, cause the Hindu on the rope to disappear, or would only the rope disappear, leaving the embarrassed Hindu to explain things to a puzzled audience?

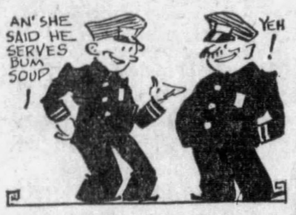
Kate is one of the steadiest customers in Morals Court. Thirty-five times last year she faced the court with ready explanations for stepping over the bounds of sobriety. Saturday she was arrested again and sentenced to the workhouse.



"Judge," she thanked Magistrate Brandon, "I certainly am glad you're sending me to the workhouse. I'm sick and tired of the soup Warden McNeil's been serving in the jail."

*The truth is, the gown was not designed by Mr. Hall. We were simply trying to improve the story.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 6. ANOTHER fire in Washington. It just shows you Congressmen are not yet competent to carry matches. If all these fires had happened during the previous administration, we could have laid it to the fact they was trying to "smoke" Calvin out.

A Heflin speech must have caught fire.

Yours,

WILL.

MAN SHOT DEAD, DETECTIVES BAFFLED

Murder Suspected Despite Finding of Death Pistol Clutched in Victim's Hand

East End police today were confronted with mystery in their attempts to learn how Ernest F. Simmons, 38, of 211 Hailman street, was slain.

He was found in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Daner, 6415 Aurelia street, after the couple heard two shots and saw two men run away as Simmons fell. Simmons was killed by a bullet which penetrated his abdomen.

POLICE PUZZLED

Patrolman Walter Charles, who answered the call, found the man lying in the street, a hand clutching the gun that had caused his death. Two shells in the gun had been exploded.

Homicide detectives said they were puzzled as to whether the shooting resulted from an attempted holdup, or whether Simmons had shot himself. He had been in charge of the baggage room at the Pennsylvania Station and had trouble with men he had discharged, police said.

HEAR CRY FOR HELP

Mr. and Mrs. Daner said their attention first was attracted when someone cried "Help, help." Before they reached the window, two shots were fired. Two men ran down Aurelia street after Simmons fell, they said.

Detectives said it was possible that the murderers placed the gun in their victim's hand after shooting him.

AUTOS STRIKE 4 WOMEN; TWO KILLED

Machine Hits Pair on Walk After Running Into Woods Run Trolley; 3 Arrested

Two women are dead and three persons were in serious condition today as a result of automobile accidents late yesterday and last night.

Mrs. Julia Demchak, 46, of 10 Sterling street, died in St. John's Hospital an hour after she was struck by an automobile, driven, police said, by Mike Hoskovic, 32, of 1729 Eckert street, in Preble avenue, near the ramp of the Superior Avenue Bridge.

HIT ON SIDEWALK

The machine, driven down the ramp, collided with a Woods Run street car, and then ran onto the sidewalk and struck Mrs. Demchack, and her companion, Mrs. Agnes Hasulak, 29, of 6 Sterling street, according to the official report. Mrs. Hasulak sustained lacerations of the body and probable internal injuries. Her condition was regarded as serious at the hospital. Police arrested Hoskovic and held him for the coroner.

Struck by an automobile at Sixth avenue and Library road, Castle Shannon, late last night, Mrs. Nora Doloughtry, 55, of 4010 Cabinet street, suffered a fractured skull and died a few minutes later. The machine, according to the morgue report, was driven by James N. Keller, of 2331 Eiler avenue, Carrick, who was arrested.

WALKS AGAINST AUTO

Walking into the side of an automobile, according to police, Mrs. Marie Hodge, 55, of 4213 Milgate street, suffered a probable fracture of the skull and internal injuries at Penn and Negley avenues, late last night. She was taken to West Penn Hospital.

Harry W. Carr, 20, of 6916 Bishop street, driver of the car, was released on a $1,000 bond pending the outcome of the woman's injuries, police reported.

MAN UNCONSCIOUS

Police today were trying to identify a man, about 55 years old, who was found unconscious in the 1600 block of Carson street shortly after midnight. He was believed to have been hit by a hit-run driver. At South Side Hospital he said he was Eugene Smith, but was unable to give his address. A letter addressed to "Eugene Smith, 4633 Plummer way," was found in his coat pocket. The number is a branch of the Salvation Army, and officers said they did not know the man.

HORSES SAVED FROM FLAMES

Fire which destroyed the blacksmith shop and damaged the carpenter shop of the Seven Baker Brothers' Wabash and Lowe streets, West End, caused damage estimated by Battalion Chief W. H. Kuhlman at $7,000, early Sunday morningfi

The fire will cause no delay in business, according to Louis Baker, of the Baker brothers.

MUSICIANS ASK GOSPEL COACH

The Rev. Clifford Graffuis, pastor of the Little Church of the Nazarene, and family, Sycamore street, Mt. Washington, are giving their lives to preaching the Gospel with saxophone and marimba accompaniment. There are six of them—the parents and four sons.

But they believe that the smaller spots of the nation need the Gospel more, and they want a Gospel coach. They want to blaze the small town trail from coast to coast, preaching and conducting prayer meetings from it. They have the zeal, they have musical instruments with which to attract and interest their throngs—but they haven't the coach.

Hoping that some wealthy patron of religion might feel that their desires in this direction merited attention and financing, they are making an appeal for a Gospel car.

Mrs. Graffuis is particularly interested.

"Cities have lots of churches," she says. "Thousands of little communities have none. We need a Gospel car. Maybe someone will give us one."

1-MILL RAISE BY COUNTY FORECAST

Real Estate Board, Other Organizations Insist on Hearing; City Criticized

With the expected return of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong to his office this week and the opening of sessions for the consideration of the budget, citizens who asked to be heard several weeks ago in opposition to the proposed increase of one mill in the county tax will renew their demand for a hearing.

"While we have had no word as yet," said Edward F. Daume, chairman of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board's committee on taxes and assessments, "I anticipate that we will have a hearing within a few days. We are, of course, very anxious that Commissioner Armstrong shall be present.

"We shall undertake to show that real estate cannot stand an increase in the tax burden. The board is in favor of public improvements that will benefit the county and city, but we want the improvements handled in a way that will keep taxes down."

FIGURES UNSATISFACTORY

J. R. Brady, executive secretary of the Real Estate Board, stated yesterday that the committee appointed at the request of City Council to give advice as to how the City-County Building and the City Market House might be more economically and efficiently managed had been delayed in its work by the unsatisfactory character of the figures supplied by Mayor Charles H. Kline and Controller Daniel Winters.

"Figures for the City-County Building," said Mr. Brady, "showed salaries and wages paid; but did not show how much elevator service cost, or how much was spent for light, heat and cleaning. The market house figures gave total receipts and expenditures, showing a loss for 1929 of over $24,000, but did not give itemized rentals per stall. The figures will have to be broken down to be of use."

COMMITTEE NAMED

The committee in charge of the study is composed of J. W. Bamford, Charles Chubb, William C. Ziegler, A. C. Vogeley, John L. Walsh and R. L. McKallip.

Co-operating with the Real Estate Board in opposing an increase in the county millage are the Building Owners' and Managers' Association, Chamber of Commerce, Allegheny County League of Building and Loan Associations, the League of Women Voters and several suburban real estate boards and other organizations.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Is the American working man benefited by labor-saving devices or do they cause a scarcity of work?

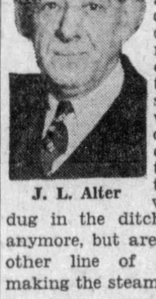
ELIZABETH CANTON, Downtown, housekeeper: "I'm for labor saving devices of all kinds and don't think that they put men out of employment. The thing they really do is decrease working hours and make almost every job easier. I know my work is easier to do with an electrical sweeper than a broom. That doesn't mean there is not enough work, for I know there is."

Miss Canton

DOROTHY TOBIN, East End, secretary: Any labor-saving device does not cause a scarcity of work—they make more work in my opinion. The American workingmen's conditions are greatly improved because of such machinery. By it's use he gains more time for what is called the better things in life. Give me a typewriter instead of a pencil anytime."

Miss Tobin

JAMES L. ALTER, East End, manager: "Somebody must produce all these modern machines that are now in use. That is the answer to the question. Instead of thousands of men digging in a ditch all day there are steam-shovels doing the work better, quicker and cheaper. One or two men operate the shovel. Those who formerly dug in the ditch are not there anymore, but are engaged in another line of industry—maybe making the steam shovels."

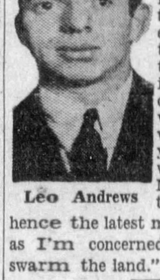


J. L. Alter

JACK BALDINGER, East End, office manager: "The old bugaboo of the machine age being the age of unemployment has died a natural death. If you asked the average man or woman to throw away their electric washer or lathe because they constitute a menace to the masses you would be laughed at. Our leisure depends on labor-saving machinery."

Jack Baldinger

LEO ANDREWS, North Side, copywriter: "Because there is more appliances to do work today than ever before and because there is more work to do, the only possible explanation to the question is that the worker is benefited. We of today sit and watch a machine work. Those of yesterday did the work themselves. Most people love to sit and watch, hence the latest machines. As far as I'm concerned let the robots swarm the land."



Leo Andrews

MILDRED WOLF, East End, stenographer: "Do you recall that chapter in the text book, telling how English workers destroyed the first mechanical looms invented in England because the workers thought that the loom would cause them to lose their jobs? Do workers still destroy labor-saving devices? Certainly not. Why? Because they know life is made easier by such machines. That's the answer to the question."

Monoxide Gas Victim Dies Despite 5-Hour Fight

Police and employes of the Mine Safety Appliance Company, lost a five-hour battle against death when their efforts to revive George C. Whitesell, 55, overcome by carbon monoxide fumes, proved futile shortly before midnight.

Whitesell was overcome, police said, while racing his motor in the garage in the rear of his home, at 5617 Callowhill street, shortly after 7 p. m. A neighbor found him slumped over the wheel of his car with the motor running when he opened the doors of the garage after finding the lights burning.

Whitesell's wife summoned police, and Dr. S. E. Montgomery, of 725 Jenkins street, Police from the East End Station with mine safety workers used inhalators in their attempt to save the victim's life. Whitesell died shortly before midnight.

Whitesell went to the garage to get his car for a short ride, police were told.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6. THIS time Washington had a bigger and better fire. The one last week was just a rehearsal. I wonder who they are trying to "smoke out," down there?

Can it be Borah?

If it is, they'll never do it with fire—or water—but "fire-water," that's something different again.

In the first fire they saved some very important papers—from the last administration, I presume.

If these fires continue in Washington, I would suggest that at the next election we choose for President not an engineer, but a good, experienced fireman.

TWO FIREMEN HURT AT BLAZE

John Noonan, of No. 14 Engine Company, sustained an injury to his right foot when he stepped on a nail. Both were treated by Dr. James Clark, city physician, and taken to their homes.

Realizes 12-Year Dream, Wins Radio License

Orville H. Mills got his amateur radio operator's license last August. In a few weeks, or days, he hopes to have his commercial license.

And then—he plans to continue on operating the police lines of the city.

But the commercial license means the dream of a hobbyist who for 12 years has been making and re-making short wave transmitting receiving sets in his evenings.

He hears London's voice; he and his two-year-old son Edward hear the ticks of the Morse code from New Zealand and other distant Pacific ocean points; he talks to other amateur operators from coast to coast.

The government has awarded him an amateur broadcasting station in his home, 712 Taylor street, North Side. It is W8DMA.

The police operator will be qualified, when he gets his commercial license, to be a ships, radio operator or big station operator. But he plans to stay with the Department of Public Safety here.

*Below zero.

Weather Conditions.

There is a high pressure area centered over the Middle Atlantic coast, a trough of low pressure extending from north of Lake Superior southwestward over the plains to a center over Colorado, and another high over the Northwest. This distribution is causing southerly winds and mild temperatures over the Mississippi and Ohio Valley states and extremely cold weather over the Northwest. In Alberta and Saskatchewan the temperatures range from 20 to 36 degrees below zero, and over the Border states 16 to 18 degrees below. The skies are clear along the Atlantic coast, but from the Appalachian Mountains westward to the central plains cloudy weather prevails, but there is no precipitation except on the western side of the low pressure area where the marked drop in temperature is causing a little snow.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 5.7 feet; Lock No. 7, 15.0; Pittsburgh, 14.9; Dam No. 4, 12.7; Dam No. 6, 14.4; Dam No. 9, 15.2, and Dam No. 12, 14.6. The dams are down.

SLEUTHS SEEK GUNMAN IN STOLEN CAR

Police Dragnet Spread for Bandits After 5 Holdups; Woman Battles Burglars

A search was under way today for two armed highwaymen who shot Anthony Wisniewski, 19, of 819 Saw Mill way, North Side, on a lonely Baldwin Township road after they discovered he had no money. The youth, a bullet in his left side, is in a critical condition in the South Side Hospital.

Wisniewski was picked up late Saturday night on the North Side and taken to Baldwin Township. When it was discovered he had no money, he was pushed out of the car. He cried out to the two men and their answer was a shot. As he fell unconscious to the roadway, the highwaymen picked him up and placed him in the machine.

Driving a short distance, the highwaymen halted the automobile of William Petraitis, 17, of Custer avenue, Baldwin Township, and at the point of revolvers, forced him and his two companions to take the injured youth into their car and take him to the South Side Hospital. Police under Capt. Dennis Hennessy started an investigation.

Petraitis gave police the license number of the highwaymen's car and a checkup showed it had been stolen a short time before in the downtown district.

SEARCH FOR BANDITS

City-wide search was being made by police and detectives for bandits who perpetrated five holdups and a burglar who battled a woman when she surprised him ransacking her home Saturday night.

The theft of $1,000 from a safe in the office of the Flotilla Club, in the Allegheny River, at the Sixth Street Bridge, was discovered yesterday by Etzi Covato, manager of the club, detectives reported. The safe, detectives said, was opened by thieves who apparently were familiar with its combination.

Three bandits who late Saturday night held up the drug store of W. W. Welsh, at 5135 Liberty avenue, escaped with more than $400, after holding two clerks and several customers at bay wtih revolvers. Most of the money was taken from a safe.

Dave Jones, of 203 Cremo street, was attacked by three Negroes near his home and robbed of $9.85 Saturday night.

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman

No, gentle reader, this playful animal is not the Tammany tiger nor the Princeton mascot, nor yet the pride of the Detroit baseball club. Neither is it the monarch of the jungle mentioned by William Blake in his "Tiger, Tiger, Burning Bright," which you learned about in the Fourth Reader. It is one of those beasts that we pet when it is young, and wish we hadn't when it grows up.

The little cub labeled "Bad Habits" symbolizes hip flasks, late hours, poker sessions and similar amusements. He looks harmless, but Mr. Coffman shows him later when he is NOT harmless.

You observe that the young fellow who once patted him is now being petted BY him, which is quite different.

The young man does not seem to enjoy this petting party, but he can't tear himself away from it. He will have to wait until after the refreshments are served with the strong possibility that HE will be the refreshments.

You gather from his predicament that it is wise to be careful in selecting your pets. They grow up before you do, and they are hard to shake.

RESCUERS TWO HOURS FREEING HIS BODY

Homestead Man Becomes Confused, Drives Auto Into the Ohio River

Trapped in his closed automobile when the car plunged into the Ohio River at the foot of South Main street, West End, Raymond Lithgow, 35, an instructor in the Schwab Training School, Homestead, was drowned early yesterday. Police recovered the body three hours later by cutting through the roof of the machine.

Shortly before 2 o'clock, Lithgow, who lives at 1518 Maple street, Homestead, drove his machine across Carson street on to the float of the Iron City Sand Company at the foot of Main street. Samuel Frams, of 1509 Locust street, watchman on the float, halted Lithgow and told him to turn around.

BECOMES COFUSED

Lithgow is believed to have become confused in getting his machine from the float and instead of backing away from the river, plunged forward off the float into 10 feet of water.

Frams called police and Capt. Denis Hennessy, Lieut. Harry Hatters and Patrolman Fred Egler and Colin Gallagher hurried to the scene. They obtained a skiff and attempted to pry open the automobile doors. They finally cut through the roof of the machine and two hours later removed the body. The police used inhalators, but failed to revive the man. The body was taken to the morgue.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Relatives told police that Lithgow had been suffering ever since he had been wounded in the head while with the Army in France. He was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Chemistry and had lived in Homestead several years.

WOMAN BEATEN ON HOUSEBOAT, MAN JAILED

Suspect Accused of Attack On River Dweller With Club; Battles Policemen

Mrs. Nora Thomas, 63, occupant of a houseboat in the Allegheny River at the foot of Corry street, was in a critical condition in Allegheny General Hospital as a result, police said, of being beaten on the head with a club in the houseboat last night.

Her alleged assailant, John Maloney, 40, who said he lived at the Improvement of the Poor Hotel, Duquesne way, was held by police. He was arrested by Patrolmen James Fitzhugh and Patrick Brennan who had been summoned to the boat by Mary Port, 45, another occupant.

Maloney, police said, first seized the Port woman as she was leaving the boat. She broke away from him and ran to Federal and General Robinson streets, and summoned the patrolmen. Before the arrival of the policemen, Maloney was said to have smashed a window in the houseboat, and to have beaten Mrs. Thomas with the club.

Maloney battled the patrolmen when they reached the scene, they reported, but was subdued. He was taken to the hospital and then lodged in the North Side Police Station on a suspicious person charge.

Mrs. Thomas is suffering from a probable fracture of the jaw, internal injuries and severe lacerations of the head and body.

Views on Divorce Asked; You May Win $250

If there is any woman in America who ought to know about divorce, it is Ursula Parrott, youthful author, who became famous over night by writing the much-discussed "Ex-Wife."

Miss Parrott's views on the subject directly were inspired by the furore kicked up by Beatrice Burton's new serial, "Lovejoy," which starts next Wednesday in the Sun-Telegraph.

Let it be stated right at the outset that Miss Parrott emphatically does not believe in divorce.

On the other hand, let it be stated just as emphatically that she objects—and strenuously—to the present divorce laws.

"Divorces," Miss Parrott declared, "are too easy to get. Present divorce laws are ridiculous, especially in some states, where, by collusion and a little perjury, you always can get one. If you want to go to Mexico, you can get one that will be pretty good, if it isn't contested. Or you can go to Reno, and get one in three months.

"There should be a federal law covering divorce for all states. Divorces should be allowed for three or four reasons, not—as in New York—solely on the grounds of infidelity.

"The almost ideal law is that of California, where the interlocutory decree does not become final for a year. Or it might be two years. People would not rush to get divorces over silly little things then, if they knew it would be a long time before they could be married again.

"If divorces were more difficult to get, people would work harder to make their marriages successful.

"Of course, if two people simply cannot get along, and there are no children, they should be allowed a divorce."

Speaking of herself, Miss Parrott said:

"I was married too young, and a divorce just had to be the result."

In the meantime, the Sun-Telegraph is offering $250 in gold for the best letters on "How to hold your husband?" or "How to hold your wife?" and invites readers to express their views in a letter of 250 words or less.

HE-MAN INCE PLAYS HERO IN HARRIS

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Ralph Ince goes in for the he-man stuff and for high finance in "Wall Street," new talk film in the Harris. As a steel worker who rises to dizzy heights in the money world, he works on the principle, Take all you can get and if it comes from an enemy so much the better. And, having such an enemy, he takes the fellow's fortune and then starts after his wife—or rather widow, for said enemy exits from the picture via the suicide route.

But the widow, played by Aileen Pringle, tries out the "take all" idea, too. She becomes part of a scheme to "break" the he-man hero at his own game. And she succeeds—only to find she really loves him after all.

The picture is just so so. And so is the emoting of He-Man Ince and of Heroine Pringle. A youngster, played by Freddie Burke Fredericks, brings some bright moments to the film and also some usual movie hokum and sentiment.

Victor Graff is presenting a production known as "Radio Station WCAE" on the stage. Its chief feature is that it marks the debut of a chorus of dancing girls in the Harris. There are eight of them. The show includes a number of featured entertainers, some of whom are entertaining enough. As for Mr. Graff, he sings a couple of songs and introduces the various acts, promising "greatness" for each of them.

CARIBOU BILL, FICKLE FATE'S VICTIM, GLAD EVELYN ISN'T 'HIGH HAT'

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.

HE was sitting in a chair on stage No. 4 at the RKO studio. Evelyn Brent trailed from her dressing room to stage No. 4. She was in evening clothes, ready to shoot the first scenes of "Framed," direction George Archainbaud.

She walked past the white-haired man in the chair. He looked at her, a quizzical light in his deep set eyes. Hum, his face was familiar. Now where had she seen him?

Evelyn Brent.

She finished a morning's worth of scenes and returned to her dressing room. En route, she met the watchman again. She stopped. He smiled. She rushed toward him, hand extended.

"Caribou Bill!"

He gripped her hand. "I was wonderni' if you remembered me. I wasn't goin' to speak if you hadn't. Some folks set high hat in this business."

But Betty recollected Caribou Bill. William F. Cooper is the way the telephone directory spells his name. He's Caribou Bill to his friends.

He corraled that name up in Alaska, in the day when Alaska spelt adventure to restless souls. Bill hit up into that country before the gold rush brought a conglomerate crew in to dig for nuggets. For 15 years, he carried Uncle Sam's mail through the frozen vastness of separating villages and towns. In the summer he and another chap navigated a boat inland and traded with the natives for their winter crop of furs.

Blazed the Trail For Jack London

CARIBOU BILL knew 'em all. He was snapping his dog team from one town to another on one trip when he came across Jack London. He blazed the trail for London and they arrived in town as per mail schedule.

Cooper amassed a nice amount of money in Alaska and returned to this country behind his dog team. He had made a $10,000 wager to travel behind his dogs around the world in a certain time. He stopped at Seattle to headline in a world's fair then going on. He met Commodore J. Stuart Blackton. Blackton was part owner of the Vitagraph Company. He offered Cooper $250 a week to join with his outfit and make a series of Alaskan pictures.

Cooper turned the offer down. He was headed for that around-the-world jaunt. After the fair, he resumed his trip, only to learn further along the line that it was impossible for him to make the trek in the time he wagered he could. Quarantine regulations in various countries would hold him up two and three months at a time.

So he went to New York and signed with Vitagraph. Later, he settled in Saranac. It was in 1915 that Edmund Breese went there to film "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." Evelyn Brent was in the cast. It was her first picture. Bill took a liking to the youngster and every morning of her stay there he called for her at the hotel and rode her out to location behind his dog team.

Makes and Loses Small Fortune

THE two met several years later, when Miss Brent was in Spokane, Wash., making a picture, direction Larry Trimble, called "Fool's Gold." It was not until a coupla days ago that they met again. During the interim, Caribou Bill made a small fortune and lost it. He built an Alaskan village in Fort Henry, New York. He rented it to movie companies and corraled a neat sum.

The war broke and he enlisted. Being a crack electrician, he figured he'd get overseas pronto. But the government kept him in this country, sending him to Seattle to do something or other about the railroads. A few weeks after arriving, Bill was in a bad train wreck. He lost his left leg and that ended his service. His wife sold the Alaskan village and went to him in Seattle. It took him three years to recover from the infirmities sustained in the accident.

He's in Hollywood now. Maybe to stay. He has an invention that has to do with the take-off and landing of Zeppelins. The invention isn't marketed, but Caribou Bill has his plans ready. In the meantime he's a watchman at RKO and every morn, instead of calling at Evelyn Brent's dressing room to take her to work behind a dog sled, he just stands by the stage door, and it's:

"Good morning, Bill."

And "Good morning, Betty."

And Bill is happy to find another friend who hasn't gone high hat because she made a success of the motion picture racket.

A pioneer in stage presentations for motion picture theaters, Louis K. Sidney was highly successful in the Aldine, Pittsburgh. The success of the venture brought him prominence and he was successively called to introduce presentations in St. Louis, Washington, Columbus and other cities. Many Pittsburghers remember "Sid and His Gang" and the pioneering they did in introducing the modern stage here.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburgher To Marry In West

EARLY January always is a joyful season even though the hectic bowing of buds is over, for there are always a few weddings of marked importance before everyone leaves for the South.

Today I can tell you about a wedding that will take place Saturday in St. Louis. And the bridegroom is a Pittsburgh man, Bernard S. Horne, Jr., of Pittsburgh and Princeton, N. J., son of the Bernard S. Hornes, of Princeton. The bride, who was the guest of Elinor Munroe, daughter of the James D. Munroes, in the fall, is well known here. And she is Kathleen Sheldon, daughter of the Stephen Beaumont Sheldons, of St. Louis.

After their marriage Mr. Horne and his bride will make their home in Pittsburgh, and they will live in the Pennsylvania Apartments.

As you might have guessed, Elinor will be one of the bridesmaids.

NOW that the North is enjoying a few deceptively spring-like days, some folks are tarrying a bit longer than usual. By the latter part of the month, though, many houses will be closed and many of our society folks will be found in brilliant Palm Beach.

Miami Beach also attracts Pittsburgh men and women, many of whom plan to be there to attend the annual fancy dress ball at the Miami Beach Bath Club on February 20, when circus night will be featured. On Thursday evenings members of the Pittsburgh colony attend the weekly dinner-dances and play bridge there frequently.

And another event to attract Pittsburgh folks will be Miami's annual ball given under the direction of a committee of 100, one of the most exclusive of the resort's social organizations.

The F. G. Bannerots are at the Roney Plaza Hotel. Their son, Fred G. Bannerot, Jr., who was a member of the Yale golf team last year, will return next month to the Harvard Business School.

The E. J. Schellentragers will spend the season at the Fleetwood, and the Walter Bakers will arrive shortly at the beach, where they have leased a residence.

And the Michael L. Benedums are already at the beach, where they are stopping at the Roney Plaza Hotel. At the Roney are also Mrs. David I. McCahill and her daughters Marion and Marguerite, and the C. M. Budds.

Already there, stopping at the Flamingo, is James Holland Hammond. Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock will leave tonight for Miami. And I might add that the Hammonds' son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Edward A. Pitcairn, of Woodland road, will be their guests for 10 days.

AND did you know that the Eugene H. Kipps, of Lark Inn, Shields, entertained Saturday night with a dinner-dance in the Allegheny Country Club? And the event was in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Kipp, of the East End.

ON Thursday evening the J. Frederic Byerses entertained at a dance for the younger school set in the Allegheny Country Club. And the guest of honor was their young daughter, Nancy Lee Byers.

AMONG those who'll join the Palm Beach colony later are the James Barlow Cullums, who are in New York for a short time. They are also planning a visit to Havana.

And home from a 16-day tour of the West Indies are Mrs. G. M. Wood-Smith and her daughter, Jane Wood-Smith.

AND now from the New England states comes news of another marriage that will prove of interest to Pittsburgh society folks, that of Gladys Irene Duffy, daughter of the late George E. Duffys, of Worcester, Mass., and Frederic Cline Pew, Jr., son of the Frederic Cline Pews, of Uniontown, Pa., which was solemnized in the First Universalist Church, North Attleboro, Mass., on Friday. The Rev. Charles A. Harvey read the service. Gladys was given in marriage by her brother, Ralph E. Duffy, of Worcester.

Tall white tapers were placed on either side of the long aisle, and the altar was banked with evergreens and chrysanthemums, and lighted by candles.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Edwin Hunt Cummings, Jr., of North Attleboro, was matron of honor, and her other attendants were Mrs. Francis A. Smith, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Dudley Long Millikin, of Needham, Mass.; Mrs. Robert H. Henry, of Dayton, O., and Mrs. Ralph E. Duffy, of Worcester, sister-in-law of the bride. Ernest Miller, of Albany, N. Y., served as best man. The ushers were Edwin H. Cummings, Jr., of North Attleboro; James T. Soby, of Hartford, Conn.; Daniel L. Wilson, of New York, and John McLawry, of Ridgefield, Cann.

A large reception was held after the wedding in the Hotel Nixon, and then the junior Frederic Pews left for Bermuda. Upon their return they will make their home in Birmingham, Mich.

Mrs. Pew was graduated from Vassar College, and the bridegroom from Dearfield Academy and Williams College.

MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL FELTYBERGER, of Bartlett street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Sara Margaret Feltyberger, to George W. Goldsworthy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Goldsworthy, of Sheridan avenue, which took place Saturday in the Episcopal Church of the Reedemer.

The bride wore eggshell satin and veil of tulle. She carried calla lilies. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Gertrude Rightmyre, who wore nile green lace and carried lilies of the valley and roses. Her niece, Miss Babby Feltyberger, as junior bridesmaid, wore white satin and carried a bouquet like that of Mrs. Rightmyre.

Smith Davis Morton served as best man and the ushers were Hoyte Stevenson and Merritt Hewitt, of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldsworthy will return in February from Hawaii, where they sailed for a wedding trip, and will reside in the Wendover Apartments.

MR. AND MRS. C. R. ANDERSON, of Ben Avon, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gertrude Myrtle Anderson, to James Dicken Phillips, of Meyersdale, Pa., which took place on New Year's evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Ben Avon Methodist Episcopal Church, with the Rev. George Grant officiating and the Rev. Dr. S. W. Corcoran assisting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a chanel mode of white satin. Her long veil was arranged in cap effect edged with orange blossoms and pearls. She carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Nancy Hunter, of Ben Avon, as maid of honor, wore a gown of pale pink satin and carried pink roses. Miss Gladys Anderson, sister of the bride; Miss Margaret Arthur, Miss Helen Miller and Miss Elizabeth Ewing, all of Pittsburgh, were bridesmaids and wore Nile green satin and carried pink roses. Little Eleanore Jane and Barbara Anderson, nieces of the bride, were flower girls and wore pink chiffon. Hugh Robert Anderson, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer, and Robert Anderson, Jr., brother of the bride, and Potter Shaw, of Meyersdale, were ushers. John R. Phillips, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, wore green chiffon and a corsage of tea roses and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, and later Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left for a southern trip, after which they will make their home in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

INTERESTING DETAILS OF NEW STYLES IN HATS AND PYJAMAS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—Straws are already weaving the story of next season's hats. If one can judge by present indications, straw hats will be more popular than ever next year, especially the soft pliable linen and cellophane weaves. These can be gracefully draped and manipulated to form a pleasing frame to the face. Pleats, inside tuckings on the brim and other clever touches combine to give the new hats charm and distinction. The models shown just now are mostly of straw combined with felt or satin. Hats are trembling on the brink of the brim, and those that have taken the plunge use the brim in a variety of clever ways, concentrating much of the manipulation on both front and sides. Some stylists venture the prediction that the small brimmed hat will vie with the turban and the beret for sports and general wear, and now that the hat has crept off the forehead and down the nape of the neck, perhaps we shall see the return of the cloche. The revival of the brim certainly indicates a change of some sort in the shape of our headgear, and this must be apparent to those who do not take a professional interest in the trend of the mode.

EVERY house here, is displaying pajama ensembles in endless and fascinating variety. Sumptuous fabrics, ingenuous and sometimes daring color-combinations, cleverly cut silhouettes that retain the characteristics of the mode as it pertains to more formal clothes, these are some of the features that make pyjama choosing an interesting and delightful adventure. Every woman who longs for color can gratify that yearning by wearing a pyjama suit that runs the color scale from green to orange with a dash of red and a leaven of black to set off more vividly the brilliant hues.

THE pyjama suit from Worth that we show here is a trifle subdued as to coloring, and confines its originality to line. It is of printed velvet in a delicate shell pink with flowers and vines in pastel shades. The bodice has a jabot at one side and is sleeveless. The straight loose jacket has long sleeves drawn in at the wrist. It is the exceeding width of the circular cut pyjamas which marks this suit as so very distinctive. They are cut so wide as to look almost like a skirt and one is obliged to look twice to detect the trouser effect.

WE also show, two of the hats that have been designed for Southern and early spring wear. The first is a Germaine Page model. It is a wide brimmed hat of black bakou with insets, on top of the crown and under the brim, of pleated black satin. The brim is laid in a deep fold at each side toward the back. Marcelle Lely made the other hat, a cloche, of wine colored felt with matching bakou straw. The brim is folded back from the face in front and again in back from the nape of the neck, but considerable width is had at the sides.

CHAPTER L.

As the pebbles went scattering, someone jumped; someone yelled in alarm: "Don't shoot! Good God, don't shoot!" A man with hands raised bolted from the rocks. He advanced cautiously, disturbing the vast, sunny quiet with his hoarse, repeated appeal.

Guy remained in the cockpit, covering him with the pistol. At 100 paces he made out with shock and horror, the lithe form and dark, comely head. At 50 feet he could no longer deny the identification.

There went through him a hurricane, utterly wasting obliterating thought and hope. Of all the men on the face of the earth, Sheik Montgomery was the last with whom he would willingly have visioned Pat. An expert mechanic—one of the best in the plant—but a scoundrel whose scandalous amours furnished color for numberless smoking room tales and whose gambling and cheating had half a dozen times cost him his jobs. What 10 days with this profligate might have meant for Pat he dared not think.

"Good God! Elliott!"

"One move, Montgomery—it's your last. Stand where you are."

"Partridge."

"Where?"

"Down the cliff 300 feet on the ledge to the left of you. He's done. Leg broken—bone shooting through—turning black."

"Who else?"

"No one else."

"Where are the girl and the kid?"

"I don't know."

"Montgomery, the first lie is your last. I'm here to find her. She sent me a radio from that set right over there in the plane you stole. She was here Monday. Where is she now?"

"She jumped Monday. Over the cliff. Got a parachute, took the kid and jumped."

Said Guy, wiping an icy moisture from his forehead. "Go on. What happened after the jump?"

"It was late Monday afternoon—too near dark to follow. Tuesday morning we went down to get them. She ran into a cave. That's the last we saw of her."

"You didn't follow into that cave?"

"Yes, but we had no light. 'Slim' crashed down a drop—broke his leg. Had to drag him out. Spent yesterday looking for an easier way up here. This morning I drained oil from the engine, put it in a can, made a torch of cotton waste, looked for her. Searched two hours. She's not in the cave now."

"Did Partridge guard the mouth of that cave while you came back to get the light?"

"Yes."

"And neither she nor the boy came out?"

"No—but there may be some other exit, and she found it."

"Are you quite sure, Montgomery, that you didn't shove her down that drop where Partridge smashed?"

"My God! I never touched her!

"She knew we'd found a road out and were taking the kid. She didn't want that. And she thought we were going to leave her here—didn't know what we might do with her. She was afraid of Slim. So she jumped."

"From where?" Guy asked in bitter quiet.

Shiek pointed to the forbidding, overhanging rock.

Guy shuddered. Oh, the extremity to which they drove her if she dared that sickening plunge!

"Walk over to the ledge, Montgomery," he ordered grimly. "Keep your hands up and your back turned to this plane and to me. One sound, one step, I'll fire."

With his eyes on his prisoner and his gun ready, Guy stepped back to the cabin. He stuffed sandwiches, a small thermos of coffee, a flask of brandy and two flashlights in his pockets. He wound a coil of rope about his waist.

God, in that cave since yesterday morning! He was shaking from head to foot. He could have wept. He could have sent terrible, mad sobs flinging through the canyons.

Was Pat yet living? Would he reach her in time? Was it the truth Montgomery told?

He'd promised Laura Dawn to radio the moment he found a clue. Any clue at all, good or bad. But he dreaded keeping his promise. Suppose he came upon Pat's dead body? Suppose he never found her at all?

Laura would have to know. Sometime and somehow the mother must face it. Quickly, tempering the message as much as he dared, Guy sent the word. At least, the report would help other searchers. It would bring planes near when Pat should be taken from her harrowing prison; when she might, perhaps, most bitterly need aid.

Guy got out of the plane and with leveled pistol went toward his captive. The man's shoulders slumped and his knees gave in exhaustion. He was the picture of dejected collapse.

But the hands raised above his head merely wavered.

With the muzzle of the gun pressed to Ace's back, Guy drew two pistols from the fellow's pockets, dropped them into his own.

He asked coolly: "Has Partridge two guns?"

"He has none. One of these is his."

"Walk in front of me—to the edge here. Point out to me the direction down there of the cave. Where is it?"

Ace shot his arm out toward that rift where the chasm seemed to open and into which, Pat in her terror had run. "It's there—just under that purple cliff—the sheer one with the white base and the rose-colored ledge above it."

"Is this the shortest trail down?"

"My God, Elliott, you're not going to start down there now?"

"We're going to take a look at Partridge first—make sure he's helpless — then we're going down."

"You'll dash us both to death. It's after 4 . . . My God—we didn't start after her with these shadows possessing the damn place. It will be stone dark in another hour. We can't make it! We were three hours climbing up here."

"With a dead weight, you made it up in three hours . . . With a pistol at your back, you'll make it down in one."

"We'll never reach the floor alive. Wait till dawn. I'll take you there—Elliott, I'm dead. I've not slept for two nights . . . My feet won't go another step. Good God, I'm staggering now! You don't know what that trail is. Parachute jump is safer."

"But I know what 16 hours longer in a blind cave may be for the girl and the kid . . . Buck up, Montgomery. Because you're going—you're leading me there. Walk in front of me. Start down. Step there till I greet Partridge."

They started down. They heard Slim groaning. They got within five feet of him. Ace going ahead. Like a shield before Guy.

Then Slim sat up—drew himself to his elbow.

He presented a ghastly picture, half wound as he was in folds of silk, and his face sticking out, greenish in its pallor.

Ace had cut these folds from the parachute. Wherever this easier trail widened, he had dragged his companion upward on the improvised stretcher. A dozen times they had narrowly, miraculously escaped hurtling into the abyss. A dozen times Slim cried out: "Please, let me drop!"

Now, with the pain of his awful climb going like bayonets through his shattered limb, he chewed ferociously at his thin, livid mouth, and stared at Guy.

"God—it's you!"

"Throw up your hands, Partridge!"

Slim looked to Ace. He gave a crazy laugh.

"Ha—Elliott—hands p—like hell my hands go up! You damn sheik—you whimpering skirt chaser. Hands up!"

He pulled himself to th edge . . . he looked down and back . . . he sent out a sharp, reverberating curse and pitched himself over.

Late Wednesday afternoon Guy's message reached San Francisco. The evening papers got out extras. The whole story went flaming in the headlines.

Wednesday night a messenger called at the office of an evening paper. He brought a slip of paper.

This is what the editor read:

"Follow this messenger. He will lead you to the ransom Bryce placed in the flume. He will tell you what's happened to Billy Bryce and Patricia Dawn."

These Rich Husbands Not Model Struck, Observes Fay King

IF YOU LIKE THAT ONE TOO, WIFIE, GET IT!
IT MUST BE WONDERFUL TO BE MARRIED TO A MILLIONAIRE WHO BUYS YOU EVERYTHING YOU WANT!
IT MUST BE WONDERFUL TO MODEL ALL THOSE BEAUTIFUL GOWNS!
I WISH I HAD MORE TALENT AND LESS GOOD LOOKS!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

RICH husbands who accompany their comparatively plain wives on shopping tours are always supposed to be ogling the beautiful models.

But many models know this is not true. These husbands are only interested in their wives' selections, and the model thinks how wonderfully happy these plainer women must be to have such a rich and devoted husband.

The little package girl in the store thinks that being such a tall and stately beauty wearing such gorgeous gowns all day must be just the finest job a girl could get.

But no one is ever satisfied. The loveliest show girl often envies the plain star who has greater talent.

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

The Plotters Are Pleased With Progress of Their Scheme.

NOEL'S manner as he counseled the Princess Olina to control herself held the lofty kindness suitable for the use of a girl's grandfather. I knew that he could have offered nothing more infuriating to his royal fiancee who had just been worsted so decisively in her little passage of arms with Mary, and who was struggling so patiently to masted her rage.

She threw some word—not English—at him, a word so choked by rage that it was not intelligible. But if it were not "Canaille!" so much beloved—and abused—by the melodramatists, it was one which held all the implications of that historic expletive. Then as if the word had cleared her cosmos of explosive—and ego—her arrogance changed to contrition, and she looked at Noel's paling face affrightedly.

"Forgive me, Noel," she pleaded. "I am not myself. This has all been very upsetting."

"I know, dearest," he said bending over her tenderly. "Come out on the other balcony with me. Put on a wrap."

His manner was perfect, and I made the mental comment that Philip Veritzen was not the only member of his clan possessing histrionic talent. Although Princess Olina did not know it, Noel and she had a common ancester, a great-grandfather, and the young violinist, as well as the princess, counted the fierce pride of the Rapsburg family as his inheritance. The insulting word she had thrown at him had taken all his will-power to ignore, but there was no hint of anything save proprietary affection in his demeanor as he slipped an arm around her, regardless of our eyes upon them, and led her out of the long French windows to the outside balcony. He closed the windows behind him, and as he did so he looked over at me. It was not really a wink which he gave me, but there was the slightest tremor of left eyelid, and whimsical quirk of his lips which told me that he was carrying out the promise he had made me for the "pursuit of the princess."

Through the glass of the windows we saw them making their way toward the other balcony in front of the Underwood apartment. This was wider than the others and Lillian had placed two comfortable porch chairs and a reading table out there. It was quite the ideal spot for the soothing of anyone's nerves.

"Well!"

Harry Underwood's heavy drawing utterance of the word as Noel and the princess disappeared from sight released the tension with which he, Lillian and I had been following the actions—and reactions—of our tempestuous young folks, and we laughed with the rather dazed but hearty enjoyment of people who have just seen the curtain go down upon a farce which has much of serious drama within it.

"How are the vivisectionists?" Mr. Underwood put the query as soon as he stopped laughing, chuckled again as he saw me flush at his gibe. But his wife eyed him coolly.

"I would advise one of those advertised courses of how to be witty every minute," she said witheringly. "Or else a session with a Joe Miller joke book. You've used that one twice or thrice in twenty-four hours. Kindly solder the can with it inside."

He grinned his appreciation of her retort, but persisted in his query.

"I mean it," he said. "What did you two get out of watching the impaled butterflies? D'ye think the leaven is beginning to work?"

"It is with Olina," Lillian returned promptly. "She's coming out of the ether slowly but surely. I've always thought her infatuation for Noel was more than half subconscious jealousy of Mary's conquest of Prince Georges, although, of course she first fell for him when she heard him play at that night club. And now that Georges is so near the throne, her traditions, her ambition and her old affection for Georges—they were practically engaged once, I believe—are warring against her feeling for Noel.

"But Prince Georges—I don't know. Men are kittle cattle, and Mary is lovely enough to keep any man's head turned."

"She handed him a jolt today," Mr. Underwood commented. "It wouldn't have taken much about that time to switch his allegiance from the fresh American flapper to the perfectly poised princess. Did you pipe that alliteration, gals?"

"If you don't notice children's smartness," Lillian turned to me with a perfectly grave face—"sometimes they stop it." Then she grinned amicably at her husband, and answered his comment on Prince Georges.

"But the point is that despite the terrific jolt, which I grant you—we all saw it—despite Olina's interference. Mary was able to bring him back to heel immediately. And why should she want to, having staged the jolt purposely. I'll bet my last bone hairpin. Why? Madge, I ask you, Why?"

"Perhaps because of Olina's interference, instead of despite it." I returned, a bit dejectedly, for I had been disappointed at the final result of Mary's bit of comedy.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, January 7.

THE planetary configurations for this day must be interpreted as of a decidedly contradictory intervention in general affairs. While things will be extremely lively and there are some signs of financial advantage or profit, these are accompanied by omens of an obstructing and disappointing nature. It is possible that stubborn obstacles may arise, making postponements advisable, and there may be an abrupt visitation or unwelcome change of far-reaching disturbance. This may all react disagreeably on personal relations and interests, which should be wisely safeguarded.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a lively year, with some financial benefits, but generally affairs may be thwarted or deferred. Also there may be unwelcome and disagreeable changes quite unexpected and of far-reaching effects, especially on the personal relations which should be cherished.

A child born on this day will be clever, talented and ambitious in many lines, but may encounter many reverses and have to work hard against obstacles.

Prevents Tarnishing

During damp weather, smear a little vaseline over brassware after it has been polished. This prevents it from becoming tarnished.

Lemon Juice in Pastry

If a little lemon juice is added to the water used for mixing pastry it will make the pastry lighter and remove all taste of fat or lard.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

And That's Why We Love Them.

MANY a loving wife spends her whole life trying to understand a man's idiosyncrasies—and ends by being thankful if she can just MEMORIZE them.

She can read all the popular books on "behaviorism," and still be completely at sea about the Human Paradox whose grape fruit she fixes every morning and whose tonic she ladies out twice a day.

For instance, a man will talk for hours about his digestion, draw diagrams of his liver, give you an itemized account of his diet-list, and glowingly describe just how he felt when he had ptomaine poisoning; but he will be embarrassed to blushes when you mention his SOUL.

He will contribute to three orphan asylums, send Christmas gifts to two hundred employes, keep flowers on his mother-in-law's grave the year around—and then go about turning out the lights to save expense, complaining that the laundry bills are ruining him, and wondering why you can't wear lisle-top stockings.

He will buy nothing but antiques with a history, medieval tapestries and books with rare bindings—yet his very dearest possession may be a yellow hound of mixed and uncertain lineage and his taste in women may run to chorus ladies and hat-check girls.

He may vow that he likes his whisky straight and his women curved, and then spoil his wife's whole evening by going gaga over an animated bone whose earrings play tunes on her collar blades but whose green eyes have the Clara Bow lure.

He may marry a woman who is beautiful and accomplished, a brilliant wit, a skilled bridge player, the president of three clubs, and the most popular woman in town.

Yet, if an old college mate asks him what sort of a woman he married, all he can do in the way of describing the Paragon is to say that the way she cooks a waffle or broils a steak is NOBODY'S business!

He knows, almost without looking, every time his secretary changes the color of her stockings. But the wife of his bosom can change the shade of her hair several times a year and, if she's clever about it, he will never wake up to the fact until some sweet neighbor informs him that she's gradually going blonde.

He will let a woman censor his friends, his diet, his pleasures, his haircut, his tailor and his religion—and then suddenly lose his taste for her because she doesn't admire his singing or laugh at his jokes.

In short, a man is the soul of inconsistency and the world's greatest paradox. And no woman who takes up the study of one man in a serious way need ever join a query club for diversion. She can get all her surprises right at home!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Neglect Earaches; Complications Serious.

THIS is the season of infections or contagious diseases. In and of themselves they are not so bad. What makes them dangerous is their complications. There are many such.

For instance, it is not at all uncommon to have one of these fevers produce inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose. This may not amount to much, but sometimes it creeps up the tube from the nose to the ear. Then there may be violent inflammation in that organ. Even though the attack of fever has been very mild and the little patient hardly sick at all, there may be serious trouble in the ear. In every fever in a young child the parents should be on the lookout for this complication and report it to the doctor as early as possible. It is because I feel strongly about the dangers of neglect of this sort that I speak so often about the ear.

DR. COPELAND

After an attack of fever the child may appear to be almost or quite himself. He seems well on the way to complete recovery. But all at once he becomes irritable and the fever returns. Extreme restlessness is noticed. Occasionally the child cries out suddenly, or may have a long spell of crying.

When there are paroxysms of crying with no apparent cause in a child who has not been sick, do not fail to examine the ear. All to often that is the seat of the trouble.

Earache is bad enough in an adult. If you ever had it you have an idea how terrible it is. It seems as if a red-hot spike were being driven into the brain.

There is no wonder that a little child with this complication will suffer greatly. You can well understand why he cries out in agony.

Measles is one of the diseases which has earache as a symptom. Scarlet-fever is another. Influenza may have ear trouble as one of its many serious complications.

Have you ever thought how near the ear is to the brain? Back of the ear and opening into the middle ear are the honey-comb-like cavities in the bone. There spaces, known as the "mastoid cells," are very near to the inner surface of the bone. Resting on this table of bone is the brain substance, separated by a layer of bone sometimes no thicker than paper.

If the nose and ear contain fluid teeming with pus-producing germs we have all the makings for serious trouble. The germs creep into the cells I have mentioned. Pus forms so rapidly that it cannot drain away. In such a case the bony wall may be broken down and the brain itself become bathed in pus.

Bear in mind that you must not neglect baby's running ear, or for that matter, anybody's running ear. The ear is so close to the brain that acute inflammation here demands the most careful attention. All ear symptoms should be referred to your family doctor. He will advise as to what should be done.

Earache is such a common thing among children that we are apt to grow careless about it. It is unwise to disregard the warning. In every instance, give it the attention it deserves. This is important, not only to get rid of a painful attack, but also to make sure there is no neglect that may prepare the way for deafness.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Engraved Visiting Cards

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have had some cards printed. On these I have my name, address and telephone number. I have been told that this is incorrect, that a young girl of twenty-one should only have her name on the card.

THANK YOU.

IT IS incorrect for anyone to have a printed visiting card. It is far better to have none at all if you cannot have them engraved. And after all it is a very small cost to have them engraved, and you can use the plate over and over again—until you change your name, in fact!

And it is not correct to have a telephone number on your visiting card. The card may carry either only your name—with Miss before the name, and no abbreviations, or your name and your address. The address is placed in the lower right corner, and it should be lettered in letters of the same style as those used in the name but smaller.

The Bride's Signature

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Suppose that my name is Katherine Esterbrook and that I marry a man named Williams. How shall I sign my name in thanking people, especially those I do not know, for wedding presents? Shall I sign Katherine Esterbrook Williams, or Katherine Williams?

READER.

IF the wedding presents are received before you are married, you of course sign your maiden name. And all wedding presents received before the wedding should be thanked for before the wedding. But if the presents are received after thank-you notes with either form. The more usual form is Katherine Esterbrook Williams, for this form registers both names of the maiden name, and the last name of the married name.

The Father's Privilege

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have been going with a certain young lady for two years, and love her very much. We have had a talk together and she has promised to become my wife. She is having a party at her home on my birthday and we want to announce our engagement then. Who should do the announcing—should I, or her parents? I thought it would be my place to announce it. ALLAN.

NO, it is not your place to make this announcement. This is the charming privilege of her family, and her father is the one to make the announcement at the party. They would, I am sure, be very much confused and hurt if you insisted on making this announcement, for you would be taking from them one of the dearest honors that parents are given. Let them have all the joy of telling their friends that their daughter has pledged her heart.

Yes, you should talk very seriously, with the girl's father and mother before the engagement is announced. And this is done nowadays, Allan, by men of discrimination and fine feeling, men who know what's what, and who respect the feelings of the parents who are to become so close to them.

Intuitive Mothers

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please settle an argument? Isn't it only proper to answer the letter of a boy who has just recently left the city? My mother does not approve of the boy and thinks I should not answer the letter. I think it is only polite to answer his letter. Please give me your opinion. MISS L.

I AM so sure that your mother's judgment is sound and right about this, that, of course, I agree with her. Mothers have a way of being intuitive about this sort of thing.

Whitney Deal Denied.
McGraw's Infield Plan.
Would Shift Lindstrom.

MANY STAR PLAYERS HELD BY BAKER

FOR SEVERAL days a story has been going the baseball rounds to the effect that, instead of dickering for Second Baseman Fresco Thompson, of the Phillies, as previously reported, John McGraw is trying to swing a deal with the same club for Third Baseman Arthur Whitney. A move of that sort on the part of the Giant manager would appear to most fans as being decidedly improbable, in view of the fact that New York already has a pretty fair third sacker in the person of Freddie Lindstrom, the best in the country, in fact, with the solitary exception of Pie Traynor.

Arthur Whitney.

But the explanation is offered that if McGraw finds it possible to obtain Whitney, the acquisition of the capable young Quaker will be followed by an infield shift. The Giants present a gaping hole at second base that must be plugged, and the plan is to put Whitney on third and move Lindstrom over to the midway. Freddie is not a stranger to the keystone sack, as he played 147 games there for Toledo in 1923, his last year in the minors.

IT IS SAID to be McGraw's belief that Lindstrom could adapt himself to the new position quickly, and that with Terry at first, Jackson at short and Whitney at third he would be able to make a strong bid for the 1930 National League pennant. However, if the New York manager is seriously building any plans of that sort, they are doomed to be upset, according to President William F. Baker, of the Phillies.

Of course, there isn't a doubt that McGraw, like any other pilot in the majors, would give a pretty penny to land a player of Whitney's caliber. The youngster has proved himself to be the goods, ever since he broke into fast company, being not only a fine fielder but a strong and steady hitter. He didn't miss a game last season and wound up with a batting average of .327, being one of only 12 men in the league to make 200 hits.

BUT if Baker sticks to his avowed intentions, there will be no chance for the Giants or any other club to get Whitney. "Manager Shotton will do all the trading for the Phillies, and I am sure he has no notion of breaking up the infield which went so nicely last season," he says.

"When we got Hurst, Thompson, Thevenow and Whitney working together, we found that at last we had a real inner defense. How foolish it would be for us to break up our combination, even though we need pitchers. I don't believe McGraw has any such idea. At any rate, we haven't heard from him."

John J. McGraw.

ALL of which sounds well enough, but where Baker is concerned such statements fall some distance short of being convincing. He has made similar promises before, but always he was found to be the most willing magnate in the majors to listen to the clink of the old dollar. He has sold enough star ball players to win a string of pennants since he gained control of the Phils in 1913. Look 'em over: Grover Alexander, Bill Killefer, Dave Bancroft, Jimmy Wilson, Milton Stock, Lee Meadows, Irish Meusel, Eppa Rixey, George Whitted, Johnny Rawlings, Casey Stengel, Fred Leach, Butch Henline, Jimmy Ring, Hal Carlson, Sherwood Magee, Charley Dooin, Dode Paskert, Erskine Mayer, Curt Walker and George Harper.

AND that's not mentioning such others as Lance Richbourg, Wilbur Hubbell, Horace Ford, Tony Kaufman, Wayland Dean, Walter Holke, Elmer Jacobs, Joe Oeschger, Russell Wrightstone, Jack Bentley and more. Not all of them panned out well for their buyers, but Baker was willing to run the risk that they would.

Sometimes the transfers were made in the guise of trades, but even in those cases there generally was a healthy money consideration on the side. Only last week an airing of Giant affairs in the courts disclosed that in 1920 Baker received $95,000 in addition to Art Fletcher and Wilbur Hubbell for Bancroft. Perhaps he will change his mind about Whitney or Thompson if the price offered is large enough.

THE A. A. U. ban, which kept Stanislaw Petkiewicz, crack Polish runner, out of the big meet in New York last Saturday night, and which will continue to bar him from amateur tracks in this country unless the organization chiefs do a right-about-face, brought considerable disappointment to track-sport devotees.

Stanislaw Petkiewicz.

For Petkiewicz, among other feats, scored a victory over Paavo Nurmi in Europe, and it would be interesting to see a man good enough to beat the famous Finn tested against the best American runners of today.

POLAND'S star has been barred because it is charged that persons prominent in American athletics who had a hand in inducing him to come here arranged to have him appear only in certain meets or for certain clubs. No fault can be found with the governing body in enforcing the amateur rules, of course, but in justice it would seem that, if there were any irregularities in the coming of Petkiewicz to this country, those responsible for such irregularities ought to be named and penalized as well as the runner himself.

JACK DOUGHERTY, one of the old-timers of the fight game, who managed Matty Matthews when the latter was at his best, declares that the best hitters of the present day are not to be compared with the punchers of his era. "Take Joe Walcott, for instance," he remarked to Ned Brown. "Can Jimmy McLarnin or Ruby Goldstein hit like Joe? Would either be able to knock out a heavyweight?

"I don't mean one of these big palookas of today, but a fellow like Joe Choynski. "Well, Walcott accomplished that feat. And he weighed only 145 pounds at most. He easily made the old welterweight limit of 142, ringside, when he was knocking heavyweights from under their ears.

"AND then there was my man, Matty Matthews. Boy, could he fight? I ask you now, what would Matty do to McLarnin or Goldstein? Yeah, you can tell the world what he' do to 'em. Clever and a hitter.

"Besides, there were Tommy Ryan, Mysterious Billy Smith, Tommy West and Rube Ferns. Say, Rube could hit so hard he'd

Herford, Joe Gans' Manager, Dies at 63

BALTIMORE, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Abraham L. (Al) Herford, discoverer and manager of Joe Gans, famous Negro lightweight boxing champion of the world at one time, died at his home here yesterday, after an illness of more than a year. He was 63 years old.

Herford discovered Gans, a fish cleaner in a Fleet street market near his sporting club, and trained the Negro and managed him until he won the title from Frank Erne in less than one round at the International Athletic Club at Fort Erie, Canada, May 12, 1902.

Herford, with his brother, organized the Eureka Athletic Club in Baltimore and, with Gans as his star attraction, brought many greats of the boxing ring of that day to Baltimore.

Herford is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Ray Katz, of Newark, N. J.

OFFICIALS CUT DAY OFF OF TRIP HOME

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

EN ROUTE ACROSS NEW MEXICO WITH PITT SQUAD, Jan. 6.—Pittsburgh's football party, which resembles a cortege more than a band of traveling collegiate athletes, is rolling somberly across New Mexico today recalling with pleasure the visit yesterday to the Grand Canyon and looking forward with a bit less glee to the return home Wednesday evening.

The Panthers spent a very pleasant day in the big ditch, most of the party, in fact, all of the athletes, and the majority of the, accompanying tourists mounted burros and descended into the depths of nature's yawning chasm. As a result the boys are walking a bit bow-legged through the cars today.

Mantel pieces in the Fred Harvey eating houses along the route are being cleared off and extended to care for the uncomfortable gridiron warriors, who show but little inclination to do much sitting around.

GRIDDERS SORE

More or less resentment has crept into the ranks over the cutting out of the trip to the Indian Reservation at Albuquerque. The Pitt officials announced that it was done so as to get the boys back to their classes a day earlier.

The answer to that it—Oh, hum!

Whether that is the appalling effect of the licking received New Year's in the Rose Bowl, or the aloof attitude of the university officials, meaning those who are making the return trip, is difficult to tell. But, nevertheless, all is not beer and skittles with the touring athletes.

Even the antics of the irrepressible Franklin Hood and Farmer Josh Williams have failed to put the pep in the party that is usually evident on a Pitt football squad. The boys naturally are downcast over their defeat, but youth will rally from the worst of setbacks if given the least bit of encouragement.

Paul Peecook, of the Pennsy, and Whit Owen, of the Santa Fe, have done their level best to shake off the overhanging blues, but one still is tempted to go stalking through the cars looking for the coffin and cocking an eye for the soft music.

HARRISON ON COAST

The Panthers looked like a flock of section hands yesterday as they donned their blue overalls and red sweaters, the outfit worn while riding an Arizona burro down the twisting canyon trail. What a laugh Barnes and Quatsie gave the early risers.

Athletic Director W. Don Harrison remained on the Coast for a more or less indefinite stay, and his assistant, Jimmy Hagan, went back home the night of the game. Dr. Sutherland, Trainer Bud Moore, Student Manager Joe Bower and Don Saunders, the publicity agent, are in charge of the trip home.

Breakfast today was served at Gallup; luncheon is billed for Albuquerque, and the evening meal is scheduled to be taken aboard at Las Vegas. Tomorrow Dodge City and Kansas City will be visited, and on Wednesday we gain Chicago, and then the fast mail and a quick trip home. Time of arrival is set for 8:35 Wednesday evening.

ELIZABETH RYAN WINS

CANNES, France, Jan. 6.—Elizabeth Ryan of California won the Metropole tennis cup final in the women's singles yesterday by beating Mrs. Satterwhite of England, 6-0, 2-5. The match was abandoned in Miss Ryan's favor because of a dispute between the umpires. Miss Ryan and her partner, Rogers, won the mixed doubles by beating Madame Jung and Aeschliman, 8-6, 6-2.

THREE PANTHER BANQUETS PLANNED

A prophet may be without honor in his own country, but a defeated football team of great merit is not without friends in its own district, especially if that neighborhood be Oakland.

The Oakland Board of Trade announces a big testimonial in honor of the University of Pittsburgh football team. In so doing the members of this civic body point out that it is very easy to string along with a "front runner" while better traits are reflected in standing by in case of bleak defeat.

So the Panthers will hear their praises sung in Oakland, the date to be next Monday night, the Schenley Hotel to be the scene of the festive doings.

TWO OTHER FETES

Two other big banquets have been arranged for local grid stars. On Tuesday of next week, Octavius (Toby) Uansa, Panther halfback, and two other athletes who achieved some renown after leaving McKees Rocks High School, will be feted by the Sto-Rox Athletic Testimonial Association at the Chartiers Heights Country Club. Charley Wynoski, of the Duquesne U. squad, and Frank Rogzer, minor leaguer, are to be the other honor guests.

Pittsburgh City Council and the Chamber of Commerce will be at the entertainment helm Thursday of next week when the third annual banquet for Pittsburgh football champions will be staged at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Pitt won the city and Eastern grid titles and Schenley High won the city scholastic championship.

The Rev. C. Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be toastmaster of the Oakland banquet. The principal talk of the evening will be delivered by the Rev. Father James M. Delaney, of St. Agnes' Roman Catholic Church.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade, Alderman C. B. Quailey, of Oakland, one of the Panthers of 20 years ago, was named as chairman of the committee of arrangements. Raymond J. Leahy is the secretary and O. C. Young treasurer.

EXPECT BIG CROWD

Although the Oakland folks realize they have only one week in which to put over their big reception, they are convinced that they will have upwards of 1,000 boosters out to welcome the team in this manner.

The program committee is working on other famous speakers, the press to give out the additional information this week.

It is planned to decorate the banquet hall in a manner appropriate for a football occasion. Oakland folks feel that the Panthers have been a big success and they refuse to allow them to return to Oakland without showing them some form of appreciation.

The trade organization appointed the following reception committee: W. G. Negley, Gen. A. J. Logan Howard Neely, Senator James J. Coyne, William H. Stevenson, Councilman M. J. Muldowney, Edward Hardy and Alderman Quailey.

Lindberghs Arrive At Canyon In Water Cart

By Staff Correspondent.

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Jan. 6.—Col. Charles Lindbergh and his charming wife have gone on the water wagon. No one ever said they were off, but when they put in a surprise appearance at the El Tovar Hotel here yesterday they came in riding one of the hotel water carts which carried them from the nearest air fields, some 19 miles distant. The Colonel and his wife and the driver of the cart were crowded into the front seat of the cart and made the long, dusty trip in that manner. The Lone Eagle and his mate arrived here about the same time as the Pitt football team. The Lindberghs did not mingle with the guests at the hotel, but remained in their rooms, even for meals.

CHAMP MEETS DEVITO

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Gus Sonnenberg, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, and Joe Devito, of St. Louis, will meet in the main event of the Chicago Coliseum tonight. Joe Stecher, Wladek Zbyszko, Marin Plestina and Pat McGill also will appear on the card.

BAKER, TRIPPE IN GARDEN GO TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

With the Christmas holidays behind us, the boxing game in the Pittsburgh district goes back to its regular schedule this week, which is to say that Motor Square Garden goes into action again on Monday nights, following two mid-week matinees, and the other clubs also will fill their usual dates.

To start the ball rolling, two good shows are listed for tonight, the Sergt. Sammy Baker-Joe Trippe card at Motor Square Garden and a program headed by Maxie Strub and Ray Van Hook at Junction Park, New Brighton. The A. M. A. junior championship tournament at McKeesport Wednesday and Thursday nights knocks the McKeesport club out of its regular night next Thursday, but Ike McFowler and Bud Gorman are billed there the following Thursday night. On Friday night Promoter Francis Flynn stages his final show at the Moose Temple, with Harry Williams and George Panka, heavyweights, rematched for the main bout, before moving his headquarters to the Columbus Temple.

BOTH SEEK KNOCKOUT

Both Baker and Trippe arrived in town yesterday for their battle tonight and each is confident of turning in a knockout victory. Trippe regards this bout as a stepping stone to national recognition, which he undoubtedly will receive in the event he is able to stow away the doughty former attache of the Mitchell Flying Field. With Baker, it's just another fight, with a hard puncher to dispose of. The fact that Baker is a "big name" in the ring, coupled with the added fact that Trippe has won a place in the hearts of the fans around here with his clean-cut victories in three bouts in McKeesport, has stirred up interest to such an extent that the best gate of the season at the East End arena is in prospect.

SHIRES' CASE PROBE TODAY

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. — (AP.) — Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires, Chicago White Sox first baseman, who recently essayed the role of a pugilist, faces the possibility of ostracism by organized boxing.

Not only is Charles Arthur in danger of forever being barred by the Illinois Commission and the 31 other states holding membership in the National Boxing Association, but his manager, Nessie Blumenthal; Promoter Jim Mullen, Dangerous Dan Daly, of Cleveland, and the latter's manager, were in a like predicament.

PROBE ON TODAY

Just while Shires was endeavoring to extricate himself from charges that his manager had asked a Detroit opponent to "take a dive" from him last week, which resulted in Shires being suspended by the Michigan State Boxing Commission, and the National Boxing Association, Jim Gerry, alias James Gary, alias Dangerous Dan Daly, of Cleveland, Shires' first opponent as a professional heavyweight boxer, was reported to have told in detail, how he had

DUKES BATTLE WAYNESBURG TONIGHT

Local college basketball teams face a full week of activity, beginning tonight, when the undefeated Pitt Panthers oppose Montana State College in the Stadium pavilion, and Duquesne University battles Waynesburg College at Waynesburg.

PITT, TECH MEET

On Wednesday night, Pitt and Tech clash for the first time this season, in the Tech gym, while on Saturday night, a three local quintets will be in action, Pitt playing Georgetown University at the Stadium, Tech meeting Penn State College at State College and the Dukes battling John Carroll University at Cleveland.

The Panthers appear to be in for another tough session tonight on the heels of their overtime victory over Ohio State last Tuesday and their 34-27 triumph over the husky Nebraska Cornhuskers Saturday night.

MONTANA STRONG

In meeting Montana State, they will be facing one of the best college fives in the country. The Montana team, with much the same lineup, defeated the Cook five of Kansas City, National A. A. U. champions, in two out of three games last season.

The Yellow Jackets, of Waynesburg, promise to give the Dukes plenty of opposition in their tussle tonight. The probable lineups for tonight's games:

Pitt.		Montana.
Hyatt (C)	F	(C) Ashworth
Zehfuss	F	O. Ward
L. Cohen	G	F. Ward
Arture	G	Worthington
W. Kowallis	G	Wendt

RIVALRY INTENSE

WAYNESBURG, Jan. 6.—An early climax to the Greene County basketball season will be reached here this evening, when the Waynesburg College and Duquesne University quintets meet in a tri-state conference clash at the Armory gymnasium.

To the majority of Waynesburg rooters, the game is the most important of the year, due to the intense rivalry which exists between the Yellow Jackets and Dukes. Although strong rivals in all branches of sport, basketball brings out the partisanship of followers of the two institutions to the utmost.

Coach Frank Wolf, of Waynesburg, will be compelled to send a green and, for the most part, inexperienced team against Coach Chick Davies' veteran Dukes. At forwards, Wolf likely will use Irish O'Connell and Avery, both freshmen, while either Smith or Ullom will get the call at center, with Captain White and either Hathaway or Ufema at guards. Both of the latter men are comparatively inexperienced, Ufema being a freshman.

SARAZEN COPS MIAMI OPEN

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen won his fourth Miami open golf tournament crown here yesterday with a 300 for the 72 holes. Phil Leach, of Overbrook, Pa., had 301 for second and Cyril Walker, of Saddle River, N. J., a 302 for third place.

Sarazen won the tournament after placing well behind the leaders Saturday with 155 for the initial 36 holes. In his final 36 holes, at the Miami Country Club, Gene scored three eagles and four birdies.

ARMY GRIDDERS PICK ALL-OPPONENT TEAM

CARDS, IRISH CARRY OFF HONORS

By CAPT. BIFF JONES
Head Coach Army Football Squad

The Army team has just completed one of its hardest schedules in its football history. Major teams from many different and widely scattered sections were met in competition at home and away.

Consequently the Army players have encountered many of the best football players in the college world today. Just as a matter of interest we decided to select an all-star 1929 rival team made up from the consensus of the players. While a coach naturally has to size up the players of the opposing teams as well as his own men, and has his own viewpoint, nevertheless it would be interesting to know how the men rank the players against whom they have played.

EACH PICKS THREE

Therefore, on our way back after the Stanford game, we took a vote from among a number of the Army squad. Each picked three teams from among their opponents, arranging them on a separate first, second and third team. I have taken these selections and weighed a man on each first selection, three points; second selection, 2 points, and third selection, one point.

The results are very interesting. Carideo, of Notre Dame, the almost universal choice on the All-America teams, was given a heavy vote as the best quarterback. Chuck Smalling, the Stanford fullback, seems to have made the biggest impression both figuratively and literally. He received the greatest number of points, 52. His nearest competitors for high individual score were Jack Cannon, guard, of Notre Dame, and Albie Booth, back, of Yale.

In naming their 33 selections, the Cadets picked nine from Stanford, six from both Notre Dame and Illinois, five from Yale, four from Harvard and three from Ohio Wesleyan, a comparatively little known college.

The first-string rival lineup shows four Stanford men, Smalling, Moffatt, Driscoll and Capt. Muller. There are three Notre Dame men, two Yale men and one each from Harvard and Illinois.

On the point-scoring system outlined above, three for a first, two for a second and one for a third, Stanford got a total of 249 out of a total of 835. Notre Dame got 172 and Illinois 136. Yale got 130 and Harvard 91.

Muller, 32 points; Wolgast, 28; Barres, 19. At right end the Cadets considered Muller the best end they have faced this year. On the offense a great pass receiver and a tough one to gain against when on the defense.

INSPIRING LEADER

This boy, captain of Stanford, has been an inspiring leader of his team. Wolgast, of Illinois, and Barres, of Yale, are runners-up.

Twomey, 30; Tandy, 29; Vincent, 15. Twomey, of Notre Dame, got the call by a narrow margin over Tandy, of Stanford, and Vincent, of Yale. Twomey, a giant, standing over 6 feet, was remarkable in his ability to slide in and out along the defensive line, covering much more than the usual amount of territory.

Cannon, 42; Greene, 26; Crane, 25. It is a compliment to Jack Cannon, of Notre Dame, that he wins over two such high-class men as Firpo Greene, of Yale, and Capt. Crane, of Illinois. Cannon has roamed around in the other team's backfield all season. He is as fast in the charge as any we have run into this year.

TICKNOR STANDS OUT

Ticknor, 27; Blair, 30; Kawal, 13. The center position has developed into one of the hardest positions to play, and there are few really high-grade performers today. Ben Ticknor, of Harvard, this year was not only an accurate passer, but had a knack of being in the right place at the right time when on the defense. Blair, of Ohio Wesleyan, and Kawal, of Illinois, were other good centers.

Driscoll, 31; Wietz, 18; Law, 10. Driscoll was a Stanford sub last year, but blossomed into a real guard this year. The Stanford offense requires fast, clever running by the guards to make it go. Driscoll can do this trick. Wietz was a strong defensive guard, while Capt. Johnny Law, of Notre Dame, shone in the offense.

Gordon, 34; Barrett, 18; Thompson, 16. Gordon, of Illinois, was quite a bit ahead of the others at left tackle. He used his 215 pounds to crash straight ahead, piling up the interference instead of playing the sliding game such as Twomey liked. Barrett, of Harvard, and Thompson, of Stanford, did notable work against Army.

Hickok, 29; Ogden, 16; Neil, 12. The defensive left end usually gets most of the trouble. Hickok, of Yale; Ogden, of Harvard, and Neil, of Stanford, are all good ends., but Hickok gets the call. Hickok was big enough to do a good job in moving the tackle out of the play, giving Booth a chance to get away.

Carideo, 39; Putnam, 20; Wertz, 16. The best quarterback for all-round play was unquestionably Carideo, of Notre Dame. As cool as a cucumber and as smart as a whip, he was in large part responsible for Notre Dame's great season. This boy was also a good passer and punter.

Moffat, 28; Yanuskus, 18; Franz, 11. At right half the Cadets like Moffat, of Stanford; Yanuskus, of Illinois, and Franz, of Ohio Wesleyan. All of them are fast and shifty, Moffatt more so than the rest. He has as fine a deceptive hip action as any seen this year. A beautiful pass receiver also.

BOOTH CHOSEN

Booth, 41; Rothert, 32; Elder, 30. At the other half, Albie Booth, of Yale, had a little the better of it against Rothert, of Stanford, and Jack Elder, of Notre Dame. Any one who has ever seen Booth move through a broken field will long remember it. He has a dainty mincing step that can break into long bounding stride with great suddenness. He is quite small, but at that is one of the best kickers we saw this year. He can punt and drop kick.

Smalling, 52; Savoldi, 21; Fleishhacker, 17. As a driving fullback, "Chuck" Smalling is not only the class of this year, but the best we have seen for a long time. Savoldi, of Notre Dame, and Herb Fleishhacker are both big boys but even they lacked the terrific, punishing drive of Smalling's 195 pounds. He was tireless. He can also take his turn at passing and kicking.

JOE KIRKWOOD, DUTRA WIN

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Ploughing through 36 holes of almost impossible golf, of which the morning round was played in a downpour of rain, Olin Dutra, of Santa Monica, Cal., and Joe Kirkwood, Philadelphia trick shot artist, yesterday shared the winning of the fifth annual $3,500 Long Beach open golf tournament. Their scores were 216 each for the 54 holes of medal play.

Clarence Clark, of Tulsa, Okla., was third, with a total of 218, and Henry Cuici, of Bridgeport, Conn., had 219 for fourth place. John Rogers, of Denver, Col., former Pittsburgh pro, was fifth with a total of 220.

Kirkwood finished with a strong afternoon 18 holes, which saw him set the dazzling pace of 70, two under par, on the soggy, water-soaked course, after a disastrous 78 in the morning. He had qualified with a 68.

Failure Of Pitt Timing Seen As Cause For Crushing Defeat

TROJANS BREAK UP FAMOUS DOUBLE PASS OF PANTHERS

In the maze of opinions as to just what was the matter with the Pitt Panthers when they went down to a 47-14 defeat before the Southern California Trojans in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal., New Year's Day, the one that stands out as the most plausible is that the locals' timing of plays was off sufficiently to prevent them from clicking. Above, for instance, is one of the Panthers' best bets, a double pass play, with Fullback Parkinson feeding the ball to Halfback Walinchus for a dash off left tackle. It is about to be smothered by the fast-charging Trojans.

Parkinson has got the ball off safely and the Pitt interference may be seen forming, but just a fraction of a second too slowly to prevent the defensive team from stopping the ball-carrier before he can make any headway worth while. On the triple passes, the other halfback, which in this case would be Uansa, takes the ball from the first halfback after the latter receives it from Parkinson, who does all of the feeding of the ball from the center to the other backs.

In the play pictured, Uansa is running wide as a decoy, having already passed Walinchus. Baker, behind Uansa, is starting off to lead the interference. With the guards coming out of the line to run interference, perfect timing is absolutely essential for the success of the Pitt plays, and it is quite possible that the Panthers' long layoff before the game dulled their edge in this department.

LAYTON SETS TWO RECORDS

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Johnny Layton, of St. Louis, defending his national three-cushion billards championship, hung up two new world tournament records last night in defeating Charles Jordan, of Los Angeles, 50 to 22 in 23 innings. The number of innings was the fewest ever required in championship play and Layton's average of 2.4-23 also established a new record.

The two new marks, however, failed to exceed the sensational game of Otto Reiselt of 1925 when he ran out the block of 50 in 16 innings against Augie Kieckhefer in a National Billiard League contest.

BRILLIANT PLAYING

The new records followed the brilliant performances of Allan Hall and Augie Kieckhefer, who set new marks for the current tourney in succeeding games yesterday. Hall ran out against Tiff Denton in 38 innings, while Kieckhefer disposed of Gus Copulos, in 33 innings.

The champion warmed up slowly, having collected only seven billiards at the end of the eighth inning. But in the ninth he clicked off eight and followed with five more in the tenth to give him a lead of 20 to 6. From then on it was just a procession of clusters of two, three and five until he ran out with a run of eight.

The score by innings of the Layton-Jordan match:

Layton—1 0 2 0 3 0 0 1 8 5 1 2 0 (8) 2 5 (8) 3 1 2 0 0 5 1 8—Total 50.
Jordan—2 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 2 0 0 (8) 0 3 (8) 0 1 2 2 7 1 0 0—Total 22.
Note: (8) denotes scratches.

Reiselt won his third game by defeating Harry Schuler, of New York, 50 to 36, in 49 innings. Hall tripped Denton, 50 to 24.

COPULOS LOSES

Augie Kieckhefer, southpaw veteran, defeated Gus Copulos, of Detroit, 50 to 16 in 33 innings. Kieckhefer scored in every inning except 12.

Hall apparently has easy sailing today, meeting Schuler, who has dropped three contests. Copulos encounters Jordan, Reiselt battles Denton and Layton takes on Kieckhefer.

Long's Sport Comment

make Goldstein's or McLarnin's wallop feel like a comforting, soothing pat after one of his own.

"I AM willing to admit that McLarnin and Goldstein can hit harder than the other boys in their class, but that doesn't make them real hitters in my judgment. Everything is relative, and they're regarded as extraordinary hitters nowadays because the younger fans and critics never saw real punchers in the welterweight class. Time was when the welters were the hardest of hitters. To come to even a later period, Willie Lewis, Stanley Ketchel, who really was nothing more than a welter, even Mike Gibbons and the Dixie Kid could hit harder than these fellows of today. Didn't Ketch knock out Philadelphia Jack O'Brien? And do you think that McLarnin or Goldstein could turn that trick on old Jack, even today? Don't make me laugh."

Eddie Shore.

TWO reasons why the Boston Bruins have been the most successful club in either division of the National Hockey League this season and are being picked to win the Stanley Cup again are very clear. One is that in Weiland, Gainor and Clapper the team has three of the league's leading six scorers, and the other is that Eddie Shore and Lionel Hitchman it has the best pair of defense men in either group.

Now comes Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, to point out a third reason. It is the matter of physical fitness. "Condition tells in all sports, and particularly in a game as vigorous as hockey," he says. "The Bruins got out in front because they were in better condition than any of their rivals. They were in their stride in the very first game, and it isn't going to be easy to knock them down now. But give them credit. They were fit when the rest of us were just getting ready."

GOB SPEAKS HIS MIND

By LARRY SMITS
International News Service.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6.—(INS.)—The tanned residents of this city, usually very attentive to what the wild waves are saying, have no ear for such trifles today.

Jack Sharkey has arrived.

Accompanied by Mrs. Sharkey and their two children, America's heavyweight champion rolled into Miami last night, the old vocal chords hitting on their accustomed six. With the red caps still hanging around for their tips, Jack launched into his first oration.

"Give me an opponent and I'll fight," he declared. "But I don't want Madison Square Garden to feed me anyone like Tuffy Griffiths. There's a fight, my boy, that wouldn't draw its breath. People would get the idea that I was touring the country in search of set-ups."

He came up for air and continued:

WANTS WORTHY FOE

"I don't want another like last year. Stribling is a good fighter, but his style made me fight a bad-appearing fight. I don't want another like that any more than the fans do.

"I don't know how the fight stands now. Before I left Boston it was off and on three times in three hours. When I left it was off, but when I got to Richmond it was on again, according to a Richmond paper."

In his full vocal stride now, the terrible Sharkey man seemed to need no air.

"This is a vacation trip for me and the family. I'm going to do the things I didn't do when I was training last year, play some golf at Bay Shore and swim and loaf in the sunshine."

OFF "ELIMINATIONS"

Jack said on a percentage basis with the Garden, as his contract called for, a Tuffy Griffiths fight would be more expensive for him than a winter vacation trip here.

"But the money isn't the most important thing," he concluded. "The Garden is trying to stage another heavyweight elimination contest, and that's not necessary so far as I'm concerned. Give me an opponent for a real fight and I'll do the eliminating."

Nighbor Exchanged For Cox in Ice Deal

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 6.—(AP.)—A hockey player exchange whereby Frank Nighbor, veteran Ottawa center, is transferred to the Toronto Maple Leafs for Danny Cox has been completed. Under the terms of the deal each player will report back to his own play at the end of the current season, but the Ottawa club retains an option for the purchase of Cox.

BAKER, TRIPPE GO TONIGHT

Motor Square show, Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, and Romeo Pacelli, of New Castle, fast-moving featherweights, box the eight-round semi-final. Dominick Profio, of Cecil, and Joe Zink, of McKees Rocks, a pair of slugging welterweights, are in the second bout, and Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, and Howard Williams, Negro welterweight, of Swissvale, open the show.

HAGGERTY VS. NANCI AGAIN

Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, and Young Nanci, of Swissvale, box the six-round semi-final at Junction Park, their fourth meeting, with Paul Balint, of the North Side, and Rosy Grier, of Canton, O., in the first six-rounder. Tiny O'Neill and Battling Sammy Johnson, heavies, are in the second four-rounder and Sammy Chiodo, of Johnstown, and Billy Holt, of Youngstown, in the first number.

Between Rounds

Jack Perry, former local welterweight boxer of note, who has been an actor on Broadway and in London and also has appeared in the movies since quitting his career in the ring, and for the past year has been running boxing shows and developing talent from the amateur ranks in Los Angeles, is getting ready to head East with three of his proteges and plans to make his headquarters in Pittsburgh.

Jack writes that his three charges have shown so much promise in bouts so far that he has been the recipient of offers for their contracts from no less worthies than Jack Kearns, Frank Churchill and Tom Kennedy, all big shots in the managing racket. The boxers are Guy Salerno, an Italian 165-pounder; Frankie Diaz, Mexican junior-lightweight, and Matt Codan, Jewish welterweight.

Eugene Huat, the French star, who boxes Archie Bell in New York tonight, has quit the flyweight ranks because of difficulty in making the weight. He claims this trouble caused his elimination from the flyweight tournament in New York, which has evaporated into thin air with the defeat of virtually all of the favorites.

TWO BOUTS FOR FIELDS

Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, answers the bell twice this week in nontitular matches. He meets Alf Ros in Philadelphia tonight and Tony Vaccarelli in Chicago Friday night. Sammy Mandell, the lightweight ruler, boxes Manuel Quintero in a non-championship match at Miami, Friday night.

Bernard Kelly, Jr., of Wilkinsburg, has matched two of his boxers for bouts on an all-star card at Detroit, January 30. Walter Majeske boxes Johnny Roberts, of Huntington, W. Va., and Young Nanci, of Swissvale, meets Pee Wee Wilson in eight-round preliminaries to a 10-rounder between Willie Ostner and George Courtney. Marty Simmons, also managed by Kelly, is slated for a 10-round bout with Eddie Heinz, at Saginaw, Mich., tomorrow night.

The Columbus Temple gradually is being transformed into a fight arena for Francis Flynn and Apples Meyers. They estimate conservatively that they will be able to seat 1,700 to 2,000 fans in their new quarters, which will be known as the Coliseum and will get its baptism of fire Friday night of next week, with Tom Malco and Young Saylor meeting in a return battle in the main bout.

FLYNN HEAVY LOSER

Flynn, by the way, has run into a streak of bad luck over the holidays. First he had his Mickey Solmen-Rudy Ceder bout called off because of the suspension of Solmen and last week Joe Colombo cancelled a match with Tom Malco too late to permit Flynn to get a suitable substitute and that show also went by the boards with the rent he forfeited and other expenses. Flynn's loss hovered around the $500 mark—and he didn't even get any action for it.

Healey to Train Whitney Stable

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Thomas J. Healey has been signed as head trainer for the Harry Payne Whitney Stable, one of the most extensive in the country. He has been handling thoroughbreds for 40 years. Healey is to take charge of the Whitney stable on February 1. It is understood that James Rowe, Jr., who has handled the Whitney thoroughbreds since the death of his father, James Rowe, Sr., last August, will be Healey's chief assistant.

Carlson's Floor Book Ordered By Chinese

The Pitt basketball coach, than which, judging from the records his teams compile, there are none better, today received an order for his book from the athletic director of the Central University of China at Nanking.

This makes more than a half-dozen nations, including the Scandinavian, from which orders for the book have been received. It has had a wide circulation in the country.

NATIONAL CUP TIE HALTED

By TOM BIRKS.

Yesterday's soccer battle in the second round of the national amateur cup, featuring Gallatin and the Union Switch and Signal elevens, at Gallatin, was called off by Referee Pat O'Conner after 25 minutes play. The field was ankle deep in mud, and there was little hope of finishing the game. The score at the end of play found Gallatin leading by a 1-goal-to-0 score.

When the teams took the field a large crowd was on hand, the brilliant sun and clear blue sky bringing out the fans. However, when O'Conner inspected the field, it was thought he would not allow the game to get under way.

Mud over the shoe tops made soccer out of the question, but the teams wanted to play, and when the contest started the Switch boys nearly ran the home club out of the competition. The Vale forced four corners in quick succession, and Pat Murphy and Peckovitch were hard pressed for a time.

Sickles lifted the pressure and then Gallatin got away, and Benick, meeting a great cross shot, opened the scoring. Seven minutes later the game was called, the mud had been churned into an impassible mass, and there was a chance of some one getting hurt, for all soccer players in this district have a tendency to drag the ball through the mud. When this condition arises, too many things can happen. The local commissioner will announce a new date for the game to be played at Gallatin.

Postponed games are beginning to hurt. Cup ties are affecting the District League, and again soccer officials may be faced with some of the clubs being disbanded before the remaining games of the schedule are staged.

CRICKET RECORD FALLS

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—A new world cricket record was established today by Don Bradman, playing for New South Wales against Queensland. He hit up 452 runs and was still undefeated when his team's innings closed. This huge total surpasses the previous best score of 437, made by W. H. Ponsford, of Victoria, against Queensland in 1928.

NATS RELEASE PAIR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—Announcement was made today that Charley Gooch, infielder, and Cliff Bolton, catcher, have been released to the Chattanooga club by the Nationals. The Nats reserved an option on Bolton.

How to Play Basketball

Answered by

C. S. EDMUNDSON,

Basket Coach, University of Washington. Pacific Coast (North Div.) Champion.

This depends on the style of defense that is used. There are three styles of defense used, the man to man, the zone and the five-men defense. In each of these at a certain point during the opponents' offensive drive the guard becomes responsible for a certain man. As soon as this responsibility arrives he should stick closely to the man for whom he is responsible, playing almost directly between him and the basket five or six feet away. He should determine early in the game what his opponent uses in the way of deception and what style of shooting he depends on. If his opponent is very fast he must play a little further away than he would if his opponent is slow. Playing too close to an opponent gives him a chance to fake and get by for a shot. Playing too far away gives the opponent an opportunity to shoot over the head of the guard.

Out of the running for the Allegheny County League championship, the Allentown Club, under the guidance of A. S. (Dad) Rogers, is none the less determined to take a fall out of the league-leading Fintex aggregation, which team Allentown meets tonight at Duquesne University.

A. S. Rogers

The Fintex passers defeated the Allentown Club by a single point on the Allentown floor earlier in the season and the invaders are eager to turn the tables tonight.

While early-season records indicate the Fintex is a more powerful floor machine than that representing Allentown, the last-named club will not concede the home passers anything tonight and will be on their toes from start to finish.

Rogers still contends his club was out-lucked in the first contest and he feels certain his team will obtain revenge. The battle promises to be one of the best of the season, inasmuch as Fintex must cop this game to bolster its hold on first place.

Dribbles

Community House meets the Ray Schneiders at the North Side Moose. Edgewood plays at the South Side Falcons and the Y. M. H. A. appears at Sharpsburg in the three West Penn League games carded tonight. The Community-Schneider and Y. M. H. A.-Penn Five contests will have a decided bearing on the outcome of the first-half race. Community House and Y. M. H. A. are pressing the Ray Schneiders for the title and both must win tonight to remain in the running.

The Forresters, right on the heels of Manchester Community for first place in the Central Pittsburgh League, must win from Trinity Church at Trinity tonight to stay in the fight. Manchester, Forresters and I. K. S. are battling for the first-half championship. In the other league game carded tonight Equitable Life meets National Music.

Carnegie Steel and Reick-McJunkin clash tonight in the only C. & I. League game on the schedule. The battle is carded for the Schenley High School floor, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie is setting the pace in this loop, having won all of its games so far.

Issy Closky is playing a prominent part in the success of the Y. M. H. A. team in the West Penn League race. His work against Edgewood last Saturday night was a big factor in his team's win over Pickett's passers.

Members of the Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League will remain idle until Wednesday when East Liberty Y appears at Kingsley House.

BIG TEN FIVES BUSY TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—With the veteran Wisconsin basketball team already fallen victim to Northwestern, the Western Conference championship race was to get under way in earnest tonight with four Big Nine teams in action.

Although the Badgers wore one-half of the Conference crown in the season's opener against Northwestern, they were handed a 23-to-14 defeat. That, too, in face of the fact that Northwestern had one of its regular guards in the hospital.

Michigan, wearing the other half of last season's crown, will play its first Conference game of the year against Minnesota, at Minneapolis. Ohio State is to play Illinois at Champaign, Ill.

Two individuals in Michigan's lineup tonight will be playing their first Conference game. Joe Downing is one and the other is Hank Weiss. Weiss, although small of stature, has replaced Kanitz, one of last year's veterans.

Downing has been given Frank Lovell's place at floor guard, Downing's home is at Frankfort, Ind. Orwig, Truskowski and Capt. Chapman will round out the quintet.

Ohio State is presenting practically the same team as last year, with Wrigley, center, as the only newcomer. Larkins and Fesler are at the guards and Evans and Erwin are forwards.

Illinois is using a lineup of unseasoned men, who already have tasted preliminary defeats. The Illini quintet is composed of Wawal, Fencle, Kamp, Burr Harper and Horace May.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Led by their star forward line of Bill and Bunny Cook and Frank Boucher, the New York Rangers handed Pittsburgh's Pirates an 8-to-3 trouncing in a wide-open National Hockey League game here last night. This trio scored seven of the eight New York goals.

Pittsburgh, completely outplayed through the greater part of the game, managed to remain in the running up to the middle of the second period with a series of quick thrusts which caught the Ranger defense off guard and brought three goals.

The Pirates weakened rapidly after gaining a 3-3 tie in the middle of the second period, and the Rangers scored twice in about three more minutes of play. The Boucher-Cook combination scored three times in the final period.

voluntarily folded up for Shires in less than one round.

Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, today summoned Promoter Jim Mullen, Shires, Blumenthal, Daly and the latter's manager, before the commission. Clinnin said life suspension would result if the charge is proved.

Promoter Mullens pointed out the Shires-George Trafton fight as his answer to the csharges. Trafton gave Shires a thorough beating in a five-round engagement at White City. This was Shires' second battle.

"If I had been arranging diving acts for Shires would I have matched him with Trafton?" Mullen asked. "Why my best meal ticket of 1929 was punched out entirely when Trafton licked Shires."

BUNK, MEAD SAYS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Eddie Mead, of Cleveland, who handled Jim Gerry, alias Dangerous Dan Daly, in the now famous one-round battle with Arthur (The Great) Shires in Chicago, was voluble in his denials that Daly took a dive for The Great One.

"Gerry or Daly," said Mead, "was picked by me for that fight because Promoter Jim Mullen told me he wanted a "ham" to go in the ring with Shires to guarantee that the bout would last the scheduled four rounds Gerry can't fight and neither can Shires. They haven't had enough experience.

"As for Gerry's statement about his being taken around in Chicago and shown the sights is boloney to me. Gerry told me he had been out looking at the elevated all by himself. He said he had never been in Chicago before and was taking in the sights. I don't think anyone approached him before I got to Chicago and I know they didn't after I arrived."

WINDSOR'S FATHER DIES

Johnny Windsor, local boxer, who has been active in Florida rings during recent months, returned home to attend the funeral of his father, Frank Majewskie, Saturday. He will remain here for a week after which he will return to Florida to fulfill contracts for bouts there.

CUBS MAY SET NEW TOP IN SALARIES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

The open season for baseball holdouts is due to pop any day now, what with some of the major league teams ready to put the 1930 contracts in the mail.

The Pittsburgh club, in this connection, is further advanced than it has been for many, many seasons, according to officials of the team, but other owners are not so fortunate.

Hack Wilson

Aside from Burleigh Grimes and perhaps one or two other regulars, the Buccos already are in line. The famed Waner boys sought out Owner Dreyfuss and signed their contracts shortly after the close of last season. Capt. Pie Traynor also put his name on the paper about that time, while Adam Comorosky returned his signed contract a few days ago.

WRIGLEY, PAYS WELL

It will be quite interesting to watch the contract development in Chicago in view of the fact that the Cubs won a flag while setting a new attendance record in the sport.

The Chicago directors plan to put the contracts out shortly. President Veeck is expected to be out of the city for a couple of weeks, thereafter, so that any dissatisfied players will not be able to get much action until he returns.

In keeping with their feat of breaking all home attendance records for the game, the Cub owners may find themselves establishing a new peak in the remuneration of athletes.

Rogers Hornsby, the highest-paid player in the league, is said to have drawn $40,000 or thereabouts for his work last year. Assuming that he will receive as much for the coming season it is quite easy to point out nine Cubs whose collective pay for the season will crowd the $150,000 mark.

NOT LIKE OTHER DAYS

It is not so long ago that a major league team could pay its entire roster of 25 players on this amount, but the Cubs have at least nine high-priced men.

Eight other Cubs who are believed to be in "five figures" are Hack Wilson, Hazen Cuyler, Capt. Charlie Grimm, Leo Hartnett, Charlie Root, Guy Bush, Pat Malone and Fred Blake.

Quite a few of those mentinoed collected amounts close to $15,000 for their last season's work. It might surprise the fans to know what Hack Wilson and some of the others received and will receive for 1930.

The Athletics, new champions of the sport, are believed to be trailing more than one club in the majors in the matter of salaries; in fact, it has been considered quite difficult for star members of this team to acquire big documents. The same condition holds with the Cardinals.

The Yankees, with Babe Ruth's unmatched check, are up near the top, but the Bruin aggregate should top the Yanks this year. Aside from Babe, Gehrig, Lazzari and Combs, the Ruppert Rifles sport few of the elite.

Rockaway Ineligible At Ohio State U.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Dick Rockaway, star hurdler on the Ohio State track team, a national collegiate champion and world record holder, apparently has been lost to the Buckeye squad for the duration of the indoor season at least.

Rockaway failed in a subject of three credit hours during the fall quarter just ended, it became known today, automatically becoming ineligible for varsity competition until the spring quarter starts, late in March. This circumstance will prevent his competing in dual meets, Western Conference indoor championships, quadrangular meet with Wisconsin, Northwestern and Chicago, and the annual Illinois indoor relays. Rockaway was the outstanding college hurdler of last year.

NEVERS' TEAM WINS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—(INS.)—With Ernie Nevers, famous professional football player, leading the attack, Santa Rosa yesterday defeated Antioch by a score of 25 to 6. The game decided the American Legion football championship of California.

TRADE LEADERS IGNORE BASIC CONDITIONS

Forecasts Reflect Current Conditions Rather Than Long Term Business Pull

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The inopportuneness of first of the year forecasts has been strikingly illustrated this year.

Business prophets were called upon to do their stuff in the midst of a trade recession. Business cycles do not start and end with the calendar year, and the annual inventory of early nuary forecasts ignores this basic fact. As a matter of fact, executives who are impressed by immediate reports now going across their desks concerning current operations ar doubtless slightly more pessimistic than longer term prospects warrant. This overemphasis on the immediate news has been partially offset in public statements by the eternal bias of the business man in favor of optimism.

Business forecasts of the last week were characterized by qualified cheerfulness. Though executives expressed modified optimism, their remarks were singularly free from verbal inflation. Temporary reactions not only purify the somewhat stagnant waters of business, but also help to give trade leaders a better sense of proportion.

RECESSION BUT PAUSE

And yet the factor of growth is the most persistent influence in American life. A normal year is one in which business is some 3 per cent larger than in the previous year. As long as the country retains the capacity for growth, each recession must be regarded as a mere pause before it takes further strides forward. As the careful Alexander Dana Noyes, dean of the financial commentators, observed:

"The quite indominable spirit of confidence in the longer trend of American prosperity is bound to restrict, as it always has restricted, the scope of a trade reaction. Unbroken experience has also taught that foundations for new and greater prosperity have invariably been liad in such periods of reaction. . . . Finally, the position of overshadowing economic power in world finance . . . exists in its important aspects now as it existed either a year ago or before the ill-fated stock market 'boom' began."

FORD CRITICIZED

The new leader takes Henry Ford, sage of Dearborn, to task for a seeming disparity between his championship of the older employes, in an article in the Ladies' Home Journal, and in the attitude of the Ford Motor Company toward old employes, as disclosed by figures published by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics. Of various companies studied,, the Ford enterprise had the largest proportion of employes under 50. If these statistics are accurate, Henry Ford, the reformer, still needs to convert his own personnel director!

According to Carl Snyder, creative statistician of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, observers have been confusing normal crowth of American business with boom conditions. Mr. Snyder's studies show that the rate of American business expansion during the last four years has been maintained only at the average growth trend of the last 15 years, and in 1927 and 1928 the rate of increase was distinctly below this long time trend. The commonly accepted belief that these have been boom years is a myth, Mr. Snyder pointed out. This is good news. Boom creates abnormalities, which must be painfully corrected. If there has been no boom, there need be no hard aftermath. This fits in with the view that the recession will be comparatively short lived.

AUTO OPTIMISM

By their policy of perpectually improving performances and design in cars, the motor manufacturers have shown rare genius in making folk dissatisfied with their present models. Few business men understood human nature as well as the automobile manufacturers. They have grasped the possibilities of obsolescence more fully than those in any other industries.

They have not relied on mere arbitrary shifts in fashions, but have persistently sought through elaborate research in the laboratories to make each model perform more effectively than its predecessors.

Motoring has been ingrained into the national habits, and no temporary shift in the business cycle will fundamentally change the place of the automobile in American life. The very worst that could happen would be that some individuals would postpone new purchases, using their "obsolete" models a little longer than they otherwise would. This would result in pentup demand, which would make buying abnormally active later. A similar situation occurred in 1927 and early in 1928 when Ford's absence from production induced many motorists to wait before buying a new car. The accumulated demand resulted in unprecedented production schedules in the first half of 1929.

If the public regularized its automobile buying habits, it would be far better for the industry and for its employes.

The automobile show is designed to make the motorist disinclined to wait by holding out the temptation of something more alluring than what he had.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The bond market was quick to profit today by easing money rates and prices in all groups ruled higher, although trading was still thin. The loans went to 4¾ per cent as compared with the 4¾ to 5 per cent quotations that had held over the holiday period. The renewal rate on call money was 5, but funds were plentiful and the charge soon dropped to 4½.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Lose Ground — Local Market Quiet

MARKET TURNS DOWN AFTER ADVANCE

Lowering of Call Money To 4½ Per Cent Fails To Stop Stock Decline

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Frequent shifting of speculative sentiment imparted an irregular price trend to today's stock market, with trading continuing dull. Prices headed upward at the opening, but turned reactionary around mid-day, when fresh selling developed in the merchandising and public utility groups. Most of the early gains of 1 to 7 points were cut down, or wiped out, and by early afternoon a long list of stocks were selling 1 to nearly 9 points below last week's final quotations.

Lowering of the call money rate from 5 to 4½ per cent, which contrasts with the 6 per cent rate maintained over the year-end, apparently failed to provide much stimulus. Funds were offered in the "outside market" at 4 per cent. Pools again found difficulty in attracting an outside following, but "bears" also were restrained from conducting an aggressive campaign by the dullness of the market and the already large short interest in many of the leading issues.

STORE GROUP OFF

The decline of 3 per cent in the December sales reported by the F. W. Woolworth Company probably inspired the renewal of attacks against the merchandising group. Montgomery Ward sold down 2 points to 44, which contrasts with the low of 42⅜ established last year, and Sears, Roebuck dropped to 83, or within 3 points of its low. Woolworth and Simmons each fell back about 2 points.

Reports that between 45,000,000 and 50,000,000 pounds of copper had been sold for first quarter delivery at the official price of 18 cents a pound brought about a flurry of buying in the copper shares, but sponsors for those issues had difficulty in maintaining the early gains of 1 to 2 points. The rally in motors, based on the opening of the New York automobile show, proved to be short-lived. Hudson, one of the recent leaders, dropping back 2 points.

LONG LIST DECLINES

Auburn Auto was hammered down 8¾ points, Industrial Rayon 4¾, American Tobacco 4 and Beatrice Creamery 3. Losses of 2 points or more were registered by American Water Works, American and Foreign Power, J. I. Case, Pullman, American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Standard Gas and Electric, Timken Roller Bearing and Otis Elevator.

In the early up-swing, Johns Manville jumped 7 points, Warren Brothers 5, Motor Products 4⅜ and American Machine and Foundry, National Biscuit and United Carbon 3 points or more. U. S. Steel common, after moving up 1¼ to 170⅜, fell back to 168, and then rebounded again. Fox Film advanced to 23¼ and reacted to 20⅛.

New Year's Debut Is Quiet But Encouraging

By B. C. FORBES

THE new year has opened encouragingly but not particularly eventfully.

STOCKS, on thin trading, have gained nominally. Wall Street money rates have promptly declined. Preparations are under way for resuming new security offerings, both stocks and bonds.

The steel industry records very substantial expansion in operations after its sharp dip. The motor industry has regained some of its lost optimism. Construction predictions are distinctly cheerful. Retail trade reports, as lately usual, are quite mixed, but are fairly satisfactory on the whole.

Neither agriculture nor labor developments of importance have occurred over the turn of the year.

"LET the dirt begin to fly!" Such announcement is now hopefully looked for from one corporation after another whose head has given a pledge to President Hoover that ambitious expansion and improvement programs will be speedily launched. The first concrete news along these lines is already beginning to come from steel manufacturers.

It would be helpful if the new economic council could arrange to have definite reports sent out covering each large scale building operation actually started, such reports to be promptly made available to the newspapers. If all the promises made—or even the majority—are fulfilled, the publishing of the facts as they develop from day to day would serve to dispel the skepticism which is rather widely expressed concerning the genuineness of the pledges and the sincerity of many of the pledgers. Deeds, not words, now are wanted.

THAT general activity was harmed by the stock market collapse is brought out by year-end facts and figures. Most industries were immediately affected, some of them quite considerably. Railway traffic, automobile sales, bank clearings, steel orders, employment, retail buying, all slowed up.

Yet the country at large did not by any means follow Wall street's panicky example.

This fact is full of encouragement for the future. In former times financial panics usually brought nation-wide trouble immediately in their train—wholesale cancellation of orders, the dismissal of hundreds of thousands of workers, the halting of construction work, numerous failures, demoralization in commodity markets, etc.

President Hoover shares with industrial and financial leaders the credit for averting such conditions on this occasion. New Year's most influential bankers set the first example by openly getting together for the avowed purpose of keeping the stock exchange going and fighting off a complete crisis. Never in the past did our banking leaders publicly get together and issue statements day by day concerning their operations.

Industry, with this example before it, very readily responded to President Hoover's invitation to get together to combat the spread of panicky sentiment and conditions throughout the business and industrial world.

Thus far this modern method of meeting a stock panic has justified itself; but it remains to be seen whether the hopefulness created by fine promises will be proved well founded. Pick axes must now take the place of pledges. Industrial leaders must now say it with bricks and mortar, with steel and lumber and above all with pay envelopes.

I, for one, am not cynic enough to doubt the trustworthiness of the majority of those who have outlined expansion programs.

WHAT would do more than perhaps anything else to hasten recovery in general activity would be impressive buying of good stocks. Admittedly, there has been relatively little of this during recent weeks. A great many people still are holding off. They intend to invest in stocks, but they are anxious to be sure that stability has been permanently restored before they part with their money.

This state of mind is common after panics. It is entirely possible that the timid will find themselves compelled to pay substantially higher prices. The security market appears to be rather thoroughly liquidated. Certain it is that many investment stocks now are on an extremely attractive basis. It is questionable in my mind whether those who intend to buy outright are wise to continue their holding-off policy. Even should irregularity be experienced, the trend logically will be towards price levels warranted by the condition and prospects of this young, rich, dynamic country.

Gun Club Shares Highest Priced In U. S.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Ohio Oil Company, leasing 250-acre tract of Recreation Gun Club, Inc., at Venice, Cal., brought in a big oil producer last week, has started drilling another well 500 feet south of No. 1 well. Company pays Recreation Club one-sixth royalty on net production. The club is incorporated for 26 shares with equal number of members, and $100,000 per share has been offered for purchase of club capitalization, and refused. It is believed Recreation Club shares are higher priced than any other stock in the United States.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP.)—Trading was of a desultory and spiritless character on the Curb Market today. The rally late last week was carried over into the early trading, but it died out before midday, and bear pressure was renewed. The market turned extremely dull on the decline. There was nothing in the week-end news to enliven the market, and the return of 4½ per cent call money today was only in line with expectations.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Gold Exports to Help Foreign Trade

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE foreign trade of the United States last year established a new high record and recent developments have pointed very definitely to continued gains in the present year. Cheaper credit in almost all parts of the world and the exports of gold from this country will exert a strong influence in increasing the ability of other nations to purchase American goods.

Both exports and imports reached totals in 1929 which exceeded any attained during the war and post war boom periods. The increase marks the continuance of a movement almost unbroken since 1921. American manufacturers have been constantly reaching out to secure new markets and have been developing more products particularly adapted to foreign demand.

Gains 3 to 4 Per Cent

IN discussing foreign trade for the past year William L. Cooper, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce said:

"Just how much the foreign trade of 1929 surpassed that of the year before is not known at this writing. If December shows the same figures as that month did in 1928, our total exports will amount to about $5,300,000,000, or between 3 and 4 per cent more than in the preceding year and our imports to about $4,450,000,000, an increase of 8 per cent.

"The gain in export trade for 1929 was confined, in the main, to the first four months of the year, during which our foreign sales were nearly $300,000,000 greater than in the corresponding months of 1928. The remaining eight months showed either less increase or an actual decrease as compared with 1928.

Manufactured Exports

"AS in most recent years the most conspicuous feature of the trade of 1929 was the expansion in the exports of the products of our factories. For the year as a whole the foreign sales of semi-manufactured and finished manufactures were in the neighborhood of $3,250,000,000. This means a gain of approximately $300,000,000, or 10 per cent over 1928.

"Year by year American manufactures have been growing in popularity in foreign markets. The total for 1929 was 80 or 90 per cent greater than that for 1922, only seven years ago, and nearly 200 per cent greater than in the average year of the immediate pre-war period, after allowing for the higher level of prices.

"The United States now leads the world as an exporter of factory products. Finished manufactures, which before the war represented only about three-tenths of our exports, are now half of the much larger total. The importance of this huge exportation of manufactured goods as a stabilizer of industry and employment is obviously very great."

Gold Movement Helps

ONE of the most favorable developments from the standpoint of our foreign trade has been the exportation of about $100,000,000 in gold from the United States during the last two months of 1929. In the opinion of the firm of Dominick and Dominick, which has just made a survey of the gold movement, this represents the natural return of money attracted from abroad by the high interest rates prevailing up to October.

The county has such strong reserves of gold that it has been estimated that almost three times this amount could be exported without affecting credit conditions here. On the other hand, by re-establishing an equilibrium in other important financial centers, this outflow of gold should be an important factor in indirectly stimulating American export trade in 1930.

Loss Not Great

GOLD movements have closely paralleled credit conditions in this country during the past year. Except for a decline of $17,800,000 in January, there was a net gain of gold in every month of the year up to the end of October. The drop in money rates and the diminution of speculative possibilities here resulted in a net loss of $23,166,000 in November and a loss of $70,000,000 in gold in December. These figures do not appear so impressive when it is realized that between February and October the nation's gold balance increased $259,000,000. Stocks of gold here at the end of October totaled $4,386,000,000, which was far in excess of ordinary reserve requirements.

In commenting on this situation, Dominick and Dominick said:

"In short, the depletion of the country's gold supply since November 1 has relatively little significance to the domestic situation. Actually the export of a gold surplus considerably above the reserve requirement—where that export is carried on in an orderly manner—means no more or less than the melting of frozen funds and progress toward the restoration of financial equilibrium throughout the world. Accordingly, the current outward movement of gold should be more welcome than otherwise."

Monongahela Road Refused Application

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—Despite the fact that the passenger service alone is operated at a loss, the Public Service Commission today refused the Monongahela Railway Company permission to abandon it. The lines of the branches extend from Millsboro, Washington County, to Nemacolin, Greene County, and from Millsboro to Mather, Greene County.

"It is to be seen," the commission said, "that notwithstanding the loss applicant suffers in the maintenance of its present passenger train service, the total revenues derived from the Chartiers Southern branch do not indicate an unprofitable or burdensome operation as a whole."

S. W. Straus Manager Honored at Banquet

H. R. Baker, manager of the local office of S. W. Straus & Co., and recently elected vice president and director of S. W. Straus & Co., Inc., of Delaware, was honor guest at a banquet and theater party given by members of the organization Saturday night. B. M. Kirstein, former manager of the local office and now an executive in the Chicago branch, was among those present. Mr. Baker has been manager of the local office since 1927.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT Fannie Read, 86, of a village near Binghamton, N. Y., was recently declared incompetent and removed to the State Hospital. She never left her home during the past 68 years because her father ejected the only man she loved and in a window for almost 70 years she burned a lamp symbolic of an undying love, which still flickers. The rejected suitor was Lieut. John Bellows.

That the actual cost of making a newsreel with sound is $17 per foot and that they run 90 feet to the minute.

That there have been less than six divorces in Bermuda's history, where there are no divorce laws, the seals being melted in the U. S.

That you can find diversion by watching the mixed inmates of the Deaf and Dumb School on 16th St., flirting via the finger code.

That Arthur Kober's gag about the Jewish father bawling out his wayward daughter, viz: "Get hot! Get hot! Get hot of mine house!" was inserted into Geo. White's "Scandals" and is a wow!

That you can polish silver ciggie cases or lighters or any silverware with almost any kind of toothpaste.

That most of the Spanish shawls are made in China.

FINDS LIFE IS STAGE

THAT Loretta Young is the only child movie star who returned to the screen as a "grown-up" and reached stellar heights.

That Jetta Goudal isn't French but part Javanese.

That Billie Dove's real tag is Lillian Bohney and that a photographer once advised her to change it to Dove "because you look like one."

That you can kill dandelions in lawns by injecting a few drops of gasoline into the crowns.

That there is no Postal Telegraph office in the Postal Telegraph Bldg. at 253 Broadway.

That players are in a decided minority at the Players' Club.

That the filet of sole on the bill-of-fares of New York restaurants, take it from Burton Rascoe, is filet of flounder.

THAT IS, ON EARTH

THAT the hottest place on this earth is Azizia, Tripoli.

That there are 355,481 Indians in these United States.

That Cyrus P. Giggs, 72, is listed among the oddest specialists in the world. He writes gravestone epitaphs for a living.

That the only personality identified with night life in New York before prohibition on Broadway is Charlie Journal, who still runs his Montmartre and does not sell a drop of liquor.

That the no-cover-charge cabarets on Broadway get it from you just the same by tacking on an extra 50 cents per bottle for ginger ale and make you order two dollars per person minimum. In other words, they force patrons to buy kitchen merchandise after theater hours.

OUT OF A BLUES SKY

THAT Will Vodery, a colored composer, actually discovered George Gershwin, our foremost tune builder. Through Vodery, Gershwin reached the notice of Ned Wayburn, who not only hired him for the rehearsals of "Miss 1917" at the Century Theater, but retained him on salary after the premiere. Shortly after Gershwin was signed by Harms.

That Herbert Bayard Swope once took three years to land a story.

That Anita Loos believes that John Emerson is her husband, although she feels that perhaps she is married to Joseph M. Schenck, owing to Emerson's fear at the altar and consequent inability to answer the questions put to him, and which Mr. Schenck answered for him.

That the first electric sign on Broadway was erected by Charles Dillingham. It was a big revolving Red Mill built to advertise "The Red Mill" for Montgomery and Stone. This was in 1906. The second big sign was also erected by Dillingham, a moving automobile to advertise Fritzi Scheff in "Mlle Modiste." Then came the Ben Hur Chariot Race built by Wrigley and other big signs.

INWARD SPARKLE

THAT whenever the late Victor Herbert contracted to conduct an orchestra it was stipulated in his agreement that the management would supply a cold bottle of champaign before he went into the pit.

That the only night club open twenty-four hours daily in New York is Don Dickerman's "Daffydil," a gay place on Eighth street. That it is also the only restaurant in the world where ladies get different menus than the men—the male menus containing the prices.

That George White's name appears in the Apollo Theater program exactly 22 times.

And that with these infernal dial phones you don't know whether your girl is fibbing or not—for if you get a busy signal—it doesn't necessarily mean that she is in—for you also get a busy signal if you happen to phone at the time another party is calling the same number.

A. Ohringer has filed plans for a stone dwelling and garage to be erected at 6525 Beacon street, Squirrel Hill, at an approximate cost of $23,000.

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Dear Friends:

I have often been asked if it is proper to eat without a coat. This depends. I have a gentleman friend who says he belongs to the nobility, and he often eats without a coat. Note, however, that he is careful to cover his shirt front with cravat, and he keeps his trousers well up on the hips (or 'ips, as they call them ovah heah) and eschews suspenders, when he eats. "Good taste," he says.

Mayor Kline at New Day—May Its End Be Bright!

Today we witness a slight shifting of lines in the administrative and legislative departments of our city government. There is no change in the executive head, Mayor Charles H. Kline, re-elected by a flattering majority, beginning a new term as he ends his first. Such administrative changes as occur will be in executive branches. In Council we have two new members in Clifford B. Connelley, until now director of the North Side Carnegie Library, and Michael J. Muldowney, of Oakland, member of the General Assembly.

Mr. Kline continues as head of the city by virtue of a vote that implies confidence of a large share of the citizenry. Politics does not answer all things pertaining to Mr. Kline's re-election. It may be assumed that many who would resent accusation of being swayed by machine affiliation desired to keep Mayor Kline on the job. And even his political sponsors must have been well satisfied else they would have turned against him. So Mr. Kline may logically assume that he received a vote of confidence in November.

We believe that situation places him under obligation to nobody in a political sense and to everyone in a civic sense. And we believe it places him in a freer position to give the city a government that will represent his own ideals. He has power that no recent mayor has had, and in this lies potency to make him or break him. We cannot give the mayor any better advice than to tell him to use his head in emergencies that will surely arise and to let his obligation of serving best the people as a whole be his guide.

As in the past, we do not feel that Mr. Kline will avoid criticism. An angel from Heaven would not escape it in the mayor's position. He will make mistakes, as all humans do, but if he makes them while sincerely endeavoring to serve the city as best he may under the circumstances that will be all that can reasonably be expected.

Mayor Kline and his administration are at the dawn of a new day. The past is in the past and the future opens either to great achievement, mediocrity or failure. Although it has criticized him when it felt such a course was essential to public welfare, the Sun-Telegraph will be a supporter of Mr. Kline in all that pertains to the genuine betterment of the city, and its sincere wish is that his new term as mayor will be one of high accomplishment.

President's Commissions Cause Delay of Action

When Hoover was elected, the people thought that he knew everything.

Apparently he does not know everything, and sometimes it seems as if he does not know anything.

Whenever a situation arises where action is required from the President, the President appoints a commission to secure information and to investigate indefinitely, and postpone action indefinitely.

As the Denver Post truly says:

"What good are these commissions anyhow?"

We know that cheap politicians use them to dodge situations and avoid issues.

But Mr. Hoover is not a cheap politician; in fact, there are many who say he is not a politician at all.

However, there is no harm, and perhaps much Democratic good in being enough of a politician to know what the people want done and to DO it.

The kind of politicians that are ridiculed and resented are the kind that know what the people want and do NOT do it.

Mr. Hoover apparently is not either of these two kinds of politicians, and this may be said not in praise but in apology.

He apparently has made something of a failure of his administration to date not merely because he does not DO what the people want, but because he evidently does not KNOW what they want.

He seems to believe, with Senator Harris, of Georgia, that he was elected on the issues of prohibition and religion, and so is allowing himself to be led, not by the public, but by the fanatics.

It is a little too soon to forecast what the result will be, but the first result will probably be a Progressive Democratic House of Representatives; the second result a Republican Senate, but one opposed to many of the President's policies, particularly his foreign policies; and the third result, the election of a Progressive Democratic President in 1932.

These results would be CERTAIN if the Democrats had any competent leadership.

But what can be expected of a Democratic party which abandons the example and injunctions of its founders, and all the great and successful leaders who established it, to go ghost dancing after the wraith of the unsound and unsuccessful leader who wrecked it?

So the leaderless Democrats may not be able to take advantage of their opportunity; and this means that Calvin Coolidge will come back.

Saint Patrick's Boat?

He Was a Brave Man.

Near the mouth of the River Boyne, "Boyne Water," remains of ancient vessels have been found, at Morlington, one of them, perhaps, the ship on which St. Patrick came to Ireland.

That would be a ship worth preserving. It would be inspiring to stand in the bow where St. Patrick stood, when after his boyhood in Ireland he returned to the continent, coming back later to Christianize the Irish.

It would be interesting to know what kind of man it was that defied the proud King of Ireland on the Hill of Tara and converted him.

The old ship was abandoned at least 1,500 years ago; imagination must rebuild its rough lines and the rough, powerful man of God who was its passenger.

What Is This—A Commission Form Of Government?

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

TIME was when human cussedness was purely a personal affair.

Were you lazy, cowardly, quarrelsome, conceited? Sensitive?

Then that was YOUR affair, and it behooved you to remedy it pronto if you wanted to get along with the rest of society.

But nowadays, psycffology has supplied any ornery bum with just about 3,982 handy methods of passing the buck.

Lazy? You're not REALLY lazy. You just have an inferiority complex. Folks discouraged you so when you were a kid that you haven't dared to make an effort since.

Quarrelsome? You're not REALLY quarrelsome. That's just a front you put on. In reality you're actually PANTING for peace and good will. But folks stepped on you so often when you were a kid, and misunderstood you so terribly, that you've assumed this war mask to hide your bruises.

Reserved and suspicious and snooty? No, not REALLY. Just another mask. Look how your mother favored your sister Amy. Well, naturally, that threw you back into yourself, and gave you a chronic case of Black 'n' Blue.

And so it goes, right down the list. There's a reason for everything. Somebody, way back in your past, did you dirt, and that's how you got that way. So it isn't YOUR fault—no indeedy.

Does this mean that psychology is the bunk?

It certainly does NOT. Psychology is about the best thing that has happened to humanity in its whole existence. If there is one thing a man needs to know the truth about, it's HIMSELF. But unfortunately, many of us get only ONE SIDE OF THE TRUTH from psychology, psychiatry and psycho-analysis. And that side is just chock full of alibis and excuses for EXHIBIT A.

It IS true that unhappy youthful experiences can leave their mark on us....

BUT SO CAN HAPPY EXPERIENCES ... and THAT is a point which most of us are only too willing to overlook.

We pounce on any excuse for our cussedness—

But we ignore, with great care, those opportunities for greater development which have come to all of us.

Dad may have been a bully and Ma a shrew ... but there have been scores of folks since who have been friendly and fair. But do we rememeber THOSE folks? No indeedy. We use physchology just far enough to prove that Ma 'n' Pa were a handicap...and then we quit, AND CONSIDER WE HAVE ESTABLISHED A BLANKET ALIBI FOR THE REST OF OUR LIVES.

Many people have recently been psycho-analyzed or psychiatrized. Or maybe they've attended a course of lectures and bought a set of books that tells them exactly WHY they aren't Rockefellers, Mussolinis, Ethel Barrymores and Greta Garbos. Whereupon they bust in, all smoked up with the Great Discovery.

AT LAST THEY ARE VINDICATED! For years 'n' years people have been blaming them for being what they are. And now they can PROVE they couldn't help it. For listen . . . this is what the psychologist or the book says . . .

Are they pleased? Stranger, they're tickled pink! Not only are they provided with a perfect alibi, but their egotism has been inflated at least 100 per cent. They are no longer common, cussed critters. They are Psychological Data.

IF YOU'RE GOING TO USE PSYCHOLOGY AT ALL . . . AND IT'S A VERY GOOD THING TO USE . . . USE IT HONESTLY. Don't use it just to bolster up your cowardice and cussedness and conceit. USE IT TO BOOST YOU INTO HEALTHY, HAPPY ACTION!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and came some beautiful photographs Adolph Bernheimer sent of his new home on a peak of the Pacific palisades which he has been building for many years. Then to breakfast and a waitress, the gay flatterer, asked if I happened to be Tully Marshall, the actor.

In the afternoon to Hal Phyfe's studio to sit for my photograph and saw some remarkable studies of Valentino, Beth Merrill and Basil Rathbone and pleased that photographers no longer ask subjects to smile or cup a chin but try to inspire natural poses.

So on a flanerie across town with Lisle and Bertha Bell, who have been in Hollywood these three years, and they scarcely knew the city, so greatly has it changed. Afterward to dine on a black Kentucky ham, sweet potatoes and a wedge of lemon meringue pie and home early to bed.

A package boy, or rather a former package boy, at a fashionable hotel in the East 50's was discovered to be averaging a larger income than the general manager on a salary. He bootlegged mineral waters and ginger ale to patrons at half price.

Tipping has spread to fashionable soda fountains after theater. It has become a custom to leave a dime per drink for the server.

Many subway passengers drop off to sleep and ride past their stations daily. The close air in the tubes induces a lethargy but most of the victims are those who have been out celebrating. On the other hand, there are numerable subwayfarers who are able to fall asleep and awaken as the train pulls into their station. It is a phenomenon they do not understand themselves. But they never fail to drift back to consciousness with a sudden start in time to scramble off.

Lillian Russell once boasted she had never traveled in the subway. In those days it was a high toned gesture, but not any more. Many in this age of autos, taxis and buses have not ridden in the subway for years.

* * *

The most pleasant underground trip is through the white-tiled, sanitary and clean-smelling Hudson Tunnel. It gives one the feeling of just having had a bath with a policeman looking on.

Much ado has been made of New York's subway manners, yet most of the impoliteness is sponsored by employes—especially those strong-armed huskies who use the methods of a football wedge in packing cars at rush hours. There is one bully at Fourteenth street I'm going to kick on the chin some day and skeedadle like everything.

What really started all these subway reflections was a trivial incident in a subway train late last evening. A one-armed man took a seat opposite and proceeded to roll up an umbrella as neatly as those in the store windows. I didn't know it could be done with two hands without a couple of helpers.

Speaking of one-armed dexterity, the most meticulously tied evening bow I ever saw was tied by a one-armed war hero who assisted a friend one evening in a Brussels hotel. A flip of the fingers and it was done.

In the theatrical district the other night the hind leg of a mounted patrolman's horse—a horse he had ridden for nine years—was broken by an automobile. Police regulations provide the officer must shoot the animal in such emergency. He placed the pistol to the horse's head three times, then dropped it and rushed off in tears. Every eye in the silent group that collected was glistening with tears. A fellow officer finally fired the shot.

Postcards R. T. F.: "I am one of those Middle West saps who came out to Hollywood and began inquiring when I met a fellow how his wife was. But I'm catching on."

Isn't It So?

No woman ever discovers that she was beautiful by being told by some other woman.

If a man is as honest as the day is long, it is sometimes well to turn the searchlight on his night record.

Beware of the man who says that he loves his neighbor better than himself; he's either a fool or a fibber.

When a man once thoroughly understands the ins and outs of horse racing he's seldom seen at the tracks.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Helen Is Married

HELEN WILLS' marriage is very important to Helen and to other girls who hope to star in those old aisle Olympics.

Helen did not promise to obey and her husband did not endow her with his worldly goods.

There was no obedience and there was no endowment. Which is very correct. Marriage should be a straight life policy.

"Bugs" Baer

When a bridegroom fails to publicly announce that he intends to shower his worldly goods, chattels and salary on the mushing bride he is setting the best man a bad example.

If they are going to change all the documents in the world why not start with the lease?

Brevity is the soul of schedules but there are some beautiful ceremonies that should not be taken in capsule form.

We understand that the Soviet has reduced marriage to the least common denominator. The bewildered couple just walk up to an official desk and spill the ink.

At the other end of the room is the divorce desk. You can purchase a souvenir separation on the way out.

You are going to take all the romance and illusions away from the works if you start buying alarm clocks for the Sleeping Beauty. Make Prince Charming ride a motorcycle and send the truant officer after Mother Goose.

They've already changed the setting-up exercises of Humpty Dumpty and are trying to send Simple Simon to college. The editors of everything beautiful and ancient are determined that every human being shall be slapped in the face with a rubber stamp.

No woman is ever going to obey her husband anyway. But, if it fools the bridegroom, why not allow him to be happy for that afternoon?

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

I RECKON there is some of these couples where the husband is really afraid of his wife, and where he ain't going out without getting permission. You hear so much about 'em in jokes that there must be some of 'em just like there must be some fun in police court.

She cried and then she scolded. "If you had any sense you'd have called me up and asked me if it would be all right. I wouldn't mind if you'd called me and asked me. Why didn't you do that? Why didn't you call me up and ask me if you could go and play golf?"

"Well," he says kinda sheepish-like, "I reckon the only reason I didn't do that was because I wanted to play golf."

Strength

GREAT strength of body is not lightly won
But built by patient art.
Through sweat and toil the miracle done,
Till into every part
At last life's current sends its radiant stream
To nourish thoughts and deeds,
To bring Earth nearer to the age-old dream,
To meet man's highest needs.

And to some souls where vital qualities
For long have been denied
Through empty hours of joy and tranquil ease
May come an angry tide
Of change, a bitter wind of circumstance
That brings relentless strife,
And with such buffeting the tempest grants
New strength for fuller life.

Wise Words

And all of heaven we have below.

Last of Great Land Animals

As Well Let Them Disappear.

FEMALE ELEPHANT PHOTOGRAPHED AT A DISTANCE OF FIFTEEN YARDS.

This interesting photograph of a very large female elephant, charging angrily in the direction of the photographer when she heard the camera "click" shows that there are some big animals left, although the biggest, dinosaurs, mammoths, etc., have vanished.

The British are agitated at present about the rapid disappearance of elephants.

British and American sportsmen, anxious for excitement, which is found most easily in "killing something," must have their sport and enjoy their killing.

Soon these interesting animals will disappear from the earth.

Probably it is just as well. They breed and carry diseases. And in the course of events they must disappear finally, nothing could preserve them.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

BESIDES these easily visible forms there are several groups of minute crustaceans, seen only as whitish specks to the naked eye, but nevertheless of great economic importance.

Cyclops, a one-eyed literally heartless crustacean, hardly a milimeter in length, swarms in countless numbers in lakes or pools or slow streams; this and the slightly larger Daphnia are among the commonest inhabitants of fresh water. The name "water-fleas," often applied to these animals, is misleading, because they feed on even more minute organisms, not as fleas do on the blood of larger creatures.

H. G. Wells

Daphnia is particularly and deservedly popular among amateur microscopists because her body (nearly all Daphnias are female) is so transparent that all her living organs, her beating heart and her churning bowels can be watched with ease under a low power.

In the surface layers of the open sea there are prodigious numbers of minute crustaceans belonging to the same group as Cyclops, the Copepods, exceeding in multitude any other kind of marine animal except the uncellular ones, and being one of the most important sources of food of fishes.

The late Sir Arthur Shipley, in his "Hunting Under the Microscope," says: "If on a sea voyage you tie a piece of bolting cloth loosely to the bath-tap which introduces the salt water into the bath in a very short time you will find a deposit or paste at the bottom, which in the main consists of copepods." The whole of the sea is like that.

There are more copepods in Plymouth Sound than there are people in the world—indeed, there are hundreds of times more.

We may note that crustaceans, like the great majority of arthropods, enclosed as they are by a hard, unyielding coat or armor, have to moult that coating off from time to time so that they may grow.

The life of a lobster, for example is a rhythmic alternation of two states. For a time he lives in his shell, not growing, but storing in his liver the materials necessary for a short but energetic burst of growth; then he retires to a safe crevice in the rock and casts off his armor—not only the outer armor, but even the lining and teeth of his stomach and the lining of his intestines—and, temporarily defenseless and helpless because of the softness of his appendages, he uses the stored material to grow and then to build a new and more roomy skeleton.

There is no very evident resemblance between the lobster, with which we began our account of the crustacea, and an adult barnacle, permanently fixed as it is to a rock or to some other hard object, shut up in a little box of skeletal plates, and feeding on minute organisms in the sea water which it entangles by means of lashing movements of a cluster of long, feathery, whip-like arms.

Nevertheless, the barnacle began its life as a free-swimming larva which was obviously a crustacean, and later settled down and changed its shape to suit its new sedentary life.

It did, in fact, very much what the sea-squirt did. In a parasitic animal, Sacculina, which is classified with the barnacles, the change is even more profound.

The newly-hatched Sacculina is a free-living creature with outside skeleton, limbs, eyes, heart and so forth; but, a sign of its destiny, it has no digestive tube.

It moults and acquires a new form, in which it resembles one of the water-fleas, Cypris, much as an embryo man resembles a fish, and it then swims around looking for a crab.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HAVE the intelligent progressive members of your crowd grown away from you, or have you grown away from your crowd?

Some way you don't seem to enjoy yourself as much with your most intimate friends as in former years.

Why is it?

It is probable that you have not advanced with your friends. You may have spent little time in self-improvement and study, and you are not only old-fashioned in ideas, but stale in progress.

The years should bring you more poise, more ability to grasp life's problems and less time spent on trivialities.

If it is because you are becoming more enlightened that you are losing friends and you are still of as good character, then don't worry. But if you are not keeping up, you should put forth more effort to progress in thought and material things.

Some persons do begin to slump as time goes on, but if one has good health there is no necessity for stagnating.

Bright books, magazines, travel and study clubs and the proper spirit will keep you in line with the most progressive crowd.
